THE PRESENT NEW YORK HOSPITAL
WEST FIFTEENTH STREET FRONT—COMPLETED 1877

TO THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK

The Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital respectfully present their 160th Annual Report of the state of the institutions under their charge for the year 1931.

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
GOVERNORS OF THE SOCIETY OF THE NEW YORK
HOSPITAL FOR THE YEAR 1931

In conformity with the provisions of its Charter, granted by Royal Authority June 13, 1771, in the reign of King George III, the Governors of The Society of the New York Hospital present their annual report and a statement showing the receipts and expenditures for the year 1931 of the several institutions under their control and management, as follows:

The general hospital, at Fifteenth and Sixteenth Streets, New York, which is hereinafter called the New York Hospital, the department for the treatment of mental diseases, known as Bloomingdale Hospital, at White Plains, Westchester County, and the hospital for convalescent children, known as the Campbell Cottages also at White Plains.

The activities of all these institutions are constantly increasing. The work done in the New York Hospital continued on a large scale. The pressure of space in the various departments there shows no diminution and can only be relieved when the new hospital buildings now under construction are ready for occupation.

Operating expenses of the New York Hospital were $749,469.41, in 1931, a decrease of $41,298.12 over 1930. The operating receipts in 1931 were $484,772.45, a decrease of $2,214.90 over 1930, making the operating deficit for the year $264,696.96.

The report of Dr. Eugene H. Pool, President of the Medical Board, has a moving valedictory note. He asks for the heartiest co-operation of the staff to make the new Hospital a great success.

The extremely valuable work of the Social Service Department, as shown by the report of Mrs. Woodward, its Chairman, has been continued under the difficult economic conditions that have prevailed. The constantly increasing scope of this Department of the institution is again revealed in this report.

The report of Bloomingdale Hospital describes the many directions in which the Hospital is expanding.

Dr. William L. Russell, our General Psychiatric Director, tells in his report of the satisfactory progress of the psychiatric development of the Society. Construction of the Psychiatric Institute in the group of Hospital-Medical College buildings in the City of New York has advanced steadily, and the plans for the scientific administration of this important unit are receiving the most careful consideration.

Miss Minnie H. Jordan presents her final report as Directress of Nurses. To the deep regret of the Governors, Miss Jordan, on January 1st, resigned this position which she had filled so ably and devotedly for sixteen years. As a slight token of their appreciation of all that she had accomplished, the Governors presented her with a silver tea service.

Another resignation marked the year 1932. Miss Alice C. Ellison, another of the graduates of our Training School, who had built up our children's convalescent hospital at White Plains known as the Campbell Cottages, and who has been their Superintendent with distinguished success since 1908, felt compelled by ill health to retire.

The Joint Administrative Board of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical College Association, of which Dr. G. Canby Robinson is the Director, has been in constant touch with the various problems arising from time to time in connection with the new buildings on York Avenue between 68th and 71st Streets and the selection of the hospital and educational personnel for the successful conduct of this great enterprise. Construction work on these buildings has proceeded actively during the past year, and it is expected that they will be ready for occupancy in September, 1932.

Since the last annual report the following special gifts have been received:

Miss Mary Gardiner Thompson again renewed her generous annual gift of $15,000 for use in meeting special needs of the Hospital.

Mr. Charles C. Wright gave another $5,000 as an addition to the Bessie Wright Memorial established by him in 1929.

Mr. Robert James Eidlitz repeated his several previous annual gifts of $1,000 for the general purposes of the Society with another generous contribution of that amount.

Among other gifts the Hospital received $200 from Mr. W. de F. Haynes in renewal of many similar annual gifts of past years, $200 from Mr. William Colgate and $100 from Mr. Frederick Strauss.

New legacies to the Society have been reported during the year as follows:

Under the will of Edward N. Hill, who died December 27, 1930, one sixth of the residuary estate and any legacies which may lapse under his will.

Under the will of Lizzie P. Bliss, who died March 12, 1931, $50,000.

Under the will of Charles Phelan, who died August 13, 1931, the Society is named as contingent residuary legatee.

Under the will of Clara A. Baab, who died October 8, 1931, one twenty-sixth of the residuary estate.

Of legacies mentioned in previous annual reports the following amounts have been received:

Under the will of Gustavus L. Lawrence $14,234.79, being balance of legacy, making the total amount received $211,315.87.

Under the will of Chilion Banks $1,380.22.

Under the will of Mary C. Walker $80.22, making the total amount received $544,953.73.

Attention is called to the accompanying reports describing the work of the various departments.

EDWARD W. SHELDON,
President.

G. HOWARD WISE,
Secretary.

THE PRESENT NEW YORK HOSPITAL
WEST SIXTEENTH STREET FRONT

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE NEW YORK HOSPITAL FOR THE YEAR 1931

To the Board of Governors:

GENTLEMEN:—I respectfully submit the Superintendent's report for the year 1931.

The statistical reports attached furnish detailed information of the various activities of the Hospital.

The demands on the hospital were not as great as in former years. Despite the prolonged industrial depression and extensive unemployment, 1931 was actually one of the healthiest years in the history of the country.

The total number of admissions to the hospital during the year was 6,089, compared with 6,269 in 1930 and 6,720 in 1929.

The total number of days' care furnished was 90,830, as compared with 93,333 in 1930 and 94,248 in 1929. The daily average occupancy of beds was 249 or 84 per cent of capacity, against 85 per cent last year.

There were 4,611 admissions to the wards, an increase of 120; 1,137 to the private rooms—a decrease of 156; 341 to the Urological Service—a decrease of 144; 12,884 new patients applied in the Out-Patient Department—a decrease of 258; and 7,562 calls were responded to by the hospital ambulances—an increase of 384.

Decreases were shown both in expenses and receipts. Expenditures were $749,469.41, against $790,767.53 last year, a decrease of $41,298.12 or over 5 per cent.

The operating receipts (income from investments not included) were $484,772.45 against $486,987.35 last year, off $2,214.90.

Deducting the operating receipts from the operating expenses showed a deficit for the year of $264,696.96, representing the actual charity work done by the hospital.

On a typical day 65 patients occupied rooms in the private building, while on the wards 75 were paying four dollars a day or less (the actual cost was $5.90) 54 were classified as public charges and paid for by the city at the rate of three dollars a day, 42 were entirely free, and 5 occupied endowed beds.

Of the $749,469.41 spent in operating the hospital $44,653.34 or .6 per cent was for administration expenses; $107,047.78 or .1425 per cent was for nursing care; $166,333.80 or .222 per cent for professional care; $144,925.20 or .1933 for the Commissary Department; $103,596.99 or .1382 per cent was for housekeeping expenses and $182,912.30 or .244 per cent for other departmental expenses.

The cost of ward service was $370,222.52, compared with $395,747.63 in 1930, a decrease of $25,525.11. There are 217 ward beds. The average cost per day for caring for ward patients was $5.90, compared with $6.27 last year. The average receipts from ward patients, including payments made by the City of New York, was $2.58 a day, compared with $2.50 last year. Excluding payments by the city, the average was only $1.68 against $1.90 in 1930. The number of days' care furnished in this department was 66,484, off 157 for the year.

The Private Pavilion Service cost $229,430.98, compared with $244,033.23 in 1930. The average cost per day for each private patient, not including special nursing, was $13.40, an increase of 75 cents. The number of days' care furnished was 17,116, a decrease for the year of 2,182, or over 11 per cent.

The Emergency Service, which includes the Admitting and Workmen's Compensation Departments, spent $41,999.43, off $4,075.27. The receipts of the Compensation Department were $41,890.40, against $41,218 last year. The number of emergency cases treated was 3,497.

The number of ambulatory industrial accident cases treated in the Emergency Room was 1965, a decrease for the year of 145. They were given 6,228 redressings and 3,958 treatments in the Physical Therapy Department. In addition, 493 industrial accident cases were admitted to the wards, where they received 5,124 days' care, and paid to the hospital $23,443.40.

In 1913, the year before the Workmen's Compensation Law became effective in this state, this hospital treated 9,812 patients in the Emergency Room, almost three times as many as were treated in 1931. The decrease in recent years is due largely to the operations of this law. Insurance companies carrying these risks now insist that employers shall use the most modern safety devices on their machinery, and numerous clinics have been established by employers, insurance companies and private physicians to handle these industrial accident cases. Formerly these patients were practically all treated free by public hospitals, whereas the hospitals are now partially compensated for their care.

COMMISSARY DEPARTMENT

There was expended for food supplies $144,925.20 against $167,-714.09 last year, a decrease of $22,788.89 or 13½ per cent. The average cost per diem for provisions was 58½ cents, compared with 66½ cents in 1930 and the cost of preparing and serving food was $41,338.74 or 16½ cents daily for each person fed. Accordingly, the entire cost to the hospital for each person fed was 75 cents a day.

There was purchased 26,059 pounds of butter, 39,000 pounds of sugar, 12,075 pounds of coffee, 141,610 quarts of milk, 11,791 quarts of cream, 26,346 dozen of eggs, 152,811 pounds of meat and 56,241 pounds of poultry.

DIVISION OF LABORATORIES

A review of the work of the division as a whole reveals slight regressions in the number of examinations in certain fields, but these have been compensated for by increases in other departments and the total number of examinations exceeds by 9.8 per cent the values secured in previous years. This was due in part to the addition of new methods of examination. More than 78,000 laboratory examinations were made.

The department of clinical pathology, operated under the guidance of Dr. Stillman, made 52,874 examinations compared with 50,427 in 1930, an increase of 4.8 per cent.

One of the functions assumed by this Department about four years ago is the preparation of 50 per cent glucose solution for the clinical divisions. In spite of a considerable reduction in the market price of this fluid, the production of this agent by the laboratory represents a savings to the hospital this year of $2,908.94, and a total saving during the four years of $9,512.15.

During the year 264 blood transfusions were given at a cost for donors' services of $13,850.20, and for which the hospital was only partially reimbursed by the patient or his friends. During the past five years more than 1200 transfusions have been given.

Over 900 basal metabolism tests were made in 1931.

OUT-PATIENT DEPARTMENT

The total number of new applicants in 1931 was 12,884, or 258 less than last year, but the visits increased from 125,454 to 130,798.

The cost of operating this Department was $107,816.48 against $104,911.97 last year.

THE NEW YORK HOSPITAL—1932

YORK AVENUE TO EXTERIOR STREET

REPAIRS, REPLACEMENTS AND IMPROVEMENTS

Owing to the approaching completion and occupancy of the new buildings, no new work was attempted in the old institution, but the routine work incidental to the care and treatment of patients was carried out with the usual thoroughness.

The wiring, plumbing and roofing have required frequent repairs or replacements. The amount spent for repairs of elevators was large, $6,500.

A new instrument sterilizer and a metric gas-anesthesia machine were purchased for use in the Amphitheatre.

There was purchased for the Urological Department, three cystoscopic tables for $1,690, fulguration machine for $1,000, portable fulguration box for $500 and a McCarthy surgical unit with vacuum tube for $650.

A vario-frequency diathermy outfit was purchased for the treatment of heart cases.

A complete list of diets used in the hospital was compiled in pamphlet form.

DEPARTMENT OF RADIOLOGY

The cost of maintaining this Department was $37,934.27 against $36,402.78 last year. The income was $30,238 against $34,830.83. The number of films purchased was 24,408, an increase of 1,612. The cost per patient was $3.34 against $3.84, and the receipts per patient $2.96 against $3.67.

PHYSICAL THERAPY

The total number of treatments given was 13,583, against 13,098, divided as follows: Workmen's Compensation cases 3,892; Dispensary 6,870; Ward 1,544; Private 830; Employees 447. The expenses were $6,710.00 compared with $6,537.50. The cost per treatment was 49 cents.

UROLOGICAL DEPARTMENT

Fewer bed patients were treated but the ambulatory service was active. There were 3700 cystoscopic examinations made during the year, including private and clinic cases. Several new instruments and devices were brought out. The papers published by the members of the Staff during the past ten years were collected and bound in a single volume.

The income of the Gustavus L. Lawrence Fund was used largely for the treatment and care of patients suffering from inoperable and post-operable tuberculosis of the urinary tract and the Bessie Wright Memorial Fund was most useful in caring for those patients afflicted with malignant diseases.

Dr. O. S. Lowsley was selected as editor of the New Urological Loose Leaf Surgery, published by the Oxford Press.

NATIVITY OF PATIENTS

Figures compiled by Dr. Olcott of the Pathological Division show that of the patients admitted during the year .587 per cent were born in the United States, .096 in Italy, .074 in Great Britain and Ireland, .055 in Russia, .052 in Austria, Hungary and Czechoslovakia, .026 in Germany or Holland, .024 in Greece or Rumania, .023 in Spanish America, Cuba, Porto Rico or Philippine Islands, .022 in Poland, .009 in Armenia or Turkey, .008 in France or Belgium, .007 in Spain or Portugal, .006 in Canada or New Foundland, .003 in Scandinavia or Lithuania, .006 in British West Indies and .002 in China. Of the patients born in the United States 55 per cent were Catholics, 33 per cent Protestants and 12 per cent Jews.

NURSING DEPARTMENT

It was necessary in September to provide increased accommodations for a large entering class of pupil nurses and the third floor of the Private Patients' Building was taken temporarily for this purpose.

The nursing payroll per patient per day, not including special nurses for private patients, was $1.18. Including special nurses it was $2.36.

CHANGES IN OFFICIAL STAFF

Miss Minnie H. Jordan, who had been Directress of Nurses for over fifteen years, resigned at the close of the year to accept a desirable position with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. She was earnest, competent and loyal, and her departure is a distinct loss to the hospital and the training school. She was very jealous of the school's reputation and always insisted on receiving into it only the most desirable candidates and training them with the utmost care.

Miss Anna D. Wolf, Associate Professor of Nursing of the University of Chicago and Directress of the Nursing Service in the University Clinics, was appointed Directress of Nurses of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical College Association and assumed the duties of the office in October.

Dr. Cornelius V. Kilbane was appointed Director of the Department of Radiology, succeeding Dr. Webster W. Belden, who died in December, 1930.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Mrs. Harold Barker gave thirteen dollars for toys or luxuries for the patients in the Children's Ward, and Mr. Edward W. Sheldon gave $100 for the Christmas festivities.

The Friendly League for Christian Service sang for the ward patients every Sunday afternoon. On Christmas day they presented candy and calendars to all ward patients and employees.

The ladies of the Parish of the Holy Comforter again contributed several dozen pajamas for the use of ward patients.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS HOWELL,

Superintendent.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE MEDICAL BOARD

To the Board of Governors:

GENTLEMEN:—When the next Annual Report is issued, the New York Hospital as an independent unit will be but a tradition. Having been the first hospital in New York, and the first institution in the country for the teaching of Clinical Surgery, its place is established in the Annals of Medical history. A long line of distinguished men, including Bard, Hosack, Mott, Stevens, Post, Bull, Weir, Stimson and Markoe, have worked within its walls and have made important contributions. Though the buildings and organization will soon be forgotten these names will always live, and in future years memories will continually evoke thoughts of those workers who have given to the Hospital a conspicuous position in the development of American Medicine and Surgery.

In closing this important chapter in the life of the Institution it is appropriate to refer to the activities of some of the individuals and departments on whose cooperation the success of the clinical services has been dependent.

Dr. Howell, our Superintendent for 23 years, has endeared himself to all by a sympathetic, kindly attitude, coupled withal with a hard headed analytic sense as to the interests of the Institution.

The Training School under Miss Jordan, who, unfortunately, has resigned after sixteen years of service, has been kept up to its earlier standards. Indeed, if there is any change, it seems to be in an even better type of nurse from year to year.

The Laboratory Department for many years has been the hub about which the clinical departments have revolved. The consistently cordial and sympathetic atmosphere which has prevailed among the professional staff of the Hospital during the past two decades has been due largely to the sense, tact and knowledge of the eminent Director of Laboratories. From a scientific standpoint the Hospital must be especially grateful to the Laboratory Department for stimulating interest in autopsies. As a result, the House Staff has become keenly interested and secured consent in a proportion of cases which compares favorably with any institution in the city.

The Social Service Department has continued to broaden its activities which are of the greatest value from a humanitarian and scientific standpoint. The importance of this work has been appreciated only in comparatively recent years. Through it much benefit accrues to the patients and their families—there is scarcely any limit to the possibilities. It becomes a question of where one must stop.

CHRISTMAS TREE, 1931—CHILDREN'S WARD

For a satisfactory "follow-up" of the patients the cooperation of the Social Service Department is essential. Last year one of the Surgical divisions referred over 19% of its cases to it (417 cases). These are patients whom we cannot locate. The Social Service got in touch with 76% of these.

The Private Patient Pavilion has been satisfactorily filled throughout the year. Its success is due to the splendid spirit of the House Staff, the cordial and kindly cooperation of the Supervisor and the nurses, the excellent meals and reasonable rates without excessive charges for extras.

The Dispensary has continued to function well. The success of a Dispensary is dependent upon the attitude of the workers; the important attributes being promptness and regularity in attendance; interest and kindness towards the patients. These qualifications are met to a high degree by our Dispensary Staff. The work in the Out Patient Department during the year has been heavier than in the past two years, despite the fact that there were fewer new patients admitted to the clinic—12,884 for 1931 as against 13,142 for 1930. That the attendance is not larger and the work more active must be ascribed to the same causes which have resulted in slackening of our Ward Services. Perhaps we have outlived the district. Certainly we have outlived the buildings. It is nevertheless with sad hearts that we picture the closing of the structures and discontinuing the ties which have been associated with so many happy years of work.

And now what awaits us? We face a radical change to a new system, which embraces among other things a nucleus of full time workers and long term residents. The aim is to improve medical education. It is an experiment, but one which is well conceived; let us cooperate to the last degree and try to make the experiment a great success.

This year will long be a memorable one, as it brings to a close the first era of our School of Nursing, and the second of our Hospital.

In 1771 a royal charter was granted to the Society of the Hospital in New York in America. Imposing hospital buildings were planned and the site chosen for its erection on Broadway, opposite Pearl Street. It is interesting here to note that it was only the second hospital of its kind to be established on this continent.

For over 100 years under the wise management of the Society of the New York Hospital, this institution maintained active Medical, Surgical, Psychiatric and Obstetrical services, the comfort and expert care of the patients always being the predominant note.

As early as 1799 Dr. Valentine Seaman, one of the surgeons of the hospital, undertook a course of lectures and practical instruction in the nursing of maternity cases. This was probably the first attempt in America to educate nurses. It was not until 1877 at the dawn of the second era of the hospital when it took possession of its new buildings on 15th and 16th Streets that our training school was organized. It created and has always maintained a high and distinctive standard in the nursing profession. It will be fitting here to quote from the address of the President at the exercises of the 50th Anniversary of our school.

"We are immensely proud of our school and of its alumnae. They form a large and noble body. Many of them have occupied important administrative and teaching positions throughout the country and in foreign lands. They have all brought to their chosen vocation not only trained minds but gentle hands and tender hearts."

It may be of interest at this point to present a statistical report of the activities of our graduates since the organization of the school.

The 1278 graduates of the school were drawn from 40 states, different parts of Canada and 16 foreign countries, and distributed to 37 states, Canada and 15 foreign countries, 12 became physicians, 8 missionaries, 436 married, 143 retired and 181 have died. 36 have entered other fields, and 25 are unknown. At the present day 457 graduates are active in the field of nursing and medicine, serving in 20 states, different parts of Canada and 11 foreign countries, 229 are engaged in private nursing, 18 are directors of Hospitals and Schools of Nursing, and 198 hold executive positions in industrial, public health and social service work.

On glancing back over the past 54 years we cannot fail to recognize the splendid contribution our graduates have made to health education and to the community at large. May their record be an inspiration to those who, with the same enthusiasm and spirit of loyalty, will carry our school over into a broader educational field and may it also stimulate them to assume the responsibility of safeguarding and perpetuating the best traditions of our profession while formulating a program through which its achievement may keep step with the progress in medical and other sciences.

The number of days of illness in the room in the private patients building assigned to our nurses is greater than usual this year. Students 218, affiliates 18, and graduates 287, making a total of 523 days.

With sorrow we report the names of 9 of our group who have passed on during this year.

- February—Hilda O. Rutherford MacGillivray, Class 1920
March—Agnes Bryson, Class 1897.
March—Mrs. F. H. Coe Reed, Class 1896.
March—Pauline Morton, M.D., Class 1883.
May—Ann W. Wilson Ansel, Class 1913.
September—Marianna Wheeler, Class 1891.
September—Eleanor Blaine Russell, Class 1926.
October—Floy Seymour, Class 1926.
December—Bessie L. Dickson, Class 1901.

The graduating exercises, class of 1931, were held in the Governor's room on Wednesday evening, March 4th. Mr. Henry W. Taft delivered the address to the class and the diplomas and medals were presented by the President, Mr. Edward W. Sheldon. Following the exercises the graduating class entertained their friends in the nurses' residence.

During the past year the support and cooperation of the Board of Governors, the attending staff and the house staff, the understanding helpfulness of the Superintendent of the hospital and his administrative staff, and the enthusiastic interest and loyalty of the nursing staff have been most helpful and deeply appreciated.

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT OF THE NEW YORK HOSPITAL FOR THE YEAR 1931

To the President and Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I submit to you the nineteenth annual report of the work done by the Social Service Committee and Sub-Committees during the past year.

We have tried to keep our work thorough and efficient, to maintain the balance between the hospital, the patient and the relief organization, and to cooperate and assist in every way. Our difficulties this year have been great. The new cases present many problems, two of the urgent ones being how far to carry emergency relief, when the relief organizations are slow in coming in and much overburdened, and how to advise, help and direct our patients for their ultimate welfare. One plan adopted by us for temporary relief cases and made possible by a generous donation from one of our doctors has been the giving out of food tickets. The ticket, for a specified amount of food, is drawn on an A & P store. The "Emergency Food Shelf," distributed from our office to destitute patients while their cases are being investigated, has also proved helpful. The food is given by some of our members.

Fortunately many of our old cases give us reason to feel encouraged. They come back to us for medical aid only.

The total number of cases handled during the year was 7,810—908 more than last year.

1,592 clinics were attended by our social service nurses—183 more than last year.

We sent a greater number of patients to convalescent homes and to cooperative agencies. All of which shows an increase in the volume of work accomplished. I would like to say here that, with this increase, our staff remains the same.

REPORTS TO AGENCIES

1,540 reports were sent to social agencies concerning cases in which they were interested. This shows an increase of 130 over last year's figures. The detail work required to enable us to give this information is very great but we consider this service important and constructive.

TUBERCULOSIS PREVENTIVE CLINIC

Mrs. Treadwell, chairman, reports that the attendance at the weekly Health Classes has been excellent. The educational work in the home and the advice and information given to the parents as to the feeding of these children has proved of great value. Not one of these children (as shown by the records kept over a period of years) has developed tuberculosis, although all had a tendency either from heredity or environment.

We appreciate the hospitality of the Catholic Boys Club in providing a room for our classes.

VOLUNTEER COMMITTEE

Mrs. Ely, chairman, reports that the few volunteers we have used have been excellent. We expect to have greater use for volunteers in the future. To those who have served so well and so efficiently, we are greatly indebted.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE

4,951 books were distributed to our patients during the year 1931. Mrs. George Haven, who was chairman of this committee for many years, resigned last autumn. Miss Beatrice Gawtry, our present chairman, has carried on most ably, assisted by Miss Mary Ryan who has given her services throughout the year.

MILK FUND

33,349 quarts of milk were given out during the year—an increase of 6,867 quarts over the preceding year. The proceeds from the Milk Fund Fair, held at the home of Mrs. Payne Whitney, in Manhasset, provided us with the means of carrying on this very important activity.

Milk has been given daily to 175 children, and to the children attending the T. B. classes.

DENTAL CLINIC

There has been an increase in the number of persons receiving dental attention from 1337 in 1930 to 1555 in 1931.

For the last four months our dental worker has concentrated her effort more particularly upon the children in the Cardiac Clinic. This has meant thorough investigation and attention, involving calls to the homes of the children and often bringing them to the clinic. In some cases, much tact and persuasion has to be used to convince the parents of the necessity for this step. The children show improvement and the doctors of this clinic strongly endorse this work.

SEWING AND SUPPLY COMMITTEE

Mrs. Hitzrot and Mrs. Farr have again assumed responsibility for supplying the children's ward with practical and attractive rompers and sleepers.

CLOTHING COMMITTEE

Our clothing closet has been replenished by the untiring efforts of Mrs. Kent and Mrs. Whitman. Several times the shelves have been emptied and again filled. To the Needlework Guild of America we are indebted for 100 articles of clothing; to the Chapel of the Comforter, for 100 print dresses for girls; to the Church of the Ascension, for 15 layettes, and to the Junior Emergency Relief, for 5 kits and 10 layettes. Furthermore, our own members have been more than generous in contributions.

WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE

Mrs. W. G. Loew has recently accepted the chairmanship of this committee, an important one for the future.

CONVALESCENT AND FRESH AIR WORK

The epidemic of poliomyelitis during the summer of 1931 had the effect of diminishing our fresh-air work considerably, as most of the towns outside of the State of New York refused to receive our children. Nevertheless, we sent 310 children to the country, which was only 110 below the 1930 figure.

Fortunately, the Board of Health in White Plains did permit us to send children to our own convalescent cottages during the epidemic, and we had no case of the disease there during the whole time of its prevalence.

Our convalescent figures for the year are slightly in excess of those of the preceding year, 1241 patients having been sent away.

Our Campbell Cottages under the able and wise direction of Miss Ellison have been an invaluable asset to our sick children.

CARDIAC WORK

The cardiac worker now gives full time to the cardiac patients. At the request of the doctor in charge, and in realization of the importance of this work, certain adjustments were made in our department to enable us to comply with this need.

In view of existing conditions, it was voted to omit our usual Christmas parties for the children this year, and to concentrate upon the Christmas dinners and the giving out of clothing. 253 families with whose home conditions we were familiar, were given Christmas baskets. 15 of these dinners were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Astor.

Miss Josephi conducted round tables for several groups of medical students.

Last June Miss Josephi attended the National Conference of Social Work in Minneapolis. The experience was an interesting one and well worth the expenditure for which we are indebted to the hospital.

Eight student nurses spent two months each in the Social Service Department under the supervision of the Directress and her staff.

Dr. Horace Baldwin again represented the Medical Board in relation to our Department.

The generous donation of the Haven Fund enabled us to do much constructive work.

Our Social Service Department suffered an irreparable loss last spring in the death of Miss Lizzie Bliss.

To all of those who have cooperated with us in this work, we extend our thanks and to the Governors, our deep appreciation for their interest and support.

Respectfully submitted,

ELSIE C. WOODWARD,

Chairman.

REPORT OF THE GENERAL PSYCHIATRIC DIRECTOR FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1931

To the Board of Governors:

GENTLEMEN:—The following is the annual report of the General Psychiatric Director for the year ending December 31, 1931:

The psychiatric activities of the Society have, during the year, made steady progress. The new Psychiatric Clinic has reached the stage at which the myriads of pipes, flues, and wires, required for the service of the various departments and the patients' quarters, have been installed, and the partitions and floor slabs have been constructed. Much attention has been given to sound deadening and, in devising measures to this end, the experiments carried on at Bloomingdale Hospital, and the advice and ingenuity of the mechanics there, have been of great service. The wall tiling has now been placed, and plastering has been commenced. The yards and courts have been enclosed and paved, the elevator shafts have been extended up to the roof play spaces which have been tiled, and the character and arrangements of the interior and exterior provision for the work to be carried on can now be more clearly visualized and its equipment and operation prepared for. There is still much to be done, but before the close of another year, the building should be ready for use.

The appointment, as Director of the Clinic and head of the department of psychiatry of Cornell University Medical College, of Dr. George S. Amsden, formerly a member of the Bloomingdale staff, has made it possible to make a start in building up the scientific and service organization that will, even more than the material structure, determine the character of the Clinic and the usefulness of its activities. Psychiatry has so recently taken on its present breadth and variety that the number of qualified candidates for the various positions to be filled is not large. It is fortunate, therefore, that the long established psychiatric organization and resources of the Society are available to bring into the new development the policies and standards which have been well tried out for so many years. With the opening of the Clinic the Society will return to a policy adopted in 1808 when, at the New York Hospital, a separate department was established for the treatment of mental disorders. This was the first department of the kind to be established in New York, if not in America. Again it will be the first privately supported general hospital organization in New York, to provide a specially constructed, equipped, and organized department where all the resources of medicine and psychiatry will be brought to bear upon the study and treatment of persons suffering from mental disorders.

The psychiatric work at the New York Hospital has been somewhat extended during the year. On May 19th, two new out-patient sessions were added, Tuesdays and Fridays from 5 to 7 P.M. Two physicians were added to the staff, one of them from Bloomingdale Hospital, a psychometrist was engaged and an additional social worker. The appointment system was adopted for these sessions, so that more time could be given to the study and treatment of the patients. The result has been satisfactory and the method has, to a more limited extent, been introduced at the other sessions. Notwithstanding the limitations thus imposed, the number of visits to the clinic increased from 1647 in the previous year to 2020, and the number of new cases from 601 to 631. It is gratifying to note that the number of children treated during the year increased from 84 in the previous year to 118. The additional social worker permitted a striking increase in the number of visits to homes and of interviews with patients. There was also a considerable increase in the number of psychometric tests, and in the character and extent of the examinations made by the psychometrist. There was again an advance in the psychiatric service to patients on the medical and surgical wards, the number of patients examined increasing from 149 in the previous year to 162. The number of cases referred from other services in the out-patient department was also increased from 101 in the previous year to 127. Psychiatric service was also furnished to the courts, schools, social organizations, medical and health agencies, from which 199 cases were received. At the Cornell psychiatric out-patient clinic the service has, also, during the past year, been brought into closer relations and cooperation with the other departments of the clinic. The patients at this clinic and at the New York Hospital furnish much of the psychiatric clinical material that is used in the teaching of the medical college students. In the curriculum that will go into effect with the opening of the new hospital and college, the time allotted to psychiatry will be much more than at present. The teaching resources of the new Clinic, the out-patient department, the psychiatric resources of the medical and surgical wards, and probably those of Bloomingdale Hospital and of what is now provided by the State Hospital, will all be needed in order to meet the requirements.

Bloomingdale Hospital has been developed as a remarkably equipped treatment agency. The character of its patients and of the treatment activities engaged in are such as to limit its use as a centre for undergraduate medical teaching. It is, however, a valuable agency for the education of physicians in psychiatry, and may, with advantage, be developed further in this work. The additional houses for physicians completed during the year will serve as a means of building up the stability and quality of the staff. The extensions to the main building improve and add to the study and treatment facilities. The opening of Bard House and Bruce House is an event of significance and importance in the advancement of the service. The advantage to be derived by removing as soon as possible from the strict régime of the more active services the patients who are improving has long been recognized. The new cottages will provide the means of this for many of the women, and the return in restored health and usefulness will pay a large return on the investment. Further developments of similar character would be equally advantageous. The way has, however, now been opened for some remodelling of the main building, for the purpose of improving the quarters to which very sick patients are first admitted, and for increasing the means of classification.

The establishment of the new Clinic brings with it questions of considerable importance to Bloomingdale Hospital. One of these relates to affiliation for the training of male nurses, and to affiliation for nursing education generally. Plans and provision for relationships between the medical staffs of the two institutions, with special reference to coöperation in regard to patients, and in regard to opportunities for study, teaching, and experience, will require consideration. To some extent, the Clinic will be a city entrance to Bloomingdale Hospital, and transfer between the institutions should be possible with the least disquiet to the patient, to his friends, and to the administrations. The question of the study and treatment of psychopathic children and adolescents, for which provision is made at the Clinic, is of equal interest to Bloomingdale Hospital. For dealing adequately with some of the problems that will be met with, an institution with ample grounds and facilities for a variety of activities is essential, and it would be of great advantage if this were provided at Bloomingdale Hospital.

I beg to express again my appreciation of the unfailing helpfulness and coöperation of the medical director and various staffs and departments of Bloomingdale Hospital, of the superintendent of the New York Hospital, and of the director of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical College Association; also of the continued confidence and support of the Joint Board of Administration and of the Board of Governors.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM L. RUSSELL,

General Psychiatric Director.

BLOOMINGDALE HOSPITAL—WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.

The number of patients treated has varied little during the past few years, 545 in 1930 and 547 in 1931. The number of cases admitted was 261 in 1930 and 283 in 1931. The number discharged was 266. The number of applications and inquiries exclusive of those accepted was 543.

ADMISSIONS

Of the 283 cases admitted, 121 were men and 164 were women. Two patients were admitted twice during the year and 22 changed their status from voluntary to committed or the reverse, so that the number of persons actually received was 259, or 21 more than last year.

The diagnosis table is, as in previous years, in accordance with the classification adopted by the American Psychiatric Association:

	Men	Women	Total

Psychoses with cerebral arteriosclerosis.....	3	..	3
General paralysis.....	4	..	4

The types of cases received were not unlike those of recent years. The number of cases of organic brain disease amounted to 4 per cent of the total admissions, 4 of which were cases of General Paralysis and were treated with malaria. Six cases of alcoholism, 2 of drug addiction, 4 with psychopathic personality, and 1 with chorea minor, all without psychoses, were admitted during the year.

Twenty-six of the patients admitted had received treatment at the Hospital on one or more previous occasions, and 64 had received treatment in other institutions; 2 of this number were received upon transfer from other institutions. One hundred and seventy-two, 65 per cent of the admissions, presented histories of mental symptoms for less than one year.

The average age of the patients admitted was $38\frac{1}{2}$ for the men and 37 for the women. Sixteen patients were under 20; 86, or 33 per cent, were under 30; and 157, or 60 per cent of the total admissions, were under 40.

The Hospital has accommodations for only a limited number of patients. Inasmuch as a suitable social environment is essential to the treatment of nervous and mental disorders, the admission of patients has been restricted to those who have a good level of education, refinement, and social adaptability, and are suffering from disorders which it may reasonably be expected will respond to treatment.

Seventy-eight of the patients admitted had been educated in colleges or universities, and 111 in high schools.

The occupations of the patients admitted were principally professional and commercial. Fifty-eight women were self-supporting. The remaining women were supported by their husbands who were either business or professional men.

Seventy-five per cent of the patients admitted made their own applications. This is in accordance with our experience of previous years. Two patients who came to the Hospital under commitment later signed their own applications as voluntary patients. The policy that has been followed has been to resort to legal restriction only when it is clearly required to protect the patient and to furnish legal authority for detention that could not properly be dispensed with. In 18 cases it became necessary to place under commitment patients who had been received in the Hospital as voluntary cases.

DISCHARGES

The total number of patients discharged, exclusive of the 22 changes of status, was 244, of which 104 were men and 140 were women. Of this number 62 were fully recovered; 48 were much improved; and 68 improved. These 178 patients constituted 73 per cent of the total number discharged. Thirty were discharged without having improved. A number of the latter as well as those transferred to other institutions were cases which had been in the Hospital for a considerable period of time and were, in accordance with the policy of the Hospital, removed to make room for new admissions, or were cases received for examination and study for the purpose of advising their relatives in regard to their future care and treatment. Eighteen were transferred to other institutions. Six, 1 per cent of the total number of patients treated, died.

The average period of treatment in the Hospital of those who were discharged as recovered was 1 year, 2 months, and 9 days; and of those improved 6 months and 10 days. Twenty-four of the recovered cases had been in the Hospital a year or more, 12 for more than two years, of whom 3 had been in the Hospital for more than 4 years. This group of patients who were in the Hospital more than one year is unusually large; of those who recovered and were in the Hospital not more than 2 years, the average period of treatment was 8 months and 16 days. This period is similar to our experience of other years.

At the close of the year 59 who had left the Hospital during the year were still carried on visit. Most of these patients kept in touch with the physicians by visits to White Plains or to the New York Hospital. The visits of former patients to the New York Hospital were 197, and to Bloomingdale Hospital 209. This service is of great value to the patients in aiding them to complete their adjustments outside of the Hospital and to seek early advice in the event of any unfavorable symptoms. This service to our patients on visit as well as former patients has been furnished without charge. It consumes considerable of the time and adds much to the work of the physicians. Further organization of this work is advisable and to the advantage of both the patient and the Hospital.

CLINICAL SERVICE

There were 4 changes in the medical staff during the year. Dr. Sprague returned to the Hospital in October after spending a year of study in Europe on the Bloomingdale Hospital Fellowship in Psychiatry. Dr. Wall returned to full duty in June, having completed his special studies on a limited Bloomingdale Hospital Fellowship. Two physicians left to continue their studies elsewhere, and two left to go into the private practice of psychiatry.

Regular staff conferences are held four days each week at which patients with their case records are presented for study and consideration.

Each week the Monday Evening Meeting is held. Topics of scientific interest, special studies, and current literature are presented for discussion. For these meetings regular programs are prepared and followed. These seminars are most helpful and have contributed to the maintenance of the usual high standards in the clinical service.

Four times during the year conferences were held to which outside physicians were invited. The following programs, of interest to the physicians in general practice, were prepared for these meetings: "Psychoses of the Climacterium;" "Psychoses Accompanying Endocrinopathies;" "Dental Infections—Their Relation to Mental Disorders—X-ray, Bacteriological and Clinical Studies;" and "Mental Illnesses Occurring in Men during the Involutional Period."

The medical staff in addition to their regular duties devote considerable time to consultations with patients who return to the Hospital for professional advice; to the out-patient clinic at the New York Hospital; and to the educational work of the Hospital. The Medical Director is Professor of Clinical Psychiatry, Dr. Henry is Assistant Professor of Psychiatry, and Dr. Sprague Instructor in Psychiatry at the Medical College of Cornell University. Courses of instruction in both the out-patient clinic and in the wards of the New York Hospital were given by Dr. Henry.

Members of the medical staff made addresses, and read and published papers as follows:

Dr. Hamilton—"The State Institutions and Their Relation to Medicine in General," read before the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association; "The Influence of Parental Attitude on the Child," read before the Post Road Parent-Teachers' Association, White Plains.

Dr. Henry—"The Practice of Psychiatry in the Middle Ages," read before the Long Island Psychiatric Society, and illustrated by lantern slides; "Neuro-Psychiatric Problems in General Practice," read before the Williamsburgh Medical Society, Brooklyn; "Mental Hygiene in Childhood," a lecture to social workers of Yonkers; "Catatonia in Animals—Experimental Studies on the Effect of Bulbocapnine and Other Drugs" read before the American Psychiatric Association; "Practical Applications of Psychiatry to General Medical Practice," read before the Rockland County Medical Society; "The Psychiatry of Yesterday and Today and its Relation to General Medical Practice," read before the South Brooklyn Medical Society. "Experimental Catatonia—Comparative Study of the Action of Certain Known Toxic Substances," was published in the Psychiatric Quarterly, July 1931.

Dr. Jameison and Dr. Wall: "Some Psychiatric Aspects of Suicide," read before the Long Island Psychiatric Society; "Mental Reactions of the Climacterium," read before the American Psychiatric Association.

Dr. Zilboorg: "Family Relationships and Social Adjustments," read before the Family Society of Philadelphia; "Psychology of Parent-Child Antagonism," read before the American Orthopsychiatric Association; "The Psychology of the Nurse at Work," read before the New York League of Nursing Education; "The Neurotic Character and the Pervert—a Clinical Study," read before the New York Neurological Society; "The Problem of the Pathogenesis of Schizophrenia," read before the New York Psychoanalytic Society; "The Deeper Layers of Schizophrenic Psychoses," read before the American Psychiatric Association and published in the American Journal of Psychiatry, November 1931; "The Dark Ages of Psychiatric History" published in the Journal of Nervous and Mental Disease, November 1931; "Depressive Reactions Related to Parenthood" published in the American Journal of Psychiatry, May 1931.

Dr. Manfred Bleuler published "Schizophrenia—Review of the Work of Prof. Eugen Bleuler" in the Archives of Neurology and Psychiatry, September 1931; also "A Contribution to the Problem of Heredity Among Schizophrenics" in the Journal of Nervous and Mental Disease, October 1931.

Studies into the application of psychoanalysis to the treatment of severe neuroses and psychoses continued throughout the year.

The visiting physicians from the New York Hospital and the visiting urologist and gynecologist have continued their regular visits to the Hospital and have been of great assistance in maintaining standards in the clinical work in internal medicine, urology and gynecology. The consulting specialists have been called upon constantly and have responded promptly and furnished skillful service which has been of great advantage to the individual patients and the standards of the Hospital. It is a pleasure to again express appreciation of the cooperation of the administrative, clinical, and laboratory staffs of the New York Hospital in dealing with various problems, and the kindly and skillful attention received by patients and employees who have been transferred to the New York Hospital for examination and treatment.

The surgical work required by patients during the year included 7 major and 11 minor surgical operations. Some of the cases were sent to the White Plains Hospital, and in some instances the operations were performed in the Hospital operating room. As in previous years, the Hospital has relied principally upon Dr. J. Fielding Black of White Plains for surgical attention. He made 196 visits to patients during the year.

The other consulting specialists were called upon frequently. The otolaryngological work has been attended to by Dr. Frank H. Knight and Dr. Richard W. Moriarty of White Plains. Dr. Moriarty also did practically all of the ophthalmological work. Dr. Robert B. Hammond has given all anaesthetics required. The visiting internists examined all newly admitted patients, examined all patients developing physical illnesses during their Hospital residence and saw them again in subsequent visits, and examined all X-ray films. The visiting gynecologist examined all newly admitted women patients, and the visiting urologist examined all newly admitted men patients; each upon subsequent visits saw those patients who required further attention from them. All the members of the visiting and consulting staffs have been most attentive, and when circumstances required, have given their services with little or no charge. The total number of their visits to the Hospital was 355. Patients visited the offices of consulting specialists 107 times.

The new operating room and its service rooms, and the eye, ear, nose, and throat clinic became available to our consultants in the latter part of the year.

Dietary Department. In addition to preparing in a most satisfactory manner the regular meals for patients and hospital personnel, this Department contributed directly in an important way to the treatment facilities of the Hospital. Special diets were prepared in the diet kitchen which is under the immediate charge of a trained dietitian. During the year a daily average of 367 portions were prepared for 69 patients. These varied from individual portions to complete meals and were prescribed by physicians for medical reasons.

Employees' Clinic. The physicians in attendance at the Clinic have continued to examine all new employees, and to treat all ambulatory cases of injuries and sickness. The student nurses receive four physical examinations during their course. During the year 602 persons visited the Clinic 1374 times. There were 235 physical examinations and 59 X-rays for employees, and a considerable number of preventive treatments against typhoid fever, diphtheria, small-pox, etc. In addition to the above 134 patients were treated in bed. The visiting and consulting specialists examined many cases and several were referred to general hospitals for treatment. The new clinic of two rooms and complete equipment was opened in August and has added much to the resources for the work of this department.

Psychiatric Out-Patient Clinic at the New York Hospital. The medical service of this Clinic has been largely furnished by Bloomingdale Hospital. Four physicians have together spent a total of four afternoons and two evenings a week at the Clinic. One of the physicians has also visited the wards of the New York Hospital regularly one day each week to see cases referred by the house and visiting staffs. Since May two evening clinics have been held each week at which patients are seen by appointment. There have been fewer applications at the Clinic but the number of patients examined has been greater.

During the year 685 new patients applied at the Clinic, of whom 631—251 men, 262 women, and 118 children—were examined. There were 1389 revisits to the Clinic, making a total of 2020 cases seen. More than 24 per cent of the cases were referred from the wards of the New York Hospital. Since this service was established, there has been an annual increase. Eighteen per cent of the cases were referred from other departments of the out-patient Clinic. Thirteen patients were referred by other organizations. Patients from the Clinic, with their permission, were used for teaching students of the Cornell Medical College. In addition to the medical personnel, a psychiatric social worker, an assistant social worker, and a psychologist—the last two having been added this year—and a stenographer are attached to the Clinic. A statistical table may be found in the appendix.

Dental Department. There has been no change in the Dental Department during the year. Dr. Sniffen has continued in charge and has kept his department on a high level of service to the patients. Dr. Sniffen is assisted by a dental hygienist and a chair assistant. All new patients are given a prophylactic treatment; X-rays are taken of all teeth; and the teeth are examined in connection with the reading of the films, a report of which is filed in each patient's case record. The number of new patients examined was 236; and 253 other patients were examined in accordance with the periodical system of examinations made of all patients. The total number of times patients were seen in the dental office and on the halls was 3022. The total number of operations and dental procedures was 5476. The new dental office was occupied in the fall. A statistical report is appended.

THE NURSING SERVICE AND SCHOOL

The nursing service and School have been reorganized. Assistants to the director of nursing have been appointed, one for the men's department and one for the women's department. This, together with a restudy of many of the nursing procedures, has enabled the nursing service to maintain its usual high standards. A science laboratory and a teacher were added to the Central School. Women nurses have been assigned to the men's department. Notwithstanding the apparent over-supply of general nurses, there continues to be a shortage of well trained psychiatric nurses. As a consequence there have been vacancies on the regular nursing staff.

Thirty-four students, 18 men and 16 women, entered the School this year. Fifty-nine affiliated and 16 postgraduate students entered for courses. The number of students in the School at the close of the year was 29 of the Bloomingtondale School, 15 affiliated, and 3 postgraduate students. These figures do not include those students from the four nearby hospitals who take their first four months in the Central School of Nursing maintained by the Hospital.

On November 1st Miss Mary D. Taylor, Director of Nursing, resigned to be married.

OCCUPATIONAL AND PHYSICAL THERAPY DEPARTMENTS

Occupational Therapy is one of the most valuable therapeutic measures available to the Hospital. The Hospital is fortunate in having two well planned and equipped buildings in which to carry on this form of treatment. All patients, their condition permitting, go to these special buildings for regular periods each day. For those patients who are unable to go to the special buildings, definite hours are arranged when the personnel of these Departments visit the halls. There are few patients who do not have the advantage of this form of treatment. The total number of patients treated during the year was 471, of whom 201 were men and 270 were women. This number constitutes 86 per cent of the total patients treated at the Hospital. Gardening and other outdoor occupations, such as care of the lawns, game fields and courts, were engaged in, in addition to the arts and crafts. Many of the patients carried on as hobbies, and a few as a means of support after leaving the Hospital, crafts in which they were trained while under treatment in the Hospital. It is found that the actual accomplishment of some worthwhile piece of work gives the best results in this form of treatment.

Instruction in Occupational Therapy was given to 101 students of whom 95 were nurses and 6 were students taking the course of training for occupational therapists. There were 11 visiting instructors who came for advice on specific problems.

Mr. Haas published the following papers during the year: "Occupational Therapy at Bloomingtondale Hospital" and "Precision in Presenting Occupational Therapy to the Mentally and Nervously Ill" in Occupational Therapy and Rehabilitation; also "Estimating the Blank Required for Hollow Ware" in Industrial Arts and Vocational Education.

Both Men's and Women's Physical Education Departments have been active during the year. Organized physical recreation and rehabilitation have continued throughout the year on a high plane, especially during the winter because of the resources provided for by the gymnasia. Individual attention in recreations and corrective exercises have been freely given whenever the need presented itself.

These Departments have also been in charge of the entertainments and organized social life of the patients. The maintenance of a suitable social environment and well directed social and recreational contacts with opportunities for participation in events is essential to treatment which is aimed to bring about social adjustment. This is regarded as one of the very important features of the therapeutic resources of the Hospital.

During the late summer the Pavilion and the 18 hole putting green in the South field became available for use. The total number of patients enrolled in the Departments of Physical Education was 481, of whom 217 were men and 264 were women. Details of the activities of these Departments may be found in the appended tables.

Instruction in the employment of physical exercises, games and sports, and social entertainments, in the treatment of the sick, were given to 91 student nurses and 4 students of physical education.

The resources of the Departments were made available to the employees of the Hospital and were used extensively.

Massage, hydrotherapy, and other forms of physiotherapy were employed. The total number of treatments given were 38,492. The table on page 82 will show both the variety of treatments and the number of patients receiving these various treatments.

YORK LODGE

York Lodge, a large cottage with generous grounds and a bathing beach, is located at the foot of Rushmore Avenue, Orienta Point, Mamaroneck. The Cottage accommodates 12 patients. It has a spacious lounging room, a reading and writing room, a broad porch, and attached bath houses. On the grounds are a tennis court and provision for outdoor games. A large recreation room for indoor games and dancing is available for use in inclement weather. The homelike atmosphere, the relaxation and pleasure derived from salt water bathing and the seashore, have contributed a great deal to the improvement of many patients. York Lodge is available to patients from the Hospital from late in the Spring until early in the Fall. Stated periods are allotted to men and to women. It is also available during the winter months by special arrangement. Patients while at York Lodge continue under the treatment of physicians and nurses of the Hospital medical and nursing staffs. A total of 59 patients enjoyed the benefits of the Lodge during the summer. In addition parties of patients visited York Lodge each day but Sunday. Lunch was served on the veranda and the patients had opportunity to go in swimming. There were 86 day parties providing 716 outings for 164 patients. The patients enjoyed these outings very much. York Lodge contributed a great deal to the pleasure of the patients and may be looked upon as one of the treatment resources of the Hospital.

EDUCATIONAL WORK

The educational work carried on at the Hospital continues to merit some comment and is important enough to refer to each year. This very important part of the work done at the Hospital is directed to the training of physicians, nurses, occupational therapists, physical education aides, and dietitians. Aside from three instructors employed in the Nursing Department solely for teaching, all the educational work is carried on by the physicians and directors and their assistants of departments in connection with their regular duties in the treatment of patients and the administration of the Hospital. The advantages to the services of the Hospital are very great in building up and maintaining standards. The time is looked forward to when this work can be better organized and receive definite support. One of the resident medical staff held the Bloomingtondale Hospital Fellowship in Psychiatry which permitted him to spend a year in special study in Europe. Two held limited fellowships which permitted them to carry on special psychiatric studies in New York City. Two positions on the resident staff are available to physicians meeting the requirements, for study and training in psychiatry.

The four staff conferences held weekly at which cases are presented, the Monday evening conferences for the discussion of scientific subjects and the review of current literature, and the conferences held with the visiting and consulting staffs, all have an educational value to the physicians. An excellent medical library is kept up to date with new books and files of important periodicals. Likewise a special library is maintained for the nursing staff. Periodicals and books are provided for the other departments. Reference has already been made to the teaching at Cornell by members of the medical staff.

The School of Nursing is registered by the Regents of the University of the State of New York. All graduates are eligible for the qualification of R. N. granted by the Regents. The course is of three years' duration, one year of which is spent by the women at the New York Hospital and three months at the Manhattan Maternity Hospital; the men spend one year at Grasslands Hospital.

This year the School gave instruction to 177 students, 78 of whom were undergraduates, 74 affiliated students from the New York, Presbyterian, Fifth Avenue, Mount Sinai, and Roosevelt Hospitals of New York City, and 25 postgraduate students.

The Central School in which the White Plains Hospital, the New Rochelle Hospital, and the Mount Vernon Hospital have united with Bloomingtondale Hospital in the employment of two highly qualified instructors, is conducted in the Nurses Educational Building of the Hospital. One hundred and twenty-seven students were enrolled at this School during the year. No charge is made for the use of the building and its equipment. The contacts made with these affiliated schools are of mutual advantage and stimulate interest in psychiatric nursing. One student was given a course for head nurses in conjunction with Teachers College, Columbia University.

In the Department of Dietetics, 21 students were given instruction. Four were student dietitians and 17 were nurses. This instruction was both theoretical in the diet laboratory and practical in the special diet kitchen.

Six women occupational therapists took the special course in

BARD HOUSE

Occupational Therapy offered by the Hospital. The Departments of Occupational Therapy also gave instruction to 89 nurses in training in the Hospital.

During the summer months a limited number of medical students and students taking courses in physical education in educational institutions are given practical instruction for a period of three months under the direction of the heads of the respective departments.

The educational work of the Hospital has been carried on over a number of years. It has increased each year and has demonstrated its value to the Hospital and the community.

IMPROVEMENTS IN PLANT AND EQUIPMENT

Bard House and Bruce House, two new houses for women patients, were completed and occupied in December. These houses are for convalescent women patients and those mild cases which do not require close supervision. The houses are located in a grove north of the main buildings and are a distinct contribution to the progress made at Bloomingtondale in the treatment of psychiatric disorders. Each house has accommodations for 9 persons. Their homelike appearance and atmosphere will greatly aid in the completion of the cure and convalescence of our patients.

Two additions to the main building have been completed, fully equipped and occupied. They include an operating room suite; an employees' clinic; eye, ear, nose, and throat clinics; metabolism clinic; and a psychological laboratory. Three cottages for senior resident physicians were completed and occupied in July.

A survey by engineers was made of our entire heating and electrical systems. To meet our present needs and to provide for future developments the following changes were made at the boiler house and engine room: the boiler house was enlarged, a chimney was built, and an additional boiler was installed. In the engine room a new dynamo was installed and three old dynamos were replaced to provide a three wire 240 volt system. The old electric lines throughout the main building were renewed by larger cables.

The above together with the necessary tunnel, service connections, new roads and grading was completed at a cost of $680,949.56.

Plans were completed for the new acute building for women at a cost of $18,844.35. It is hoped that construction of this much needed building may be started next year.

The above development was made possible by the gift of the Trustees of the Payne Whitney Charitable Fund.

The fire lines were disconnected from the Hospital water supply, cleaned and connected with the city water mains on Westchester Avenue and North Street. New hydrants were put in. The Hospital now has an adequate water supply for fire protection.

The new fence about the property has been completed at a cost to the Hospital of $134,939.10. It was necessary to postpone the planting until next year. The fence has improved the appearance of the property as well as afforded much needed protection from intrusion.

The Pavilion which was constructed last year on the South field became available for use by the completion of the 18 hole putting green and installation of a water supply and plumbing. The cost of this development was $10,000.

Nine additional wells were driven south of the pond; the old wells were thoroughly cleaned and the enclosures renovated; the suction line was renewed; and a chlorinating apparatus and meter were installed at a cost of $6,000. The Hospital now has an adequate and safe domestic supply which meets our needs. A few buildings will still be supplied from the city water supply.

A four-inch main was installed to carry pond water to the flower garden. By the rearrangement of the water supplies referred to above, with this main the gardens, golf course and lawns can now be watered from the pond. These rearrangements of the water supplies which cost $1,500 will result in a substantial saving.

Brass pipe for renewing the hot water system of the main building was purchased at a cost of $5,950.96.

A science laboratory and additional toilet facilities were provided in Dexter Cottage for the use of the School of Nursing at a cost of $625.80.

New furniture for the halls was purchased at a cost of $5,440.98.

The farm house was renovated at a cost of $1,500.

One truck was replaced, and an additional truck, tractor power mowers, and an air compressor were purchased at a cost of $3,072.53. A number of horses have been dispensed with.

The ice-plant and brine lines were renovated at a cost of $861.27.

Most of the flower gardens and nursery stock have been removed to the new garden and nursery south of Campbell Cottages. This has resulted in a saving in upkeep and also provides an attractive spot for the patients to visit, and is a distinct addition to the hospital park.

NEEDS

A discussion of the needs of the Hospital this year is important in view of the prevailing economic situation. Reorganization of some of the Hospital services have been made. The study of the organization will be continued and every effort will be made to reduce Hospital expenses without lowering the standards of care and treatment of patients. Special funds should be provided for certain activities of the Hospital which ought not to be a direct charge on the income derived from the care of patients. These will be referred to further on in this report. It is desirable that the number of patients admitted to the Hospital be increased and thereby augment the Hospital income. Certain of the overhead fixed charges would be apportioned over a greater number of patients and the relative cost to the Hospital would be reduced.

In considering the needs of the Hospital they may be looked upon as those which are required to modernize both the accommodations and the equipment; to round out the facilities which have not yet been fully provided for; to provide for continued development to meet the needs of the community; and to continue the scientific and educational work of the Hospital.

The Hydrotherapy Department for the men has had to be closed and the Women's Department has been made available for the men in the afternoon, and the women in the morning. The Women's Department is much in need of renovation. It is recommended that means be found to provide for these necessary improvements.

It is recommended that the renovation and refurnishing of the halls be continued until completed.

Funds are needed for relocating the general library and enlarging the medical library.

The halls in the main building could with advantage be reduced in capacity. Rooms on each hall are needed for examining rooms, nurses' offices, and private baths. To provide for this improvement additional cottages would have to be constructed. This would also provide increased facilities for classification, which is desirable.

There continues to be a considerable need for extensive renewals occasioned by depreciation.

The work of making a comprehensive study of the grounds for the purpose of laying out additional walks and roads, relocating the golf course and providing more game fields is desirable and should be considered. This study should also include the study of sites for projected buildings.

The tentative programs submitted to the Bloomingtondale Committee in 1927 and 1928 of the developments to meet present and future needs of the Hospital are again referred to for consideration.

It is anticipated that with the completion of the new psychiatric clinic in New York City, there will be increased demands upon the service of the Hospital. It appears desirable that a study of the needs at Bloomingtondale Hospital be made to provide for other necessary improvements and to anticipate future needs and growth.

A house for men nurses is much needed.

It seems highly desirable that the group of houses for the nursing staff of which the Student Nurses House is the first, be completed. It is believed that these houses would do much toward stabilizing our nursing staff. Rooms on some of the halls continue to be occupied by nurses. The release of this space for additional patients and for examining and treatment rooms would be of advantage.

Cottages for the treatment of cases of early and mild neuroses, also for the study and treatment of unstable and problem children, are developments which should be given additional study.

The Bloomingtondale Committee is conversant with the many needs of the Hospital which have not been specifically mentioned in this report. Appropriations have been promptly made by your Board when recommended by the Committee. Constant effort has been made to maintain the entire plant in such condition that the services of the Hospital would not be impaired. The continued maintenance of the service of the Hospital requires that the demands of progress in the medical sciences generally and in psychiatry in particular be met and kept abreast of.

Wherever a high plane of medical service is maintained there will be found physicians who by temperament, ability, and interest are qualified and eager to carry on serious studies and to conduct research into the more obscure problems of their work. A review of the reports of the Hospital will show the gradual improvement of the medical service at Bloomingtondale and that each year more serious studies have been made and presented before scientific societies. These studies have been published and accepted favorably by the profession. It therefore seems desirable that special Residents in Psychiatry be provided for and established to further stimulate and develop this very important work.

The need for funds especially provided to carry on the educational work of the Hospital and to make possible more intensive and liberal training of members of the medical staff, is worthy of serious consideration. It would appear that these necessary and important activities of the Hospital ought to be carried on independently of the maintenance charges of the Hospital.

There has been a gradual increase in the funds required to assist those patients who were unable to meet the cost in whole, or in part, of their treatment. It has been the tradition of the Hospital for more than the century of its existence that no person, otherwise suitable, be refused admission because of temporary lack of funds, if accommodations are available. In keeping with this tradition it would appear to be highly desirable for the Hospital to have the support of additional special funds, such as the John C. Green

Memorial Fund, the income of which would be applied to the support of worthy patients whose friends are unable to reimburse the Hospital in whole or in part for their treatment.

FINANCIAL

The cost of maintenance decreased 7.6 per cent over the previous year owing to the lower cost of supplies. The total expenditure for ordinary maintenance and care and treatment of patients was $793,063.97, or $66,606.37 less than the previous year. This includes the maintenance of the properties at White Plains and Orienta Point, ordinary repairs and renewals, insurance except against fire, supplies, nursing and other study and treatment services, the educational work engaged in, salaries and wages, and all other running expenses. Capital charges and the cost of extraordinary renewals and improvements for which special appropriations were received, are not included.

Of the 547 cases treated during the year, 271 were wholly or partially supported by the Society. The number treated without charge was 27, and 244 paid rates that were less than the average cost. The expense borne by the Society in the treatment of these cases amounted to $237,131.52, more than $46,000 over last year, and which was the equivalent of 75 free beds throughout the year. The number of weeks' board and treatment was 13,058.

The income of the John C. Green Memorial Fund, amounting to $8,505.68, was, in accordance with the terms of the Memorial, applied to the support of 9 women patients.

In addition to the above expenditures for maintenance, the Hospital expended $764,316.24 for new construction and extraordinary improvements.

GENERAL

Visitors. The number of visitors to patients during the year was 14,943.

Official visits were made to the Hospital by Dr. Frederick W. Parsons, Commissioner of Mental Hygiene, on July 30th; and by the Medical Inspectors of the Department on January 30th, March 18th, June 19th, October 8th, and December 17th. Miss Stella M. Hawkins, Inspector of the State Department of Education for Nurse Training Schools, visited the Hospital June 10th.

Among those who visited the Hospital during the year were: Dr. Desmond Curran from the Hospital for Paralysis and Epilepsy, London; Dr. E. A. Bennet of the Tavistock Square Clinic, London; Miss Ida Darwin, member of the National Board of Control of England and Wales; Dr. A. S. Paterson, Fellow of the Medical Research Council of Great Britain; Dr. Henry E. Sigerist, Professor of History of Medicine at the University of Leipzig, Germany; Baroness von Hindenburg, niece of the President of Germany, who visited the Hospital in the general interest of the care of psychiatric cases; Dr. Ethel T. Stoneman of the State Psychological Clinic of Perth, West Australia; Dr. Gowan Macgowan of the Provincial Mental Hospitals of British Columbia, Canada; Dr. John M. Grimes, who visited the Hospital to discuss the proposed survey of private mental hospitals by the American Medical Association.

Libraries. The report of the librarian shows that 606 volumes, of which 199 were gifts, were added to the libraries during the year. Of these, 327 books were added to the general library; 80 new books and 83 bound volumes of journals were added to the medical library. Nine hundred and fifty-eight books were withdrawn from the general library. Eighty general magazines (49 titles) and 48 medical journals of which 7 are in foreign languages, were received. The distribution for the general library was 21,129 volumes of which 12,991 were issued to patients, 6,014 to the men and 6,977 to the women; and 8,138 to employees. No figures are kept showing the use of the medical library. All of the medical journals are bound and are available for reference. A number of English and foreign language dictionaries and reference books were added to the medical library. During the year there was a decided increase in the use of both the general and medical libraries. The general library contains 4,474 volumes and the medical library and that of the School of Nursing 4,363, making a total of 8,837 volumes.

The librarian gave four lectures to 107 nurses in the School of Nursing on the selection of books and the value of literature in the treatment of psychiatric disorders.

Acknowledgments and Gifts. Mr. Henry G. Barbey, not only by his counsel and advice, but by loaning to the Hospital, trucks, tools, and machinery, much of which showed a great deal of depreciation during their use, made it possible to construct the new fence about the Hospital property, drill wells, lay new water mains, and make the roads and do the grading at the site of the new cottages for physicians at a saving of some thousands of dollars. Mr. Barbey is a Governor of the Society and Acting Chairman of the Bloomingtondale Committee.

Mr. Walter Jennings presented the Hospital with a radio for the use of the men patients on Hall Seven. Mr. Paul Tuckerman presented the Hospital with several pieces of furniture including a

SITTING ROOM—BRUCE HOUSE

Steinway piano. Both Mr. Jennings and Mr. Tuckerman are Governors of the Society and members of the Bloomingdale Committee.

Mr. Alfred Kottmiller on several occasions sent large quantities of cut flowers to the Hospital. Miss Emma Bernheim made a gift of ten dollars for the general use of the Hospital. Many friends of patients have signified their appreciation of the service rendered to patients in whom they were interested by giving liberally to the Nurses Entertainment Fund.

Religious Services. Since 1819 religious services have been conducted on Sunday afternoons. The services this year were conducted by the Reverend Frank H. Simmonds and his assistant, Reverend Raymond F. Hornby of Grace Church, White Plains. These services were much appreciated and a source of comfort to those who attended. The Reverend Father Joseph C. Fleming and his assistants, the Reverend Father Francis X. Scott and the Reverend Father John D. McGowan of St. John's Church, and the Reverend Father Patrick Mackin and his assistant, the Reverend Father John Regan of the Gedney Farms Roman Catholic Church, White Plains, have been most faithful in attending to the religious comfort of the Catholic patients.

Items of Interest. The Westchester County Medical Society met at the Hospital on March 17th; the Greater New York Dietetic Association on May 9th; and the Westchester County Hospital Association on September 24th.

Resident Medical Staff. Dr. Dorothy Burdick, Assistant Physician, resigned July 1st to continue her studies at the Child Guidance Institute in New York City.

Dr. Robert Cumming resigned July 15th.

Dr. Gregory Zilboorg resigned August 9th to go into private practice.

Dr. Robert O. Willmott was appointed an Assistant Physician September 1st.

Dr. William H. Dunn resigned September 6th to continue his studies in Europe.

Dr. Lewis A. Eldridge was appointed an Assistant Physician October 21st.

Dr. Charles Diller Ryan resigned December 31st to become resident physician at the new New York Hospital Psychiatric Clinic.

Dr. George S. Sprague returned to the Hospital in October after spending a year of study abroad on the Bloomingdale Hospital Fellowship in Psychiatry.

It is a pleasure to express my appreciation to the physicians, nurses, and those in the special departments, the executives, and the employees of the Hospital for their devotion to their duties and the standards of the Hospital and their loyal assistance throughout the year. I wish to thank Dr. Russell for the continuation of our pleasant association.

I am greatly indebted to your Honorable Board and the Bloomingtondale Committee for the helpful counsel and generous support and encouragement which they so freely continue to give me.

In the past generous friends have provided liberally for the needs of the Hospital. The work of the Hospital continues to grow and increasing demands are made for the service it provides. For the information of those who may be interested in the present needs of the Hospital, I submit the following:

- (1) Hydrotherapy for Men's Department and Women's Department.
- (2) Funds to complete the renovation and refurnishing of the halls.
- (3) Funds for improving the Hospital park by laying out additional roads and walks, relocating the golf course, and landscaping.

Miss Mary D. Taylor, after two years as Director of Nursing, resigned on November 1st to be married. Miss Taylor has been missed by all with whom she came in contact.

Miss Eloise A. Shields was appointed as Director to succeed Miss Taylor and will assume her duties early in the ensuing year. Miss Shields graduated from this School in 1920 and for five years remained in the capacity of charge nurse and supervisor. Later for a time she acted as Director. Miss Shields received the degree of B. S. from Teachers College, Columbia University, and comes to Bloomingdale from the Psychopathic Hospital of the University of Iowa, where she has held the position of Director of Nursing. Miss Shields brings to the Hospital those capabilities which are the result of a wide experience and mature judgment in her chosen profession. She may look forward to cordial support from her many friends and co-workers.

The science laboratory was installed in Dexter Cottage, the Nurses Educational Building; and Mrs. Helen Mackay, until recently Miss Helen Noyes, has been appointed science instructor for the Central School. Miss Helen McKey, Bloomingdale 1931, has been appointed instructor in Practical Nursing to succeed Mrs. Mackay.

The Port Chester Hospital withdrew from the Westchester Central School which is now composed of four schools of nursing from the New Rochelle, the Mount Vernon, White Plains, and Bloomingdale Hospitals.

The following changes in the supervising office took place: Miss Lenore Giglio resigned as operating room supervisor in December and was succeeded by Mrs. Helen Cox Gaffney. Miss Dorothy Pine resigned as night supervisor in February and was succeeded by Miss Anne Watson, who in turn resigned to be succeeded by Miss Naomi Clark.

At the Graduation Exercises May 2nd, 15 students, 8 women and 7 men, received their diplomas. Dr. Arthur H. Ruggles, Medical Director of Butler Hospital, gave the address, which was followed by a reception. A dance was given in the evening in honor of the graduates.

Our affiliation with the following hospitals continued throughout the year: New York Hospital, 7 women students; Bellevue Hospital, 5 men students; Grasslands Hospital, 7 men students; and Manhattan Maternity Hospital 9 women students. Fifty-nine students came to the Hospital for the three months' affiliated course in psychiatric nursing from the New York, Presbyterian, Fifth Avenue, Roosevelt and Mount Sinai Hospitals.

Seventeen students completed the six months' postgraduate course. Among schools represented were the Orange Memorial Hospital, Orange, N. J.; Bridgeport Hospital, Bridgeport, Conn.; St. John's Hospital, Fargo, N. D.; Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, Mass.; Mt. Sinai Hospital, St. Luke's Hospital, St. Mark's Hospital of New York City; Mercy Hospital, Watertown, N. Y.; Moses Taylor Hospital, Scranton, Penn.; Passaic General Hospital, Passaic, N. J.

One student, Miss Jeanette A. Lindberg of the Swedish Hospital, Minneapolis, Minn. took the course given to charge nurses in collaboration with Teachers College, Columbia University.

On April 1st Mrs. Margaret Weston succeeded Mrs. Lois E. Presley, as House Mother at the Student Nurses House.

Miss Katherine Madenfort retired on a pension at the expiration of 34 years of faithful and loyal service.

The affiliation with Bellevue Hospital for the men students was discontinued and new affiliation with Grasslands Hospital was made. Seven students entered there September 1st.

I trust with the continuance of the friendly cooperation of the various departments and the staff, that the School of Nursing and the Nursing service of the Hospital will continue to progress.

Respectfully submitted,

CAROLYN A. SPROGELL,

Acting Director of Nursing.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE CAMPBELL COTTAGES FOR CONVALESCENT CHILDREN FOR THE YEAR 1931

To the Board of Governors:

GENTLEMEN:—The Annual Report of the Campbell Cottages for Convalescent Children is respectfully submitted as follows:

With the passing of the year 1931 we approach the close of twenty-five years of service of the Campbell Cottages for Convalescent Children. During this period, the institution has cared for 19,171 patients, at a cost of $1,086,613.84, an average per capita cost of $1.83 per day.

The original building, a two story frame house, the gift of the Misses Catherine B. and Maria L. Campbell in 1900, had been used as a place of rest to accommodate 16 women from the New York Hospital. In 1907 equipment was added which made it possible to take care of an equal number of children while new buildings, also the gift of the Misses Campbell, were being erected for them. The women patients remained in the original house until 1915, when that service was transferred to the Burke Foundation for Convalescents.

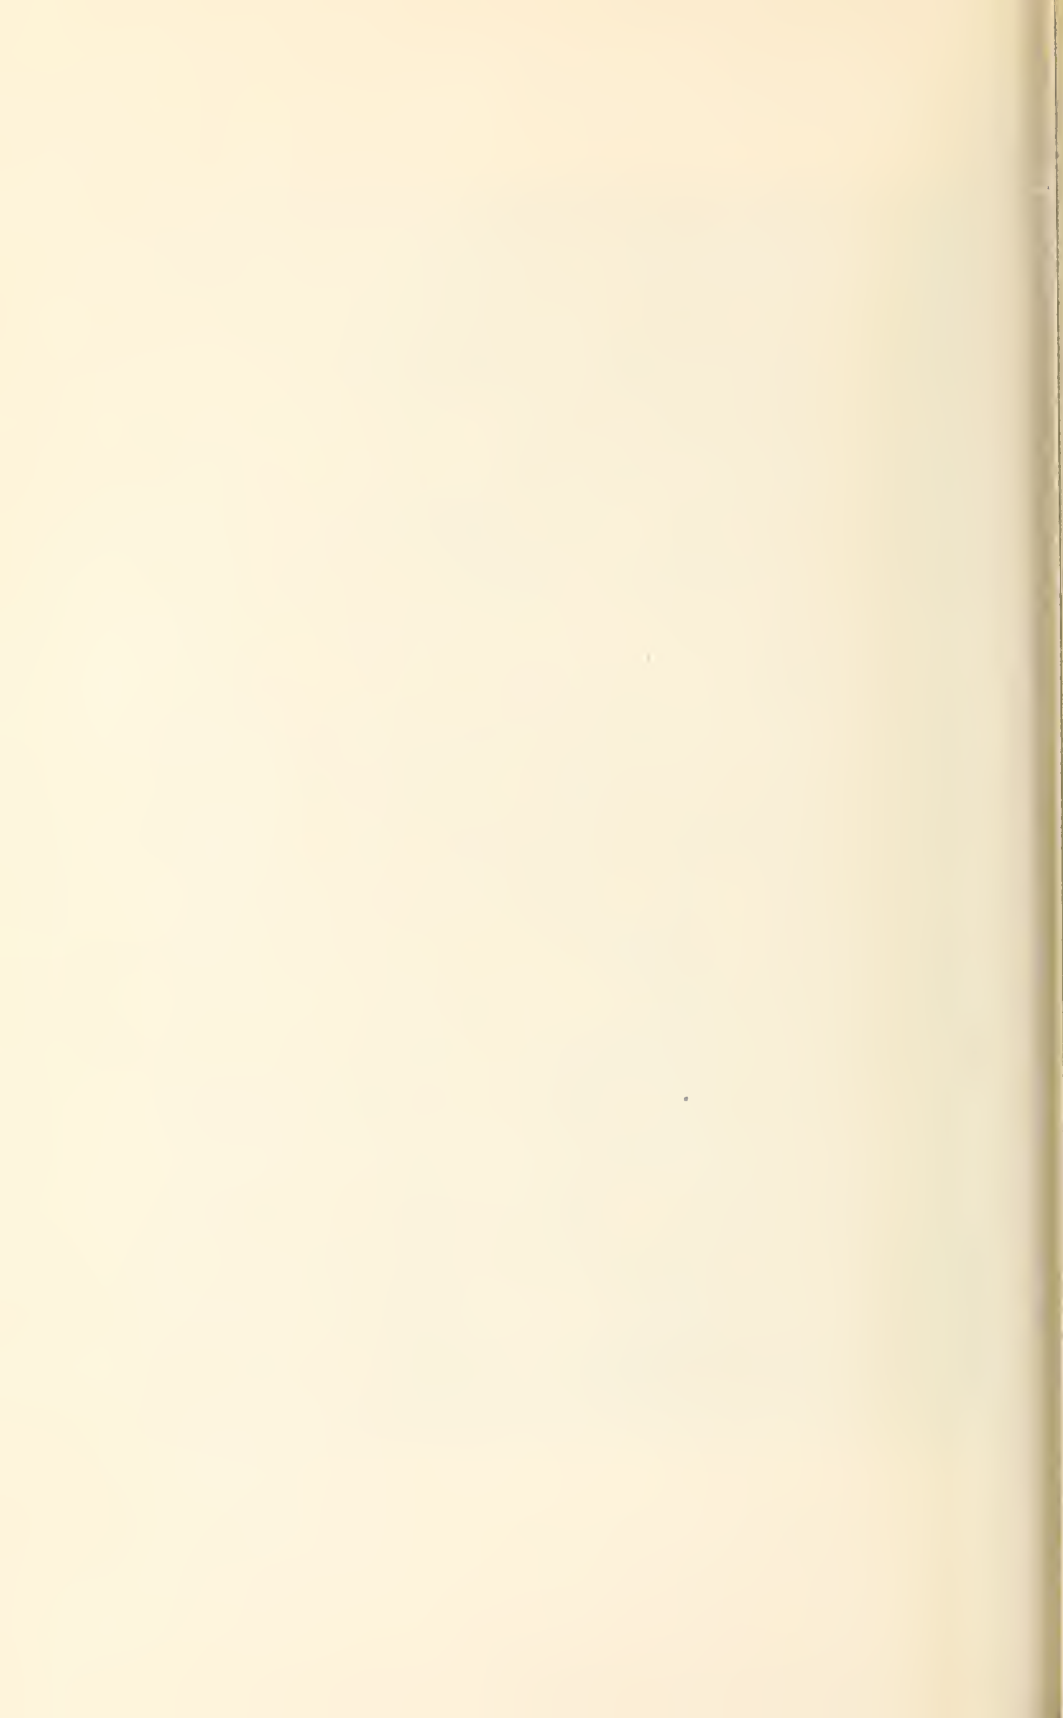

With the closing of the women's department the original house was remodelled to accommodate 30 girls from 8 to 16 years of age. The new cottage was arranged for girls from 1 to 8 years and boys from 1 to 10 years.

The beginning, in 1907, was very simple, and as very little was being done for convalescent children at that time, Campbell Cottages may well be considered as having been a pioneer in that field. Very few convalescent homes have had the privilege of being connected with their own city hospital, and this institution has been greatly aided in its service by the close coöperation rendered by the Social Service Department of the New York Hospital. Under the able management of Miss Josephi this department has been an important influence in maintaining the standard of Campbell Cottages.

Since the Cottages are a branch of the city hospital, this institution has always been conscious of its duty to receive children whose condition would have made them ineligible for admission to the ordinary convalescent home. Among the cases cared for have been children suffering from asthma, chorea, cardiac trouble, important surgical dressings—also bed patients, problem children, and practically any medical or surgical condition. The only cases not eligible have been contagion and active pulmonary tuberculosis.

Many convalescent homes for children have come into being since the infant days of Campbell Cottages, and it has been the privilege of this institution to hold many conferences with physicians and other workers who were planning country homes for children. Visitors have come from all parts of the United States and from Canada.

As a number of children were kept in the Cottages for prolonged periods of convalescence it became plainly necessary that their education should not be forgotten, and in 1910 a trained school teacher was added to the staff, with very gratifying results.

The general staff has always included a sufficient number of trained nurses to give proper care to the variety and type of cases admitted to this institution. This policy is doubtless responsible, to a great extent, for much of whatever has been satisfactory in the progress of the institution.

In 1920, through the generosity of the late Mr. Augustus D. Juilliard, an extension was made to the younger children's building which added to the general facilities and made it possible to increase the number of children to 80 which is our present limit of capacity.

As the greater number of our children have few or no home opportunities it was decided to find time to teach them personal hygiene, first aid and similar subjects, and this has been undertaken by one of the nursing staff for some twenty years.

Children's indoor spare time and long hours in the open must be provided for, and an occupational and recreational programme for our girls and boys soon became a real problem which was solved by adding a recreational worker to the staff. The cement playground was extended, by the gift of Mr. Edwin Gould, and has proved of inestimable value during winter months or damp weather.

The social and mental life of the convalescent is of great importance and cannot be overlooked. With this in mind the children's environment and surroundings have been made appealing and attractive by means of social gatherings, radios, singing, a library and pictures. Occupational and recreational activities enriched and enlivened hours that might have led to homesickness.

For many of the institution's social and recreational resources we have been indebted to generous friends.

The Cottages are deeply indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Augustine J. Smith for many contributions to the educational and social life of the children.

Perhaps the greatest problem facing this institution is the frequent development of contagion among the younger children, notwithstanding the vigilance of the hospital's Social Service Department. These occurrences of contagious diseases in the Cottages are a distinct handicap to our service and a source of considerable expense to the institution. It is hoped that, with the development of the children's service in the new hospital, a plan may be worked out which will reduce the occurrence of contagion to the minimum.

The faithful service of the nursing staff has been notable. All of the nurses are well equipped to perform the duties required by this form of nursing and several have served the institution faithfully and well for upwards of twenty years. Much of whatever has been accomplished is due to their high order of service.

The year 1931 has been one of active service. The daily average census was 77 and the children made good physical progress. Fortunately the epidemic of poliomyelitis passed our children by.

A Conference on Child Health, called by President Hoover, met in Washington during February. Miss Marion McClearn, assistant superintendent, represented Campbell Cottages.

The recommendations of the Conference Committee embodied a programme almost identical with the one which has been carried out by this institution for many years. The Committee stressed points such as the importance of employing trained nurses for convalescent children and the need of an experienced and intelligent staff of workers. They emphasized the need of regular school work, occupational and recreational activities—all under trained supervision. The Conference was a new source of encouragement to Campbell Cottages.

A number of necessary repairs and improvements were made during the year, as follows:

The floors of the schoolroom, playroom, boys' corridor and girls' sitting room was scraped by machine and revarnished.

New electric light fixtures to replace the worn equipment in the schoolroom and playroom; new plumbing in the bathrooms of the girls' and isolation cottages. Protective covers were made for 10 radiators and 6 hot pipes.

The gate at the top of the stairway in the younger children's cottage and the adjoining railing were made higher, and new linoleum was laid on the front stairs of this cottage and the older girls' cottage.

Several cellar lights were rewired and new underground wires were laid from the Cottages to the fire alarm bells which are located in the stables.

Some 24 compartments for toys were built into the boys' clothing room and 6 new bed springs and a porch gate were furnished the same cottage.

A new Ford Sedan, accommodating five passengers, was purchased.

Considerable necessary interior and exterior painting was done throughout the institution and repairs were made to roofs, gutters, furnaces, fire escapes, cement courtyard, screens, swings and on playground benches and household furniture.

The Christmas season was not lacking in its usual happiness. The children were remembered by many donors among public organizations and individual friends.

The Cottages are very grateful for the friendly help which Bloomingdale Hospital has lent so readily, no matter what the occasion or need.

To the Board of Governors and to the Bloomingdale Committee I wish to express my deep appreciation of the encouragement and support which have sustained my efforts during these twenty-five years in Campbell Cottages. Without their counsel and support a labor of this kind would be impossible.

It has been a great privilege to have been associated with Campbell Cottages and its staff, and our labors are daily rewarded in seeing restored to these children the health and happiness that are the birthright of every child.

THE NEW YORK HOSPITAL
WEST FIFTEENTH STREET FRONT—COMPLETED 1877

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
GOVERNORS OF THE SOCIETY OF THE NEW YORK
HOSPITAL FOR THE YEAR 1932

In conformity with the provisions of its Charter, granted by Royal Authority June 13, 1771, in the reign of King George III, the Governors of The Society of the New York Hospital present to the Legislature of the State of New York their annual report and a statement showing the receipts and expenditures for the year 1932 of the several institutions under their control and management, as follows:

The general hospital, at 525 East 68th Street, New York, which is hereinafter called the New York Hospital, the department for the treatment of mental diseases, known as Bloomingdale Hospital, at White Plains, Westchester County, and the hospital for convalescent children, also at White Plains. The New York Hospital also includes the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic, the Pediatric Clinic and the Society of the Lying in Hospital.

As indicated in our report for 1931 the new group of buildings which have been in process of erection since June 1929 between 68th and 71st Streets and York Avenue (formerly known as Avenue A) and Exterior Street, were completed in the summer of 1932, and on the first of September of that year the New York Hospital moved from its old site on 15th and 16th Streets west of Fifth Avenue to the new Hospital buildings. The Lying-In Hospital, at the same time, moved from Second Avenue between 17th and 18th Streets into its new building at the southwest corner of Exterior and 70th Streets. The Manhattan Maternity and Dispensary, in accordance with the agreement made between that hospital and the New York Hospital and sanctioned by the Supreme Court of the State of New York, discontinued its operation in its building on East 60th Street.

This change in site during the calendar year makes comparison with previous years difficult. All of the departments have patiently and successfully borne the great inconvenience of removing and readjusting their operations in entirely new quarters.

The new buildings constitute the third home in the history of the Hospital—the first on Broadway between Duane and Worth Streets from 1771 to 1870, and the second on Fifteenth and Sixteenth Streets west of Fifth Avenue from 1870 to 1932.

In the entrance hall of this third home are the following inscriptions:

Under the will of Stewart Hill Jones, who died September 5, 1932, the Hospital is named as a legatee after the death of the life beneficiary.

Under the will of William de Forest Haynes, who died November 11, 1932, the Hospital is to receive one half of the residuary estate upon the death of the two life beneficiaries.

Under the will of Edward G. Kennedy, who died October 8, 1932, the hospital is given one-quarter of the residuary estate.

Of the legacies mentioned in previous annual reports the following amounts have been received:

Under the will of Edward N. Hill $11,216.58.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE NEW YORK HOSPITAL- CORNELL MEDICAL COLLEGE ASSOCIATION

To the Board of Governors:

GENTLEMEN:—The admission of patients to the Hospital on September 1st and the initiation of instruction in the Medical College on September 26th, 1932, consummated the actual organic association of the New York Hospital and the Cornell University Medical College. The two institutions then joined together in the new plant to carry forward a cooperative undertaking to render service to the sick and injured, to conduct medical education, and to widen the boundaries of medical knowledge.

The events of last September were the culmination of several years of thoughtful consideration by the officers of the Hospital and of the University which took concrete form with the execution of the agreement on June 14th, 1927, forming the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical College Association. This agreement was entered into because the New York Hospital was impressed with the importance of rendering a larger, better, and more important service to the sick of the community, to medical education and to medical science through a more intimate and organic association with the Cornell University Medical College. The University associated itself organically with the Hospital for the express purpose of developing the Medical College on advanced and steadily advancing lines. In the teaching of students and in the development of medical research, it was the common purpose of the two institutions to offer opportunities which would attract to their staff and faculty the ablest teachers, investigators, and physicians that were anywhere procurable.

The Director took office on July 1st, 1927, devoting part of his time to the work of the Association during the first year, and assuming the full responsibilities of his office on July 1st, 1928. The two main tasks that confronted him at this time were to cooperate with the architects and builders in planning the buildings to be occupied by the Hospital and Medical College and to effect, under the authority of the Joint Administrative Board, an organization for carrying on jointly the hospital, educational, and research activities of the two institutions. It is the purpose of this report to deal especially with the problems of that part of the organization affecting mainly the Hospital and the clinical departments of the Medical College.

The complex problem of planning, begun early in 1927, was carried on as rapidly as possible and although several new units were added during the course of the designing, the plans became sufficiently settled to allow the commencement of construction on June 17th, 1929, when ground was broken. On June 12th, 1930, the cornerstone was laid and in September 1932 all the buildings were virtually completed, furnished, and equipped.

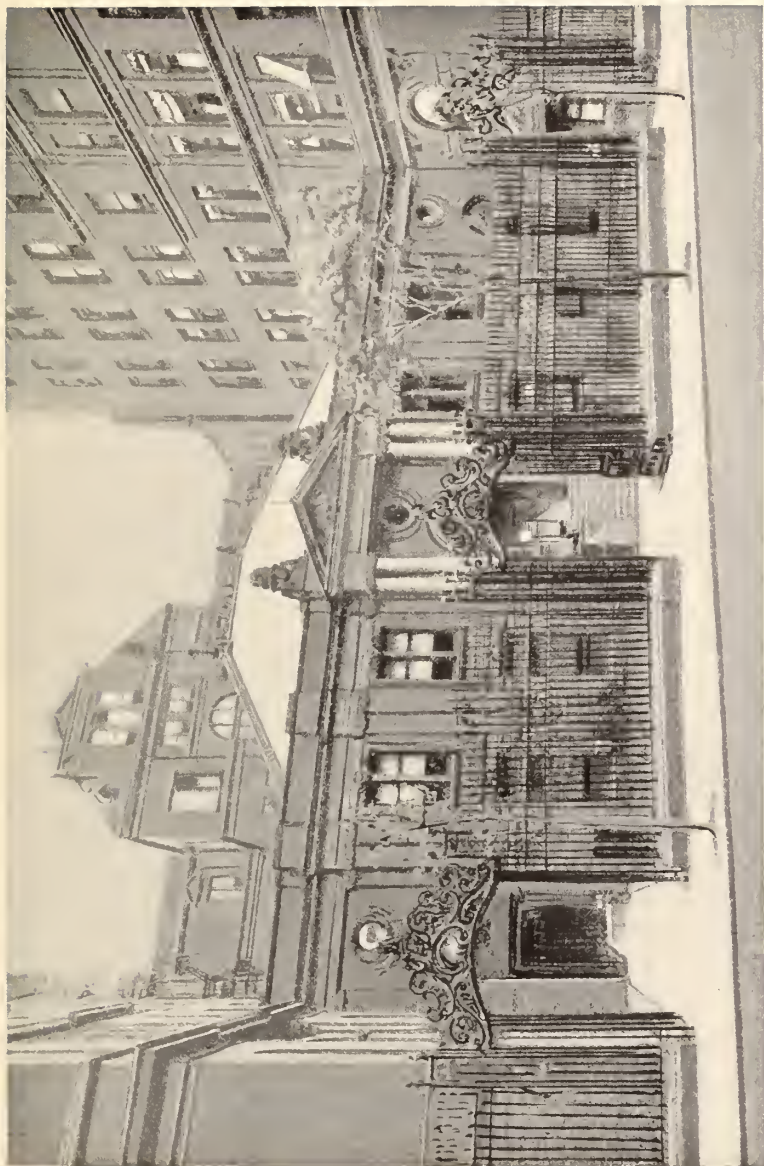

From the beginning, it was the understanding that the Hospital was to be organized and conducted on what has been designated as the University Basis, this understanding implying that each professional service of the Hospital would be headed by a chief of service who would also hold the professorship and be the head of the corresponding department in the Medical College, and who would give his entire time to the activities of the Hospital and Medical College without financial dependence on private practice. This understanding had a fundamental influence both on the planning of the Hospital and on the organization of its staff. The Hospital was planned with the conception that it should be composed of five University Clinics which should be largely self-contained and each of which should be provided not only with facilities adequate in every way for medical practice both for in-patients and out-patients, but also with facilities for teaching and for the conduct of research. Each clinic was planned so that it could be directed by its chief of service and head of the department. The five Clinics into which the Hospital was divided were medicine, surgery, obstetrics and gynecology, pediatrics, and psychiatry. This conception of the Hospital not only included a wide expansion of its previous activities, but also necessitated a fundamental reorganization of the professional staff as it had existed. The planning and organization of the psychiatric clinic, now known as the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic, has been carried out largely by Dr. William L. Russell as General Psychiatric Director of the New York Hospital. He has devoted himself earnestly and constantly to this work, and has a notable achievement to his credit.

The problem which presented itself as of paramount importance was securing heads of the clinical departments capable of carrying the heavy responsibilities which these positions entail, both from the point of view of directing the service to patients and of fulfilling the functions of a University professor. It was essential to fill these positions with outstanding men trained for and ready to pursue an academic career, giving up the advantages that private practice has for highly trained clinicians and teachers. The planning of the Hospital and the organization of its staff have been carried out with these considerations in mind as essential to the formation of the staff and faculty.

Fortunately, two men fulfilling the requirements to a distinguished degree, who had during a number of years proven themselves eminently fitted to head the hospital service and to continue in their professorships on a true University basis, were already attached to the Medical College in Medicine and Pediatrics. Dr. Eugene F. DuBois was appointed Physician-in-Chief and Professor of Medicine, and Dr. Oscar M. Schloss was appointed Pediatrician-in-Chief and Professor of Pediatrics. After a careful survey of the entire country, Dr. George J. Heuer was appointed Surgeon-in-Chief and Professor of Surgery, Dr. H. J. Stander was appointed Obstetrician- and Gynecologist-in-Chief, and Professor of these subjects, and Dr. George S. Amsden was appointed Psychiatrist-in-Chief and Professor of Psychiatry. The head of each clinic has had a very large and complex task in setting up his departmental organization and in perfecting the coordination between his own department and the other departments of the Hospital and the general services.

It is difficult to comprehend the innumerable details that had to be arranged in putting the Hospital into operation in order to assure safety, comfort, and efficient professional care for all the patients. The fact that the Hospital was able to receive patients with so little disturbance and difficulty when the doors of the new plant were opened to them is a great tribute to all who were responsible for the administrative and professional details. Mr. John R. Howard, Jr. as Superintendent, his immediate associates, and the heads of the various administrative departments deserve very great credit for the energy and foresight with which the administrative organization was perfected.

A particularly heavy burden fell upon Miss Anna D. Wolf and her associates in the nursing service. Hampered as they were with some confusion in the receipt of supplies, the entire nursing service carried on prior to the opening of the Hospital and after its opening with great faithfulness and efficiency. They bore many of the shocks that are sure to come with the opening of a new hospital, especially with a staff brought together from many places, the members of which had not had an opportunity of working together previously.

A report which includes the year 1932 can hardly escape reference to the financial aspects of any situation. Curtailment of the actual bed capacity was planned in the first months of the year, and the furnishings and equipment of the Hospital were reduced to meet the restricted occupancy. The Trustees of the University agreed to have any equipment possessed by the Medical College but not required for its use in the new plant transferred to the Hospital, and equipment from the Cornell Clinic, including its x-ray department, and from some of the laboratories of the College was utilized in the Hospital.

Viewing the situation broadly, and considering the three functions which the Hospital in association with the Medical College has undertaken—the care of patients, the conduct of medical education, and the pursuit of medical research, the first four months of the Hospital in its new surroundings present a situation which has much to commend it. None of the activities function at the present time with the perfection or with the fullness that is ultimately to be expected. No doubt months will be required to smooth out the multitude of procedures and to gain adequate team-work. On the other hand, the Hospital has already rendered much service of a high order, teaching has gone forward without great difficulties, and an increasing volume of research is being initiated in the laboratories of the various departments. The central laboratories, the pathological department, the x-ray service, and the physiotherapy department have all functioned well, and have shown a fine spirit of cooperation.

The Social Service Department has been of much value in the service to patients, and the support given to this work by the Social Service Committee of the New York Hospital and by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Lying-in Hospital is much appreciated by the Staff.

A report has been made by the head of each department regarding the activities of his division of the work. It is a sincere pleasure to express appreciation of the support and cooperation which the Director has received from all members of the professional and administrative staff during the months of strenuous effort when all have labored valiantly to inaugurate the work of the Hospital in its new surroundings and to improve from day to day its service.

Respectfully submitted,

March 24, 1933.

G. CANBY ROBINSON.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

To the Board of Governors of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—The old Hospital buildings located at West 15th and 16th Streets were occupied for seven months, closing officially July 31st. This period was uneventful. Nothing new was attempted and the various activities gradually decreased. During this period the total number of admissions to the Hospital was 3,169 and the total out-patient visits, 72,059.

Only 184 patients were admitted in July. The Out-Patient Department cared for 80 patients the last day it was open, Friday, July 29th; and the Emergency Department, which closed the same day, cared for only 5. Of the 41 patients in the Hospital at the beginning of the final week in July, 12 were transferred to Bellevue Hospital, 4 to St. Vincent's Hospital, and one to each of the following hospitals: Roosevelt, Mt. Sinai, French, St. Mary's and Lenox Hill. Twenty patients not requiring further hospital treatment returned to their homes. The honor of being the last of 306,015 patients admitted to the old Hospital fell to one of the internes who was admitted on August 25th for tonsillectomy.

As the work of the Hospital decreased and one floor after another was vacated, the furniture and equipment were crated and shipped to the new institution in vans. About six weeks time was required to complete this transfer. Part of the furnishings and two ambulances were donated to other institutions.

After a vacation of two weeks most of the old employees reported August 15th for duty at the new Hospital. The internes were given a month's leave of absence dating from August 1st.

The ambulances were discontinued at midnight, June 30th, thus bringing to a close a service which this Hospital had rendered continuously to the city of New York since July, 1875, a period of 57 years. In recent years, three ambulances, with a fourth in reserve, had responded annually to about 7,500 calls. Before the closing of the House of Relief at 67 Hudson Street in 1919, seven ambulances were operated. Up until 1912 the Hospital received no reimbursement from the city for this service.

The new buildings were opened to receive patients on September 1st. Department heads had been working for months on plans of organization and equipment, and the personnel were all on hand by the middle of August to make ready for patients and to learn their way around the buildings.

591 beds were opened the first month. 370 of these were in the public pavilions, and were occupied to 44 per cent of capacity. The pavilion beds in the Woman's Clinic had to be increased from 84 to 144, the full capacity, on October 1st. This raised the total pavilion beds to 430, which were occupied in October to 72% capacity, in November to 84%, and in December to 85%.

The total patient days for each of the four months, including newborns, was:

	Pavilion Patients	Private Patients
September.....	5,901	663
October.....	12,118	1,372
November.....	13,956	1,640
December.....	15,062	1,503

The Out-Patient Department showed the same immediate demand and gradual growth, with total visits as follows:

September.....	10,825
October.....	14,295
November.....	16,498
December.....	17,425

To care for this number of in-patients and out-patients, in these extensive buildings, with so little confusion and such general satisfaction speaks well for the department heads and personnel, both professional and lay. In making the adjustments to new conditions, the personnel from the old institutions, the New York Hospital, the Lying-In Hospital, the Manhattan Maternity and the Cornell Clinic did yeoman service.

The brunt of preparation for the care of patients fell on the nursing department; and too much cannot be said of the efficient manner in which it was met.

The preparation and serving of 4,000 meals a day was one of the tasks that required the most complete organization, and both patients and personnel attest how well it was done. An innovation in food service is the furnishing of meals only to resident doctors, nurses, and to food handlers, all others paying for what they order. The most obvious result is a higher standard of food, service, and satisfaction than usual in hospital dining rooms.

Another major task was cleaning the buildings, which are eleven times the size of the old New York Hospital, with five and a half miles of corridors, nine thousand doors, and eight thousand windows.

The most complicated of all the problems was the operation of the power plant, producing light for 25,000 electric lamps, air for twenty miles of ventilating ducts, water for 8,400 plumbing outlets, steam for 5,500 radiators, 125 sterilizers, and laundry, and power for 35 elevators, 380 fans, and the 300-ton refrigeration plant. The reliability with which this service has been furnished is evidence of the soundness with which the plant was engineered and constructed, and of the vigilance and ability of our own engineer who contributed much to the planning and construction and has been indefatigable in operation.

Soon after the Hospital opened, it was found that the absence of crosstown transportation lines was a great inconvenience to visitors and the Hospital personnel, and a real hardship to the out-patients. Three busses were put into service, and the use grew from 1,100 passengers a day in September to 1,900 in December.

In getting a hospital of this size and complexity under way, the operating expenses for the first few months are not representative. It may be reported, however, that the operating expenses from the opening, September 1st, to December 31st, were well within the estimate, and the operating earnings, due to the rapid intake of patients, more than the estimate.

JOHN R. HOWARD, JR.,

REPORT OF THE OBSTETRICIAN- AND GYNECOLOGIST- IN-CHIEF

To the Board of Governors of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I have the honor to present the report of the Society of the Lying-In Hospital for the year 1932.

During the first eight months of the year the work of the institution was conducted in the old building at Second Avenue and Seventeenth and Eighteenth Streets, under the able leadership of Dr. James A. Harrar. The results obtained during that period were even better than those of the preceding year, the maternal mortality being only 3.4 per thousand as compared with 4 per thousand in the Lying-In in 1931, and with over 6.5 per thousand throughout the United States.

On September first, 1932, the activities of the Lying-In were transferred to the new building on Seventieth Street and the East River. Due to the generous and unfailing interest of the Board of Governors we are now housed in a modern, exceedingly well-planned and well-equipped building, designed for the care of obstetrical and gynecological patients. We desire to express our appreciation to the Board of Governors, not only for having made this possible but also for the constant support they have given us. It is our earnest hope that our results will in a measure justify their efforts.

The Lying-In Hospital, in its new quarters, became part of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical College Association and so assumed the form of a University Woman's Clinic. The new Lying-In Hospital is a unit complete for the care of maternity and gynecological patients, for the education of medical students in the field of obstetrics and gynecology, for the thorough training of doctors in this field, and for conducting research work in the many unsolved problems in this branch of medicine.

The closing of the Lying-In Hospital and the opening of the new clinic were effected without mishap to any patient. Although the first patient to the new hospital was not admitted until September first, emergency antenatal clinics had to be started by August fifteenth in order to effect a smooth and successful transfer of activities from the one to the other hospital.

The new Lying-In Hospital, opened September first, 1932, provides 134 maternity and 42 gynecological beds. Of these, 16 obstetrical and 10 gynecological beds are for private patients, all the remaining being for ward patients. Together with these 170 hospital beds, the clinic conducts an outdoor delivery service in the area east of Fifth Avenue, south of 86th and north of 34th Streets, as well as the Berwind Outdoor Delivery Service in the Harlem District. The outdoor service at 135 Chrystie Street, which for many years was conducted by the Lying-In Hospital, is now under the direction of New York University.

During the first four months of operation of the new Hospital, there were 732 indoor and 375 outdoor deliveries, a total of 1273 obstetrical patients discharged, including deliveries, abortions, and ante and post partum admissions, there were four women who died, a gross maternal mortality of 3.14 per thousand, and a gross infantile death rate of 3.565 per cent.

In the gynecological division, during this four-month period, there were 154 patients discharged. The number of gynecological operations performed was 116. One patient died on the fourteenth post-operative day, giving a gross mortality of 0.649 per cent and a post-operative mortality of 0.862 per cent for this service.

Through the splendid assistance of the Ladies' Auxiliary Board a very complete department of Social Service has been developed, consisting of four workers and two secretaries. This department is now an intimate part of the Lying-In Hospital and the social workers come in close touch with all the patients in the out-patient clinics, in the hospital wards, and with a certain number in their homes. For the excellent help from the Ladies' Auxiliary Board, which has made this possible, I wish to express my appreciation.

The Department of Pediatrics, in charge of Dr. O. M. Schloss, has taken care of all our new-born babies. The results obtained, in full term as well as in premature babies, have been very excellent, and I desire to acknowledge my sincere thanks to Dr. Schloss and his staff.

To the Department of Nursing, under the direction of Miss Lila J. Napier during the first eight months, and in charge of Miss Verda Hickcox for the last four months of the year, we are indebted for nursing care of a very high order. This is reflected in the low maternal morbidity rate for the whole year. The nursing care in a maternity hospital is of the utmost importance and plays a major rôle in our constant fight to reduce maternal mortality. Any encouraging results that we may have been able to show in this respect are in large measure due to the efficient cooperation received from the members of our nursing staff.

I cannot refrain from expressing to the members of my staff, both attending and house officers, my appreciation of their whole-hearted cooperation in this period of readjustment. Changes incident to the opening of the new hospital called for many sacrifices and these were, in all instances, willingly made.

A condensed report of the work of the Lying-In Hospital for the year 1932 appears on the following pages.

Respectfully submitted,

H. J. STANDER, M.D.,
Obstetrician- and Gynecologist-in-Chief.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE SCHOOL OF NURSING AND DIRECTOR OF THE NURSING SERVICE

To the Board of Governors of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I herewith submit the fifty-fifth annual report of the School of Nursing and Nursing Service of the New York Hospital.

The year opened with the resignation of the Directress of Nurses, Miss Minnie H. Jordan, a graduate of the class of 1902, who had faithfully and unselfishly served in this capacity from 1916 through 1931. Miss Jordan's devotion to the best interests and care of patients has always been the predominant principle in her administration of the school; her wise counsel and advice have long since been sought and depended upon by her associates and students; her friendly understanding of human needs has gained for her a place in the hearts of all who went to her for guidance and help. It seems most fitting to record here that during her incumbency the course of study was lengthened to three years with the inclusion of a psychiatric affiliation of three months at Bloomingdale Hospital for all students and with one of three electives—public health nursing at Henry Street Visiting Nurse Association, communicable disease nursing at Willard Parker, or social service in the Hospital Social Service Department.

To staff and students alike Miss Jordan's resignation was a matter of deep regret. To the alumnae her years of service in the New York Hospital as Head Nurse, Supervisor of Operating Room, Directress of Nurses, and her varied services as district nurse in Ithaca during the memorable typhoid epidemic, as office nurse, as private duty nurse and as Superintendent of Nurses at the French Hospital for eight years, mark outstanding achievements in the career of one of their most beloved members.

To honor her, a scholarship in her name was established by the alumnae and appropriately granted to one of her former students and associates, Miss Margaret Wyatt, for graduate study at Teachers College, Columbia University, during the summer of 1932. Miss Jordan's active participation in the work of the Committee on Nursing Organization of the New York Hospital has continued through her interest and guidance in the planning of the work in the reorganized school. Our congratulations and best wishes are extended to her in her chosen field and our gratitude is offered for her understanding helpfulness to those of us who are attempting to carry on the fine traditions of the school.

Upon Miss Jordan's resignation, Miss Sarah E. Moore, the Assistant Directress, was appointed as Acting Directress of the School and most efficiently conducted the work at the hospital on 16th Street during the difficult time of transition to the new buildings. There was no expansion of the school work during this interim; no spring class was admitted because of the probable lack of clinical material for a larger group of students' practice during the summer and early fall and because of the new policy to be established in the school.

At the graduation exercises, March 2nd, twenty students were granted diplomas and medals, at which time Mr. Edward W. Sheldon, President of the Society of the New York Hospital, addressed the class. Of signal importance to the school and the alumnae was Mr. Sheldon's announcement at that time of the appointment of Miss Irene Sutcliffe as Directress Emeritus of the School of Nursing and her permanent occupancy of an apartment in the new nurses' residence and her subsequent election in April as a member of the Society of the New York Hospital. Miss Sutcliffe's personal association with our students and graduates will be a lasting influence in their lives. We are most grateful for her active contribution to our school during these days of reorganization which have necessitated many readjustments in which her calm, loyal and judicious acceptance of the necessity for change in the progress of nursing has been a source of constant strength and support to the new administration of the school.

The work of the past year centers primarily in three groups of activities:—first, those relating to the determination of policies for the reorganized school and service; second, those relating to the selection of faculty and staff and the preparation of the plant for the admission of patients and, third, those relating to the opening of the new hospital and the development of the service and the new curriculum.

The splendid work of the Committee on Nursing Organization, under the able direction of Miss Ethel Johns, has served continuously as a basis for the policies of the reorganized school and service. We cannot emphasize too strongly our appreciation of the advantages we have enjoyed because of the painstaking work of Miss Johns and the support of the committee in recommending a reorganization of the curriculum; in advocating university recognition of the course of study; in emphasizing the importance of a stabilized graduate service and adequate budget; in developing the plans for the nurses' residence and in promoting adequate educational facilities. Because of their wisdom and foresight, we have been able to proceed in our task with greater courage and steadfast zeal. The findings and recommendations of the committee have been shared in part with other organizations and an international, as well as national, benefit to nursing has been derived, especially through the publication by the Rockefeller Foundation of the National Organization of Public Health Nursing study which emphasizes the importance of public health nursing as an integral part of the undergraduate nursing curriculum.

As a basis for development the policies of the reorganized school and service were determined as follows:

1. The curriculum of the school should provide a longer pre-clinical period of study which would allow for more thorough courses in psychological and sociological aspects of nursing, in the fundamental biological sciences and chemistry and more carefully supervised elementary nursing.
2. The clinical curriculum should provide for the inclusion of more varied types of clinical courses and public health courses in approved sequence and with provision and facilities for necessary study.
3. All courses should be of collegiate grade of content and instruction.

4. All students should be admitted to the school once annually; the matriculation of students should be scrutinized with the view of admitting students of at least twenty years of age and of higher preparation than high school graduation, if possible.

5. Student schedules, including class and practice, should not exceed forty-four hours per week.

6. The faculty of the school should be selected because of their especial preparation and success in their particular fields of study.

7. The clinical nursing departments should be organized with responsible heads who would direct all nursing activities and instruction within the department.

8. The smallest clinical department in which a determined maximum number of students would be placed should regulate the size of our own student body. The school should be enlarged in numbers through the admission of graduate and affiliated students.

9. A minimum graduate staff should be maintained because of the rapid turnover of students in a given clinical department in order not to jeopardize patient care.

10. Health education should be stressed and staff and student health be emphasized.

For the administration of the school and to determine its general policies the Council of the School of Nursing was appointed by the Board of Governors with membership as follows: Mr. Edward W. Sheldon, Chairman; Mr. Wilson M. Powell and Mr. Barklie Henry, members of the Board of Governors; Dr. Livingston Farrand, President of Cornell University; Dr. G. Canby Robinson, Executive Director of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical College Association; Dr. Eugene DuBois, representative of the clinical services; Miss Mary Beard, Chairman of the Alumnae Committee; Miss Mary Roberts, representative of nursing at large; Miss Flora Rose, Director of the New York State College of Home Economics, Cornell University; Mr. John R. Howard, Jr., Superintendent of the Hospital; and the Director of the School of Nursing.

Valuing so greatly the work of the Committee on Nursing Organization, before mentioned, the same committee, with Miss Mary Beard as chairman, was asked to continue as an advisory Alumnae Committee to the School of Nursing, with two additional members, Miss Irene Sutcliffe as an honorary member and Miss Lillian D. Wald, as an active member.

Having in mind certain policies to be carried out in the work before us, our attention was directed upon the choice of well-qualified faculty and staff members. Many of these appointments were made through the selection of a number of nurses already employed by the New York Hospital, the Lying-In Hospital, the Manhattan Maternity and Dispensary and the Cornell Clinic. Through the generosity of the Rockefeller Foundation, fellowships were granted twelve members of the faculty and staff as follows:

Miss Alice Maud Moffatt, Head of the Private Patients Building, for two weeks' visits to hospitals in Cincinnati, Chicago, Rochester, N. Y. and Boston.

Miss Verda Hickcox, Head of the Obstetrical and Gynecological Nursing Service, for three months' special study and observation in obstetrical and gynecological clinics in Baltimore, Cleveland, Chicago, Boston and Montreal.

Miss Theresa Sanman, Medical Supervisor, for eight months' study at Teachers College, Columbia University, and observation in clinics in St. Louis, Chicago, Minneapolis and Rochester, N. Y.

Miss Alice Marcella Fay, Supervisor of Children's Department, Payne Whitney Clinic, for five months' study at Teachers College, Columbia University, and observation in schools and clinics in Detroit, Philadelphia and Rochester, N. Y.

Miss Caroline E. Falls, Supervisor of the Out-Patient Department of the Payne Whitney Clinic, for seven months' study at Teachers College, Columbia University and observation in psychiatric clinics in New Haven, Worcester, Detroit, Chicago, Boston and Rochester, N. Y.

Miss Gertrude Boquist, Supervisor of Pediatric Nursing, for eight months' study at Teachers College, Columbia University, and observation in clinics in St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati and New York.

Miss Elizabeth Rogers, Supervisor of the Pediatric Out-Patient Department, for three months' study at the University of Chicago and observation in clinics in Chicago and Cincinnati.

Miss Esther Marie Anderson, Supervisor of the Medical Out-Patient Department, for ten weeks' study at the University of Minnesota and observation in clinics in New Haven, Cleveland, Boston and Rochester, New York.

Miss Anita Jones, Supervisor of the Obstetrical and Gynecological Out-Patient Department, for two weeks' observation at the Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Miss Margaret DeWitt, Assistant Supervisor of the General Operating Rooms, for three months' observation at clinics in Boston, Cincinnati, Detroit, Cleveland, Baltimore and New Haven.

Miss Helen Eilola, Head Nurse of the Obstetrical and Gynecological Isolation Pavilion, for one month's observation at clinics in Chicago, Providence and New Haven.

Miss Rita Ackhurst, Head Nurse of the Obstetrical and Gynecological Operating Rooms, for six weeks' observation in New York, Baltimore, Cleveland, and Chicago.

A staff of six to ten members worked on the field throughout the summer to make the necessary preparation for the opening of the hospital. Selection of equipment and its placement occupied much of their time. Efforts were also made to work out nursing procedures and techniques which would be acceptable in all the clinical departments, as far as possible standardizing these so that graduates and students passing from one department to another could orient themselves more easily thereby rendering service more satisfactorily. July 12th marked the opening of the nurses' residence for the occupancy of nine members of the staff. By the middle of August our numbers had been enlarged by the arrival of the head nurses and a few general staff nurses who assisted in the final set-up of the pavilions, clinics and operating rooms, and became acquainted with the routines for service. An interim clinic was opened on August 1st for a few patients in which service we participated.

September 1st, 1932, will long remain an outstanding day in our memories. At 7:30 A.M. a convocation of all graduates and students, in uniform, was held in the Medical School amphitheatre. The group was composed of many old friends but also of many strangers. It must have been difficult for the New York Hospital graduates and students to believe they were among their own; to feel as strangers and yet as hostesses; to feel at home in such a mammoth place after the intimacy of the old hospital: these were peculiar and unique experiences. Adjustments to a new service were necessary for all; changes in administrative policies had to be made; clinical techniques had to be revised; even the daily mode of living had to be modified. However, the common purpose of each one—to give good nursing care to our patients—bound us close together and that union of purpose has been so strong that outward manifestations of different ideas and ways of doing things have had little effect upon our determination for a unified service. In the four months that followed and closed the year, we have concentrated first upon the care of patients and while trying to establish that care upon a high standard have proceeded to develop the educational plans of the school. By October 1st all of the second and third year students had returned to the school; thirty-eight first year students had been admitted; twenty-six affiliating students were registered for obstetrics, representing six schools formerly affiliated with the Lying-In Hospital and the Manhattan Maternity and Dispensary, and thirty graduate nurses were matriculated for courses in obstetrics and gynecology, pediatrics and surgery.

The faculty of the school of nursing has been reorganized with the following standing committees:

The Executive and Curriculum Committees with sub-committees on Preclinical Subjects; Nursing Principles and Practice; Medical and Surgical Nursing; Obstetrical and Gynecological Nursing; Pediatric Nursing; Psychiatric Nursing; Out-Patient Department Instruction and Community Nursing. On these clinical committees are representatives of the medical faculties, social service and nutrition departments of the hospital.

The Committee on Library, Publications and Teaching Facilities.

The Committee on Records.

The Committee on Student and Staff Health.

The Committee on Student Extra-Curricular Activities.

The Committee on Staff Education with subcommittees for Staff Nurses', Head Nurses' and Supervisors' programs.

In December, the matriculation requirement of the school was raised to two years of college with elementary college chemistry as a prerequisite.

With a curriculum set-up in which eight months is devoted to pre-clinical subjects and introductory nursing, the faculty has worked out various plans to coordinate the theoretical study of the students with their nursing practice in which public health, community nursing and health education are emphasized.

The Out-Patient Department provides a rich field for the study of ambulatory patients and of the social and economic factors affecting health and illness. The Hospital Social Service Department has helped us generously in developing this part of our program. Of particular significance has been their assistance to us in the introduction of first year students to their clinical practice through the Out-Patient Department and by home visiting by which means we attempted to give students the patients' viewpoint of illness with its effect upon home life and also to have them approach illness through the normal life of the family.

We have requested the Henry Street Visiting Nurse Service to extend our affiliation so that each one of our students may have at least two months' home nursing practice as a required part of her course of study. An effective plan has been worked out with the Maternity Center Association in which our outside delivery service is carried by the nursing staff of that association and each of our students during her period of obstetrical out-patient practice has one week of observation of home maternity care under the tutelage and guidance of that staff.

We have felt that the courses of study for the second and third year students have been unfortunately interrupted and of less value to them, due to the unavoidable lack of organized service and instruction in the clinical departments during this period of transition. Their schedules have had to be rearranged and in many cases have been irregular. However, necessary requirements have been met and we anticipate that subsequent studies will make up any deficiencies. We wish to record our appreciation of their cooperation in adjusting themselves to these changed activities.

Early in the year Cornell University accredited the curriculum of our school to the extent of forty-five to sixty hours, the equivalent of one and a half to two academic years of college credit toward the Bachelor of Science degree for those students who may later matriculate at the New York State College of Home Economics, Cornell University, if they present all other necessary requirements.

As our graduate group represented many different hospital schools, in December eighty-six, consistent efforts have been made to acquaint all members of the staff with our various hospital departments and with all the many nursing procedures agreed upon by the different services. We fully realize the importance of having a standardized service upon which the administration and clinicians can depend and have been aware of our short-comings in this regard, which have been interpreted many times with generosity and leniency. The nursing manual has been revised and a review of all nursing procedures has been carried out for the whole graduate staff and student body with demonstrations and discussions of techniques.

In such a large group as ours living together in the nurses' residence we have felt the necessity of working out plans which would break down tendencies to institutionalism in order to build up a home-like atmosphere with normal social and recreational life. This has been a particularly difficult problem due to the many different types of individuals who are required to share equally the responsibility of constructive and reciprocal home life—some of whom find it irksome, some of whom are indifferent to its usefulness. Notwithstanding, an esprit de corps has been established largely through the concerted efforts of the students and graduates with the whole-hearted support of the director of the residence and her assistants and the members of the nutrition and housekeeping departments.

The following comparative statistics indicate the required enlargement of the staff:

A student organization is being developed and is concentrating its efforts upon the establishment of the honor system as it applies to professional and social life, and is advising with the faculty in all problems of discipline. Definite plans for social and recreational activities have been made and budgeted by the organization. The graduates likewise are making efforts to develop similar activities which may be enjoyed by all. The lack of an outdoor playground has been a serious limitation in providing accessible and necessary outdoor exercise for the group. Through the generosity of the Lenox Hill Neighborhood

* Includes first year students. Three students withdrew during the year. These figures do not include the housekeeping or dietary staff of the hospital or nurses' residence.

Association the use of their playground has been made possible for a limited time; their swimming pool has been made available through the interests of the student organization. We feel that these healthful outdoor and indoor recreational activities are very essential in maintaining for the nurse normal habits of living; because of the very nature of her work they are peculiarly needful. We trust that in time facilities may be more abundantly and permanently established.

The activities of our health service have centered in the establishment of routine physical examinations for all students and graduates with required vaccination against typhoid and smallpox, Schick and Dick tests with immunization for positive Schick tests. Illness has been greater than anticipated with the usual high incidence of colds and influenza which took the proportion of a mild epidemic at Christmas time. The infirmary was opened on December 21st, 1932, and has proven a source of great satisfaction in the care of those not acutely ill. Following are morbidity statistics for the staff and students:

The interest and cooperation of the alumnae in the new hospital has been manifested constantly. The fall meeting of the association was held in the nurses' residence with a brief address by Mr. Sheldon, the guest of honor. A visit through the buildings acquainted some of them for the first time with the new home of their alma mater; their attention and interest centering in the alumnae room in which has been hung the beautiful portrait of Miss Sutcliffe. They have expressed their deep appreciation of this room set aside for their purposes and which we hope will be used frequently by them.

The privilege of bus service for the special nurses assigned in the hospital has facilitated greatly the transportation to and from the club and is enjoyed by many nurses daily.

With the memories of the excellent care given their membership at the old hospital quite naturally the alumnae have been solicitous regarding the accommodations to be allowed them in the new hospital. One of the alumnae was admitted on the opening day and since that time some one of the group has been under treatment and care constantly and for which they have indicated their satisfaction and gratitude. Morbidity statistics for the alumnae are as follows:

	Jan 1 to Aug. 31	Sept. 1 to Dec. 31	Total
Days of Hospitalization.....	222	103	325

It is with deep regret and sorrow we record the deaths of three alumnae:

Miss Annie A. Taylor, class of 1890

Miss Sarah J. Mackenzie, class of 1892

Miss Floy Seymour, class of 1926

To attempt to record our appreciation of the loyalty, help and support from our many associates and colleagues seems quite a futile task and would be very inadequate and incommensurate to the benefits we have received. In closing this report however we wish to express our particular appreciation to the Board of Governors in making possible and in supporting at this critical economic period a progressive plan for our school and service; to the clinical staff for their assistance in developing our curriculum, in the instruction of our students and in the considerate and excellent care of many of our group; and to the administrative officers and staffs for their constructive criticism and cooperation in the development of our work.

We trust that the coming year may produce a more satisfactory and unified service in which even greater confidence may be placed and from which more fruitful results may be obtained.

Respectfully submitted,

ANNA D. WOLF,

and Director of the Nursing Service.*

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT OF THE NEW YORK HOSPITAL

To the President and Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I submit to you the twentieth Annual Report of the work done by the Social Service Committee and Sub-Committees during the past year.

Some of our annual statistics show a falling off as compared with those of the previous year, owing to the partial interruption in the work which occurred during the interval between the closing of the old hospital and the opening of the new.

The Social Service Staff was much occupied, during the final weeks at the old hospital, in making arrangements, with the advice of the doctors, for the transfer of patients to other Clinics. We therefore feel that our old patients were not left without supervision.

The work of the Social Service Department was organized as rapidly as possible in the new hospital, and although our Staff was not increased our social service workers were called upon to cover a larger number of clinics. In consequence, much that we would like to achieve must be left to the future. The members of the Staff are happy and interested in the work in the new hospital, and are profiting by and enjoying the space and privacy of their new offices. They are meeting with cooperation on every side.

We desire to express our especial appreciation of the help given by the Medical Director, Dr. G. Canby Robinson, who has appointed a Medical Social Service Committee, and who has asked the Director of the Social Service to serve on the Executive Staff of the New York Hospital. The importance of the work of the Social Service in the hospital has thus been enhanced.

On the first of September a gift-shop, conducted for the benefit of the Social Service Department was opened with Mrs. Julia Cunningham in charge. This venture was suggested and started by Mrs. Cornelius Bliss, with the help of Mrs. William Woodward and Mrs. Michael Gavin. Later on a committee was formed. Mrs. Malcolm Goodridge accepted the chairmanship, with Mrs. Paul Dineen as Vice-Chairman and Miss Louise Scott as Treasurer. The devoted and splendid work of this Committee has ensured the success of the undertaking. We also appreciate the interest shown by the Governors, the Superintendent, Mr. John Howard, as well as the cooperation accorded by the hospital personnel.

Much to our regret Mrs. R. Horace Gallatin resigned as Treasurer of the Social Service Committee, after ten years of service. Mrs. Michael Gavin was elected to succeed her. Miss Beatrice Gawtry resigned at the end of the year as Chairman of the Library Committee and her place was taken by her able assistant, Miss Ryan. We are much indebted to the Library Committee for the work accomplished during the past year.

Mrs. W. Goadby Loew, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, arranged and carried through a most successful entertainment on December 1st, the net profits of which amounted to more than $4,400.

On the first of December Miss Celia Robinson was appointed Chairman of Volunteers. By the first of the year Miss Robinson had registered forty volunteers under her direction. They assist the clinic aides, they work in the patients' library, gift-shop and laboratories. Their hours of service equal eight full-time workers. Miss Robinson's ability and constant supervision have made this service possible. We are most grateful to her and to her volunteers who have given so generously of themselves.

Mrs. Payne Whitney gave the usual annual successful fair at Manhasset for the benefit of the Milk Fund. The milk to be dispensed through the Social Service to needy children.

Relations between the School of Nursing and the Social Service Department promise to be close and valuable. The Director of Social Service serves as advisor on the Committee on Instruction of Nurses, Graduate and Undergraduate, in the Out-Patients' Department.

The director has been asked by the School of Nursing to aid in field work for the Student Nurses so that the latter may obtain some knowledge of the home conditions and gain as comprehensive a picture as possible, of the patient. This work has already begun.

At a meeting of the Social Service Committee early in December, it was voted that a new worker be engaged for six months on half-time, to assist in teaching the student nurses, that worker to be financed by the Social Service Committee. The importance of this educational work was felt to warrant this additional expense.

Mrs. Hitzrot, having resigned as Chairman of the Sewing and Supply Committee, Mrs. Charles Farr was appointed to succeed her.

Mrs. Watson B. Dickerman was appointed Chairman of a Committee to assist in the care of children in the Cardiac Clinic.

Mrs. G. Morton Whitman has kept our clothes closet supplied with new and partially worn garments, including blankets. Our own members and friends have also contributed. To the Needlework Guild of America we are again indebted for one hundred articles of clothing.

Mrs. Scoville Treadwell, as Chairman of the Visiting and Information Committee, has secured for us valuable information which has been very helpful in solving some of our problems.

From the Havens Relief Fund we received a much appreciated donation which tided many self-respecting persons over their more immediate difficulties.

It is still necessary to give emergency relief to the sick poor of the hospital, but every effort is being made to keep our patients in touch with the various community organizations.

At least once every month the Social Service Staffs of the Lying-In Hospital and of the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Units are invited to meet our own Staff. Such contacts are always helpful.

Respectfully submitted,

ELSIE C. WOODWARD,

Chairman of the Social Service Committee.

BLOOMINGDALE HOSPITAL—WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.

REPORT OF THE GENERAL PSYCHIATRIC DIRECTOR

To the Board of Governors:

GENTLEMEN:—The following is the annual report of the General Psychiatric Director for the year ending December 31, 1932:—

The outstanding event of the year in the psychiatric activities of the Society was the opening of the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic of New York Hospital on October first. By the end of the year 67 patients had been admitted, 25 discharged, and there were remaining under treatment 42 patients, of which 7 were children.

As a psychopathic department of a general hospital, the Clinic may be operated under the provision of Section 78 of Article V of the State Mental Hygiene Law. Patients are admitted without other formalities than those required for admission to other departments of New York Hospital. It is necessary, however, in the admission of patients, to exercise care to avoid legal complications. Consideration must also be given to the necessity of maintaining a suitable environment for group as well as individual treatment of the various types of patients, children and adults, received. The Clinic is not, as yet, widely known to the medical profession and the public. It is, therefore, gratifying to note that, notwithstanding this and the limitations referred to, the number of adult patients under treatment at present writing, is about half of the total for which there are accommodations. It may be expected that within a few weeks the Clinic will be in full operation, except, perhaps the children's department, which is a new type of provision and will probably not develop rapidly.

The out-patient service of the Clinic is a continuation of that which has been conducted at New York Hospital since 1924, and of the Cornell Medical College psychiatric out-patient service, which was established in 1914, and was the first in New York City to be connected with a medical college. The service at New York Hospital was established and conducted by the physicians of Bloomingdale Hospital. Not the least of its accomplishments was the introduction of a regular visiting and consulting psychiatric service for the medical and surgical departments of New York Hospital, both for patients in the hospital and out-patients. This service was discontinued on July 30th when New York Hospital was temporarily closed. When, with the opening of the new hospital and medical college, out-patient service was resumed, there was, however, available a large group of experienced psychiatrists who had already been engaged in out-patient psychiatric work at New York Hospital, or at Cornell Medical College, and, in some instances, at both. Many of the patients who had previously been under treatment by these physicians returned, and the service started off quite actively, and has quickly grown to large proportions. In fact, it is apparently the largest single psychiatric out-patient service in the city. Mutually advantageous co-operative relations have been established with the other outpatient services of New York Hospital. The out-patient service for children is located in close proximity to the department of pediatrics, with which it has established active collaboration. A novel feature of this service is a nursery school where young children who present problems, are kept under observation and treatment for several hours daily. Unfortunately, the children's service, being a new form of undertaking for the Society, will probably suffer most from the financial stringency that so generally prevails, and may have to be temporarily suspended.

The Clinic building seems to be adequate for the activities thus far undertaken. As expected, it provides a relatively safe, inviting, comfortable, quiet, well equipped and well organized hospital for the study and treatment of the sensitive, apprehensive, disheartened, disordered, and sick personalities for which it was designed. It has also opened the way to a great advance in psychiatric education in connection with Cornell University. The time allotted to psychiatry in the medical curriculum has been more than doubled. The times are, however, not favorable for the undertaking of scientific investigation for which funds are required. The laboratories of the Clinic are, as yet, mostly unoccupied.

At Bloomingdale Hospital no major development has been undertaken during the year. Various renovations have, however, been made, and the water supply has been improved. The prevailing financial depression has necessitated rigid economic adjustments, and it is remarkable how well these have been accomplished without perceptible effect on the standards of study and treatment of the patients. Much attention is evidently given to the utilization and conservation of present resources to the fullest possible extent. The morale of the personnel has also been sustained. It is also a time for thoughtful planning, and Dr. Raynor has discussed several important projects in his annual report.

Further planning in the psychiatric work of the Society may now be on broader and more diversified lines than heretofore. Cooperative relations between Bloomingdale Hospital and Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic are established and will, no doubt, be extended. Many patients who apply to the Clinic for examination and advice, or who may be under treatment at the Clinic, or convalescing, will be referred to Bloomingdale Hospital with a view to the superior facilities of the Hospital for more prolonged treatment than can be undertaken by the Clinic. The advantages that would follow a development for the study and treatment of children, which Dr. Raynor has referred to in his report, would be shared in by the children's department of the Clinic. The relationships between the two branches open the way to strengthening and extending the work of both, in clinical service, and in educational and scientific activities.

The scope and character of the psychiatric work of the Society have been greatly advanced by the new developments. It is now carried on in closer relations than heretofore with all other forms of medical work, and a long step forward has been made towards a broader community service in the study and treatment of mental disorders at their early stages and in their prevention.

I am again indebted to the Director of New York Hospital-Cornell Medical College Association, to the Superintendent and to the Psychiatrist-in-Chief of New York Hospital, and to the Medical Director of Bloomingdale Hospital for much aid and many courtesies. To your Honorable Board and to the Committee on Bloomingdale Hospital I am glad to have again an opportunity to express my appreciation of their constant encouragement and support.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM L. RUSSELL,
General Psychiatric Director.

* Refers to previous admission to any hospital for mental disorders.

† Not included in admissions or discharges.

The number of patients treated has varied little during the past few years, 547 in 1931 and 534 in 1932. The number of cases admitted was 261 in 1931, and 231 in 1932. The number discharged was 269. During 1932 fewer patients were admitted and a greater number were discharged. As a consequence the census was lower than usual.

The number of applications and inquiries exclusive of those accepted was 503.

ADMISSIONS

Of the 231 cases admitted, 93 were men and 138 were women. Five patients were admitted twice during the year.

The diagnosis table is, as in previous years, in accordance with the classification adopted by the American Psychiatric Association:

The types of cases received were not unlike those of recent years. The number of cases of organic brain disease amounted to 4.7 per cent of the total admissions.

Thirty-eight of the patients admitted had received treatment at the Hospital on one or more previous occasions, and 68 had received treatment in other institutions. One hundred and forty-one, 60 per cent of the admissions, presented histories of mental symptoms for less than one year.

The average age of the patients admitted was 39 for the men and 38 for the women. Twenty patients were under 20 years of age; 76, or 33 per cent, were under 30; and 135, or 58 per cent of the total admissions, were under 40.

Seventy-one of the patients admitted had been educated in colleges or universities, and 93 in high schools.

The occupations of the patients admitted were principally professional and commercial. Fifty-five women were self-supporting. The remaining women were supported by their husbands or fathers who were either business or professional men.

Eighty-five per cent of the patients admitted made their own applications. This is in accordance with our experience of previous years. One patient who came to the Hospital under commitment later signed his own application as a voluntary patient. The policy that has been followed has been to resort to legal restriction only when it is clearly required to protect the patient and to furnish legal authority for detention that could not properly be dispensed with. In 14 cases it became necessary to place under commitment patients who had been received in the Hospital as voluntary cases.

DISCHARGES

The total number of patients discharged was 269 of whom 108 were men and 161 were women. Of this number 47 were fully recovered; 58 were much improved; and 107 improved. These 212 patients constituted 78 per cent of the total number discharged. Thirty-six were discharged without having improved. A number of the latter as well as those transferred to other institutions were cases which had been in the Hospital for a considerable period of time and were, in accordance with the policy of the Hospital, removed to make room for new admissions, or were cases received for examination and study for the purpose of advising their relatives in regard to their future care and treatment. Eighteen were transferred to other institutions. Three, 0.5 per cent of the total number of patients treated, died.

The average period of treatment in the Hospital of those who were discharged as recovered was 11 months and 17 days; and of those improved 9 months and 17 days. Seventeen of the recovered cases had been in the Hospital a year or more, 4 for more than two years, 2 for more than three years, and 1 for over four years. This group of patients who were in the Hospital more than one year is unusually large; of those who recovered and were in the Hospital not more than 2 years, the average period of treatment was 9 months and 11 days. This period is similar to our experience of other years.

At the close of the year 56 who had left the hospital during the year were still carried on visit. Most of these patients kept in touch with the physicians by visits to White Plains or to the New York Hospital. The visits of former patients to the New York Hospital were 202, and to Bloomingtondale Hospital 309. This service is of great value to the patients in aiding them to complete their adjustments outside of the Hospital and to seek early advice in the event of any unfavorable symptoms. This service to our patients on visit as well as former patients has been furnished without charge. It consumes considerable of the time and adds much to the work of the physicians. Further organization of this work is advisable and to the advantage of both the patient and the Hospital.

CLINICAL SERVICE

Regular staff conferences are held four days each week at which patients with their case records are presented for study and consideration.

Each week the Monday Evening Meeting is held. Topics of scientific interest, special studies, and current literature are presented for discussion. For these meetings regular programs are prepared and followed. These seminars are most helpful and have contributed to the maintenance of the usual high standards in the clinical service.

Three times during the year conferences were held to which outside physicians were invited. The following programs, of interest to the physicians in general practice, were prepared for these meetings: "Mental Symptoms in Cases of Brain Tumors;" "Mental Illness Accompanying Epidemic Encephalitis," and "The Neurasthenic Syndrome as seen in Various Mental Illnesses."

The medical staff in addition to their regular duties devoted considerable time to the Out-Patient Department of the New York Hospital; to the educational work of the Hospital; and to consultations with patients who return to the Hospital or to our office at the New York Hospital for professional advice. These visits this year amounted to 105 more than in 1931. This increase may in part be accounted for by the fact that friends removed patients from the Hospital sooner than advised by our physicians. This necessitated their seeking advice more frequently than would otherwise have been necessary.

Members of the medical staff made addresses, and read and published papers as follows:

Dr. Raynor: The Psychiatric Approach of the Practitioner to his Patient, before the New York Academy of Medicine;

Dr. Hamilton: Present Trends in the Building of Mental Hospitals, published in The Modern Hospital, Sept. 1932;

Selection of Inspectors by Instruction and Training in Practical Service, read at the meeting of the American Public Welfare Association and National Conference of Social Work, published in The Social Service Review, Sept. 1932;

Dr. Henry: Mental Phenomena Observed in Cases of Brain Tumor, presented to the American Psychiatric Association, published in the American Journal of Psychiatry, Vol. 12, Nov. 1932.

Drs. Henry and Jameison: Mental Aspects of Brain Tumors in Psychotic Patients. A Study of Twenty-six Verified Cases, presented at a joint meeting of the Academy of Medicine, Section on Neurology and Psychiatry, and the New York Neurological Society.

Drs. Jameison and Wall: Some Psychiatric Aspects of Suicide, read before the New York Psychiatric Society.

Drs. Allen and Henry: The Relation of Menstruation to Personality Disorders, presented before the American Psychiatric Association.

Dr. Hill: Hallucinations in Psychoses, presented to the American Psychiatric Association.

Studies into the application of psychoanalysis to the treatment of the severe neuroses and psychoses continued throughout the year.

The visiting internists from the New York Hospital examined all newly admitted patients, all patients developing physical illnesses during their Hospital residence, and saw them on subsequent visits, and examined all X-ray films. The visiting gynecologist examined all newly admitted women patients, and the visiting urologist from the New York Hospital examined all newly admitted men patients; each upon subsequent visits saw those patients who required further attention from them. With the facilities of the new clinics available it became possible through Dr. Knight and Dr. Moriarty to provide for the routine and follow-up examinations of the eyes and ears, nose and throat, of all newly admitted patients. The regular attendance of the visiting physicians has been of great assistance in maintaining standards in the medical work of the Hospital. It is a pleasure to again express appreciation of the cooperation of the administrative clinical, and laboratory staffs of the New York Hospital in dealing with various problems, and the kindly and skillful attention received by patients and employees who have been transferred to the New York Hospital for examination and treatment.

The consulting specialists have been called upon constantly and have responded promptly and furnished skillful service which has been of great advantage to the individual patients and the standards of the Hospital. As in previous years the Hospital has relied principally upon Dr. J. Fielding Black of White Plains for the general surgical work. He made 207 visits to patients during the year. Dr. Robert B. Hammond has given all anaesthetics required.

The surgical work required by patients during the year included 11 major and 27 minor operations; 14 tonsillectomies and adenoidectomies; 3 transfusions; operations for the removal of impacted teeth under general anaesthesia in 25 patients; and application of 7 casts. All the members of the visiting and consulting staffs have been most attentive and when circumstances required, have given their services with little or no charge. The total number of their visits to the Hospital was 613. Patients visited the private offices of specialists 34 times.

Dietary Department In addition to preparing in a most satisfactory manner the regular meals for patients and hospital personnel, this Department contributed directly in an important way to the treatment facilities of the Hospital. Special diets were prepared in the diet kitchen which is under the immediate charge of a trained dietitian. During the year a daily average of 315 portions were prepared for 61 patients. These varied from individual portions to complete meals and were prescribed by physicians for medical reasons.

Psychiatric Out-Patient Clinic at the New York Hospital This report is for the first seven months of the year. The Clinic closed July 30th and on September 1st it joined with the Cornell Psychiatric Clinic, and opened as the Psychiatric Out-Patient Department of the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic of the New York Hospital.

The New York Hospital opened in 1791 and from the first it maintained a psychiatric service at the Hospital until the opening of Bloomingtondale Hospital in 1821. For the next 103 years, or until 1924, the physicians from Bloomingtondale Hospital saw cases in consultation on the wards whenever requested. In April 1924 the Bloomingtondale Hospital staff opened a psychiatric clinic in connection with the general Out-Patient Department of the New York Hospital. Two physicians, assisted by a part-time visiting nurse, held a clinic two days each week. The nine and one-half months of that year, 119 new patients were seen. Of this number half were referred to it either from other clinics of the Out-Patient Department, or from the Hospital wards. The need of the clinic became apparent from the first, both from within the Hospital and from the community, and it steadily grew. Cases were referred from the courts, particularly the Children's Court, social agencies, and physicians in practice in the vicinity. In 1926 with the appointment of Dr. Russell as General Psychiatric Director of the Society, through whose efforts the Clinic was established, the Clinic passed out of the control of the Medical Director of Bloomngdale Hospital to the General Psychiatric Director. In 1927 the service was enlarged to provide for a psychiatrist from Bloomngdale Hospital to spend one day a week on the wards. Additional visits were made to the wards by physicians attending the New York office whenever requested. In 1928 Dr. Henry was appointed on the teaching staff of Cornell Medical College and yearly, in the Clinic and on the wards of the Hospital he gave an elective course in psychiatry. In 1929 Dr. Henry read a paper entitled "Some Modern Aspects of Psychiatry in General Hospital Practice" before the American Psychiatric Association, which was published in the American Journal of Psychiatry in the same year. The paper was in part based on his work on the wards of the New York Hospital. The same year, in his report to the Board of Governors, the President of the Medical Board of the New York Hospital said in part:

"The psychiatrists have recently taught us much. . . . So far they have analyzed for the most part cases after operative failures and, although these cases have not been numerous, they have demonstrated that the mind may be the dominating diseased feature, and cannot be cured by the removal of appendix, thyroid or tubes. Their advice and friendly criticism have been an added incentive to careful study and observation of cases before operation, and while undue delay is not recommended, it is obvious that the ward patient should be surrounded by the same protective barriers as the private patient and should be subjected to operation only after the most thorough study, and weighing of the indications."

In May 1930 the Clinic opened in the evenings for two sessions a week. Originally Bloomngdale Hospital provided all of the medical service for the Clinic. With the increase and widening of the service of the Clinic, other physicians were appointed on the staff but the Bloomngdale staff continued to carry the burden of the work. Dr. Henry acted as Director of the Clinic since its opening except for two periods of one year each when Drs. Allen and Sprague respectively directed the work. The personnel also increased to include two social workers, a psychologist, and a clerk. With the opening of the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic, the administration of the Out-Patient Clinic passed to it from the Bloomngdale staff which, however, will continue to provide a number of highly competent psychiatrists for its staff.

While statistics can not adequately show the progress of the work of the Clinic, it is worth noting that the new patients examined each year increased as follows: 1924- 119; 1925- 144; 1926- 416; 1927- 437; 1928- 496; 1929- 606; 1930- 601; 1931- 631. The patients seen on the wards reached a maximum number of 149.

During the seven months of this year the Clinic was in operation, 395 new patients applied to the Clinic, of whom 389 were examined. There were 1041 revisits to the Clinic, making a total of 1430 cases seen. A statistical report is appended.

Employees Clinic The physicians in attendance at the Clinic have continued to examine all new employees, and to treat all cases of injuries and sickness. The student nurses receive four physical examinations during their course. During the year 884 persons visited the Clinic 2108 times. There were 210 physical examinations and 61 X-rays for employees, and a considerable number of preventive treatments against typhoid fever, diphtheria, small-pox, etc. In addition to the above, 163 patients were treated in bed. The visiting and consulting specialists examined many cases and several were referred to general hospitals for treatment.

Dental Department There has been no change in the Dental Department during the year. Dr. Sniffen has continued in charge and has kept his department on a high level of service to the patients. Dr. Sniffen is assisted by a dental hygienist and a chair assistant. All new patients are given a prophylactic treatment; X-rays are taken of all teeth; and the teeth are examined in connection with the reading of the films, a report of which is filed in each patient's case record. The number of new patients examined was 202 and 183 other patients were examined in accordance with the periodical system of examinations made of all patients. The total number of times patients were seen in the dental office and on the halls was 3203. The total number of operations and dental procedures was 4905. A statistical report is appended.

LABORATORIES

During the year there was no special change in the amount or variety of work done in the clinical and X-ray laboratories. Dr. Kindwall was appointed Associate Director of Laboratories and arrangements were made for him to take intensive courses of study in the laboratories of the New York Hospital, and on the wards with Drs. Cussler and Roper. Upon his return to the Hospital at the completion of his studies he will combine the duties of Director of the Laboratories and Resident Internist. This arrangement will more completely integrate the medical work of the Hospital. A statistical report of the work of the laboratories is appended.

THE NURSING SERVICE

Miss Eloise Shields assumed the duties of Director of Nursing in January. Miss Shields who is a graduate of this School, returns to the Hospital not only with the traditional high standards of psychiatric nursing of the Hospital but also with a broad background of nursing education and a wide experience in nursing administration. The reorganization of the nursing service and school and a restudy of nursing procedures have continued throughout the year. In practical nursing the procedures have been studied on the basis of comfort, safety, and therapeutic effect for the patient, economy of time and materials for the nurse and hospital. Adaptations of the same procedure to various types of mental patients and to the techniques of the affiliating schools have been made.

OCCUPATIONAL AND PHYSICAL THERAPY DEPARTMENTS

Occupational Therapy is one of the most valuable therapeutic measures available to the Hospital. The Hospital is fortunate in having two well planned and equipped buildings in which to carry on this form of treatment. All patients, their condition permitting, go to these special buildings for regular periods each day. For those patients who are unable to go to the special buildings, definite hours are arranged when the personnel of these Departments visit the halls. The facilities at Sturgis Hall were enlarged by connecting with the metal shop, a room formerly used as a store room, to be used as a studio. There are few patients who do not have the advantage of this form of treatment. The total number of patients treated during the year was 479, of whom 210 were men and 269 were women. This number constitutes 90 per cent of the total patients treated at the Hospital. Gardening and other outdoor occupations, such as care of the lawns, game fields and courts, were engaged in, in addition to the arts and crafts. Many of the patients carried on as hobbies, and a few as a means of support after leaving the Hospital, crafts in which they were trained while under treatment in the Hospital. It is found that the actual accomplishment of some worth while piece of work gives the best results in this form of treatment.

Instruction in Occupational Therapy was given to 105 students of whom 96 were nurses and 9 were students taking the course of training for occupational therapists. There were 7 visiting instructors who came for advice on specific problems.

Both Men's and Women's Physical Education Departments have been active during the year. Organized physical recreation and rehabilitation have continued throughout the year on a high plane, especially during the winter because of the resources provided for by the gymnasias. Individual attention in recreations and corrective exercises have been freely given whenever the need presented itself.

These Departments have also been in charge of the entertainments and organized social life of the patients. The maintenance of a suitable social environment and well directed social and recreational contacts with opportunities for participation in events is essential to treatment which is aimed to bring about social adjustment. This is regarded as one of the very important features of the therapeutic resources of the Hospital.

The total number of patients enrolled in the Departments of Physical Education was 383, of whom 179 were men and 204 were women. Details of the activities of these Departments may be found in the appended tables.

Instruction in the employment of physical exercises, games and sports, and social entertainments, in the treatment of the sick, was given to 85 student nurses.

The resources of the Departments were made available to the employees of the Hospital and were used extensively.

Massage, hydrotherapy, and other forms of physiotherapy were employed. The total number of treatments given were 36,698. The table at the end of this report will show both the variety of treatments and the number of patients receiving these various treatments.

YORK LODGE

York Lodge, a large cottage with generous grounds and a bathing beach, is located at the foot of Rushmore Avenue, Orienta Point, Mamaroneck. The Cottage accommodates 12 patients. It has a spacious lounging room, a reading and writing room, a broad porch and attached bath houses. On the grounds are a tennis court and provision for outdoor games. A large recreation room for indoor games and dancing is available for use in inclement weather. The homelike atmosphere, the relaxation and pleasure derived from salt water bathing and the seashore, have contributed a great deal to the improvement of many patients. York Lodge is available to patients from the Hospital from late in the Spring until early in the Fall. Stated periods are allotted to men and to women. It is also available during the winter months by special arrangement. Patients while at York Lodge continue under the treatment of physicians and nurses of the Hospital medical and nursing staffs. A total of 51 patients enjoyed the benefits of the Lodge during the summer. In addition parties of patients visited York Lodge each day but Sunday. Lunch was served on the veranda and the patients had opportunity to go in swimming. There were 87 day parties providing 733 outings for 193 patients. The patients enjoyed these outings very much. York Lodge contributed a great deal to the pleasure of the patients and may be looked upon as one of the treatment resources of the Hospital.

EDUCATIONAL WORK

The educational work carried on at the Hospital continues to merit some comment and is important enough to refer to each year. This very important part of the work done at the Hospital is directed to the training of physicians, nurses, occupational therapists, physical education aides, dietitians, and housekeepers. Aside from three instructors employed in the Nursing Department solely for teaching, all the educational work is carried on by the physicians and directors and their assistants of departments in connection with their regular duties in the treatment of patients and the administration of the Hospital. The advantages to the services of the Hospital are very great in building up and maintaining standards. The time is looked forward to when this work can be better organized and receive definite support.

Two positions on the medical staff are available to physicians, meeting the requirements, for study and training in psychiatry. One physician is pursuing studies at the New York Hospital and in the X-ray and Clinical Laboratory Departments. Since the opening of the new New York Hospital and its association with the Medical College of Cornell University, eight members of the medical staff have given a half day each week to the Out-Patient Department of the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic. Four of these physicians are engaged in teaching medical students in the Clinic. The Medical Director is Professor of Clinical Psychiatry at the Medical College and Consultant in Psychiatry to the New York Hospital. During the first half of the year Dr. George W. Henry, Assistant Professor of Psychiatry, gave instruction to medical

The four staff conferences held weekly at which cases are presented, the Monday evening conferences for the discussion of scientific subjects and the review of current literature, and the conferences held with the visiting and consulting staffs, all have an educational value to the physicians. An excellent medical library is kept up to date with new books and files of important periodicals. Likewise a special library is maintained for the nursing staff. Periodicals and books are provided for the other departments.

The School of Nursing is registered by the Regents of the University of the State of New York. All graduates are eligible for the qualification of R. N. granted by the Regents. The course is of three years' duration, fifteen months of which are spent by the women at the New York Hospital, and twelve months by the men at Grasslands Hospital. This year 179 students received instruction, of whom 78 were undergraduate students, 76 affiliated students, and 25 postgraduates. One student was awarded the Floyd-Jones Scholarship in nursing education. The educational level of the students has risen. Notwithstanding the apparent over-supply of general nurses there continues to be a shortage of well trained psychiatric nurses.

The Westchester Central School of Nursing in which the White Plains Hospital, the New Rochelle Hospital, and the Mount Vernon Hospital have united with Bloomingtondale Hospital in the employment of two highly qualified instructors, is conducted in the Nurses Educational Building of the Hospital. No charge is made for the use of the building and its equipment. One hundred and fifteen students were enrolled this year. For further details the report of the School of Nursing which is appended, may be referred to.

In the Department of Dietetics, 48 students were given instruction. Four were student dietitians, and 44 were nurses. This instruction was both theoretical in the diet laboratory and practical in the special diet kitchen.

Six women and one man occupational therapists took the special course in Occupational Therapy offered by the Hospital. The Departments of Occupational Therapy also gave instruction to 96 nurses in training in the Hospital.

The educational work of the Hospital has been carried on over a number of years. It has increased each year and has demonstrated its value to the Hospital and the community.

IMPROVEMENTS IN PLANT AND EQUIPMENT

The bathing hot water line was renewed this year, with brass pipe purchased last year, at a cost of $4,315.94.

A chlorinating plant was installed to treat the water from all the wells at a cost of $978.58.

Seven additional wells were driven on the west side of the property. These wells will greatly augment our water supply. A concrete reservoir to hold 70,000 gallons, a pump house and pressure tank with a capacity of 7,650 gallons, were built in the enclosure and immediately west of the power house. This work will be completed next year. At the close of the year $5501.53 had been expended on the work.

Walks were renewed on both the Men's and Women's grounds at a cost of $800.

The surgery on Hall One Women was renovated and furnished for a hair dressing room at a cost of $608.20.

The Women's Hydrotherapy was renovated at a cost of $793.66.

Trees were planted inside the fence along both sides of Bryant Avenue and along Mamaroneck Avenue from the bridge to the gate house; foundation planting was completed at all of the buildings constructed last year, at a total cost of $2,827.94.

The Hospital presented 75 trees to the City of White Plains for planting along Bryant and Mamaroneck Avenues.

The greenhouse roof was repaired at a cost of $652.71.

The older buildings were reappraised for the purpose of adjusting the insurance.

A number of halls were repainted; drinking fountains were installed in Brown Villa; and the former dental office was renovated and put in use as a nurses' library.

NEEDS

A discussion of the needs of the Hospital this year is important in view of the prevailing economic situation. Reorganization of some of the Hospital services has been made. The study of the organization will be continued and every effort will be made to reduce Hospital expenses without lowering the standards of care and treatment of patients. Special funds should be provided for certain activities of the Hospital which ought not to be a direct charge on the income derived from the care of patients. These will be referred to further on in the report. It is desirable that the number of patients admitted to the Hospital be increased and thereby augment the Hospital income. Certain of the overhead fixed charges would be apportioned over a greater number of patients and the relative cost to the Hospital would be reduced.

In considering the needs of the Hospital they may be looked upon as those which are required to modernize both the accommodations and the equipment; to round out the facilities which have not yet been fully provided for; to provide for continued development to meet the needs of the community; and to continue the scientific and educational work of the Hospital.

Both the men and women patients now have to use the Women's Hydrotherapy which is inadequate for the women alone. As a consequence the work of the Hydrotherapy Department has had to be seriously curtailed. It is recommended that means be found to provide for these necessary improvements.

It is recommended that the renovation, rewiring, and refurnishing of the halls be continued until completed.

Funds are needed for relocating the general library and enlarging the medical library.

The halls in the main building could with advantage be reduced in capacity. Rooms on each hall are needed for examining rooms, nurses' offices, and private baths. To provide for this improvement additional cottages would have to be constructed. This would also provide increased facilities for classification, which is desirable.

There continues to be a considerable need for extensive renewals occasioned by depreciation. The bakery is in need of renovation and a new oven. Much of the laundry machinery should be replaced. The pond is gradually filling up and should be cleaned out. The use of pond water for the boilers and laundry results in a considerable saving to the Hospital.

The work of making a comprehensive study of the grounds for the purpose of laying out additional walks and roads, relocating the golf course, and providing more game fields is desirable and should be considered. This study should also include the study of sites for projected buildings.

The tentative programs submitted to the Bloomingdale Committee in 1927 and 1928 of the developments to meet present and future needs of the Hospital are again referred to for consideration.

It is anticipated that with the completion of the new psychiatric clinic in New York City, there will be increased demands upon the service of the Hospital. It appears desirable that a study of the needs at Bloomingdale Hospital be made to provide for other necessary improvements and to anticipate future needs and growth.

A house for men nurses is much needed.

It seems highly desirable that the group of houses for the nursing staff of which the Student Nurses House is the first, be completed. It is believed that these houses would do much toward stabilizing our nursing staff. Rooms on some of the halls continue to be occupied by nurses. The release of this space for additional patients and for examining and treatment rooms would be of advantage.

Cottages for the treatment of cases of early and mild neuroses, also for the study and treatment of unstable and problem children, are developments which should be given additional study.

The Bloomingdale Committee is conversant with the many needs of the Hospital which have not been specifically mentioned in this report. Appropriations have been promptly made by your Board when recommended by the Committee. Constant effort has been made to maintain the entire plant in such condition that the services of the Hospital would not be impaired. The continued maintenance of the service of the Hospital requires that the demands of progress in the medical sciences generally and in psychiatry in particular be met and kept abreast of.

Wherever a high plane of medical service is maintained there will be found physicians who by temperament, ability, and interest, are qualified and eager to carry on serious studies and to conduct research into the more obscure problems of their work. A review of the reports of the Hospital will show the gradual improvement of the medical service at Bloomingdale and that each year more serious studies have been made and presented before scientific societies. These studies have been published and accepted favorably by the profession. It therefore seems desirable that special Residents in Psychiatry be provided for and established to further stimulate and develop this very important work.

The need for funds especially provided to carry on the educational work of the Hospital, including the School of Nursing, and to make possible more intensive and liberal training of members of the medical staff, is worthy of serious consideration. It would appear that these necessary and important activities of the Hospital ought to be carried on independently of the maintenance charges of the Hospital.

There has been a gradual increase in the funds required to assist those patients who are unable to meet the cost in whole or in part of their treatment. It has been the tradition of the Hospital for more than the century of its existence that no person, otherwise suitable, be refused admission because of temporary lack of funds, if accommodations are available. In keeping with this tradition it would appear to be highly desirable for the Hospital to have the support of additional special funds, such as the John C. Green Memorial Fund, the income of which would be applied to the support of worthy patients whose friends are unable to reimburse the Hospital in whole or in part for their treatment.

The need continues, in the Women's Department, for the projected acute building. The plans are completed and it is hoped that it can be built in the near future.

FINANCIAL

The cost of maintenance decreased 10 per cent over the previous year, owing to the lower cost of supplies. The total expenditure for ordinary maintenance and care and treatment of patients was $714,100, or $78,963.97 less than during the previous year. This includes the maintenance of the properties at White Plains and Orienta Point; ordinary repairs and renewals; insurance except against fire; supplies; nursing and other study and treatment services; the educational work engaged in; salaries and wages; and all other running expenses. Capital charges and the cost of extraordinary renewals and improvements for which no provision was made in the budget and for which special appropriations were received, are not included.

Of the 534 cases treated during the year, 277 were wholly or partially supported by the Society. The number treated without charge was 31, and 246 paid rates that were less than the average cost. The expense borne by the Society in the treatment of these cases amounted to $196,376.79 which was the equivalent of 67 free beds throughout the year. The number of weeks' board and treatment was 12,797.

The income of the John C. Green Memorial Fund, amounting to $8,373.19 was, in accordance with the terms of the Memorial, applied to the support of 10 women patients.

The Hospital at the close of the year had a large deficit.

In addition to the above the Hospital expended $42,542.45 for maintenance not provided for in the budget, and for extraordinary improvements.

GENERAL

Visitors. The number of visitors to patients during the year was 13,822.

Official visits were made to the Hospital by the Medical and Deputy Medical Inspectors of the Department of Mental Hygiene on March 4th, June 29th, September 16th, and December 28th. Miss Stella M.

Hawkins, Inspector of the State Department of Education for Nurse Training Schools, visited the Hospital School of Nursing on November 16th. Miss Edna W. Conway, Inspector of the State Department of Education for Nurse Training Schools, visited and inspected the Westchester Central School of Nursing on February 23rd.

Among those who visited the Hospital during the year were: Dr. J. H. Quastel, Director of the Research Laboratory of the City Mental Hospital, Cardiff, Wales; Dr. K. A. J. Lulkaka of Bombay, India; Dr. Karen Horney of Berlin; and Messrs. Lusby and Callender, architects, from Prince Edward Island.

Libraries. The report of the librarian shows that 691 volumes of which 406 were gifts, were added to the libraries during the year. Of these 317 books were added to the general library; 259 new books and 115 bound volumes of journals were added to the medical library. One hundred and fifty-eight books were withdrawn from the general library. Sixty-eight general magazines (44 titles) and 47 medical journals of which 7 are in foreign languages, were received. The distribution for the general library was 20,689 of which 14,960 were issued to patients, 7,489 to the men and 7,471 to the women; and 5,729 to employees. No figures are kept showing the use of the medical library. All of the medical journals are bound and are available for reference. A number of English and foreign language dictionaries and reference books were added to the medical library. During the year there was a decided increase in the use of the medical library. The general library contains 4,633 volumes, and the medical library and that of the School of Nursing 4,723, making a total of 9,356 volumes. New quarters were provided for the nurses' library.

The librarian gave five lectures to 85 nurses in the School of Nursing on the selection of books and the value of literature in the treatment of psychiatric disorders.

Acknowledgments and Gifts. Mr. Edward W. Sheldon presented the general library with sets of books comprising 114 volumes. Mr. and Mrs. Barklie Henry presented the library with 110 volumes of selected books, and 2 Badminton sets. Mr. J. J. Levison presented the Hospital with 77 rare specimens of trees for the arboretum. Many friends of patients have signified their appreciation of the service rendered to patients in whom they were interested by giving liberally to the Nurses Entertainment Fund.

Religious Services. Since 1819 religious services have been conducted on Sunday afternoons. The services this year were conducted by the Reverend Frank H. Simmonds of Grace Church, White Plains, until his untimely death in August. Since then the Reverend Thomas F. Watkins of the White Plains Presbyterian Church has been good enough to conduct the services. These services were much appreciated and a source of comfort to those who attended. The Reverend Father Joseph C. Fleming and his assistants, The Reverend Father Francis X. Scott and the Reverend Father John D. McGowan of St. John's Church, and the Reverend Father Patrick Mackin and his assistant, the Reverend Father John Regan of the Gedney Farms Roman Catholic Church, White Plains, have been most faithful in attending to the religious comfort of the Catholic patients.

Items of Interest. The Westchester County Medical Society met at the Hospital on November 15th.

The Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic. With its removal to its new buildings, the New York Hospital added to its resources the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic. From the opening of the New York Hospital in 1791 it received cases of mental disorders for treatment in the same building with medical and surgical cases. Out of this service grew Bloomingdale Hospital. It is of historical interest that the New York Hospital has provided for the treatment of mental disorders for more than one hundred and forty years. Because of this prevision, wisdom, and humanitarianism of the founders of the Hospital, the psychiatric department of the New York Hospital has had a guiding influence in this country in the development of psychiatry as a department of medicine. With the opening of the new Clinic the Hospital again provides within its own buildings for the treatment of psychiatric disorders. It also provides the community with a thoroughly equipped psychiatric service connected with a private general hospital, which has not since 1821 been available in New York City. Bloomingdale Hospital has been fortunate to have been able to carry forward the original ideals of the Hospital and to pass them on and share them with the new Clinic, thoroughly modernized and scientifically up to date. It has also contributed to the Clinic by the training of many of its medical, nursing, and special treatment staffs. The Clinic and Bloomingdale Hospital furnish exceptional facilities for the treatment of patients with psychiatric disorders and for the education and training of nurses and physicians.

Resident Medical Staff. Dr. A. Louise Brush was appointed an Assistant Physician January 1st.

Dr. Charles Diller Ryan resigned January 1st to take up his duties as Chief Resident Psychiatrist and Clinic Executive at the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic of the New York Hospital.

Dr. Joel M. Hill was reappointed on the staff as an Associate Resident Physician on April 12th.

Dr. Lewis A. Eldridge resigned April 14th on account of illness.

Dr. Dorothy Burdick was reappointed on the staff as a Senior Assistant Physician on September 1st.

Dr. Bettina Warburg resigned October 1st to go into private practice.

It is a pleasure to express my appreciation to the physicians, nurses, and those in the special departments, the executives, and the employees of the Hospital for their devotion to their duties and the standards of the Hospital and their loyal assistance throughout the year. I wish to thank Dr. Russell for the continuation of our pleasant association.

The Hospital suffered a great loss in the death of Mr. Frank K. Sturgis who for twenty-three years had been a member of the Bloomingdale Committee, its Chairman, and Honorary Chairman. His understanding, his generosity, and his kindly counsel endeared him to the Hospital staff.

The One Hundred and Twelfth year of the Hospital has been one of many readjustments to meet the necessities of the general economic conditions. The standards of the Hospital have been maintained and the demands on its resources have been met. To your Honorable Board and the Bloomingtondale Committee I am greatly indebted for the encouragement, helpful advice, and generous support which they have continued to give me.

In the past generous friends have provided liberally for the needs of the Hospital. The work of the Hospital continues to grow and increasing demands are made for the service it provides. For the information of those who may be interested in the present needs of the Hospital, I submit the following:

- (1) Hydrotherapy for Men's Department and Women's Department;
- (2) Funds to complete the renovation and refurnishing of the halls;
- (3) Funds for improving the Hospital park by laying out additional roads and walks, relocating the golf course, and landscaping;
- (4) Houses to complete the group for graduate women nurses;
- (5) House for men nurses;
- (6) Cottages for men and women patients to permit reducing the capacity of the halls;
- (7) Funds to carry on educational and scientific work and research;
- (8) Cottages for cases of early and mild neuroses;
- (9) Cottages for unstable and problem children;
- (10) Funds for the support of worthy patients under treatment in the Hospital;
- (11) Funds for extraordinary replacements and renewals.

Respectfully submitted,

MORTIMER W. RAYNOR,
Medical Director.

This year the School gave instruction to 177 students: 78 undergraduates; 76 affiliated students from the New York, Presbyterian, Fifth Avenue, Mount Sinai, and Roosevelt Hospitals of New York City; and 25 postgraduate students. Two of the postgraduate students are completing the Head Nurse Course given in connection with Teachers College, Columbia University. One student, Miss Pauline Whitaker, of the Class of 1932, was awarded the Floyd-Jones Scholarship.

The Westchester Central School enrolled 115 students during the year. Two highly qualified instructors conduct the classes during the Preliminary Period in the Nurses Educational Building. The contacts made with the affiliated schools are of mutual advantage and stimulate interest in psychiatric nursing. Only students with four years of high school and averages above 85 have been admitted to our own preliminary class. The last group of 16 preliminary students has 6 members who have completed two to four years of college work successfully.

In the postgraduate course, definite plans to develop the much needed head nurse for psychiatric hospitals are being carried out. There continues to be a shortage of nurses in psychiatric nursing who are qualified by education, background and experience necessary to fill executive and teaching positions.

Miss Mary Roberts, Editor of the American Journal of Nursing, gave the graduation address on April 2nd. Nine students, 7 women and 2 men, received their diplomas. A reception in the afternoon and dance in the evening were given in the Nurses House.

The nurses library reading room has been moved into larger quarters near the medical library. This made possible the wider use of the resources of the latter library by the nurses. A sum of money was set aside for the purchase of books.

I hope the School of Nursing and Nursing Service of the Hospital will continue to keep pace and progress with the rapid changes and advancement in nursing and nursing education.

Respectfully submitted,

ELOISE SHIELDS,
Director of Nursing.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF CAMPBELL COTTAGES FOR CONVALESCENT CHILDREN

To the Board of Governors:

GENTLEMEN:—The twenty-fifth annual report of the Campbell Cottages for Convalescent Children is respectfully presented as follows:

The daily average census was 69 and the average length of stay 37 days.

Contagion and the moving and reorganization of the hospital somewhat altered and curtailed the service during the past year. Scarlet fever, mumps, chicken pox and whooping cough developed in the order named, limiting the work during six months of the year.

Because of the willing efforts of the admitting department and the hearty cooperation of the staff of the new pediatric department, the work suffered much less than might have been expected with the temporary closing and necessarily gradual reorganization of the new hospital.

Though considerably below the average for previous years the admissions totaled 718. The types of cases received medical, (including asthmas, cardiacs, and choreas,) surgical, preventive, and the treatment given, did not vary greatly from other years except that malnutrition became increasingly evident. Many of the children came from homes where there had been little or no income for some time, and not only undernourishment but lack of proper clothing became markedly noticeable. The pure food and milk; the special care and the joy and health giving power of outdoor life provided at Campbell Cottages gave these children new life and their parents new hope. Some of the badly underweight cases gained between 10 and 20 pounds each. Our children come from homes or, rather, lodgings (for few of them have the attributes implied in the name "home"), where they are either allowed or forced to run wild on the streets late into the night, or spend many evenings in the movies. The required rest periods for some cases and long, undisturbed hours of sleep for all is unquestionably an important part of our treatment.

That contagion is our paramount problem is, I think, fully realized by all concerned. Its effect on our service and the difficulties in coping with it have been described in many previous reports. The only way by which the almost constant and inevitable outbreak of contagious diseases can be controlled is by establishing and maintaining a complete segregating service. Until such a department can be provided our work will continue to be badly crippled.

We sincerely regret that so many of the heart cases that had been coming to the Cottages at intervals since infancy had to be "left behind" when our hospital moved. Cardiac work in New York city is districted, and our old clinic cases had to be referred to the hospital nearest their respective homes. In July we had a large group here for a farewell visit. The following letter expresses the attachment these children had for Campbell Cottages.

My dear Miss Trup—

How arw you, how arw all the Nurce's

Miss Trup, I'm writeing this letter to let you know that I arrived home safe. Miss Trup will you please do me a favor when the N. Y. Hospital moves to send me the address of the new hospital because I want to come back in the middle of August. Please don't forget—I thank you for your kindniss good buy

Andrew

Andrew's visits numbered only two or three short ones, but he caught the spirit of Campbell Cottages. Had he been here any length of time and been able to attend school he would have written with fewer errors; for we are justly proud of the work our school teacher accomplishes with the many children who come to us almost illiterate. We are fortunate in retaining the services of Miss O'Brien who has so ably handled our school problem since 1910. There are few teachers to-day who would have the interest, resourcefulness, and patience to control and instruct classes of children of such varying ages and mentalities, the members of which are constantly changing.

In the spring the following exterior painting was done: swings, porches, facings, front window frames, benches, tables, fire boxes, flag-pole, and isolation cottages. Inside painting included the small rooms of the upper and lower wards, the nurses' and maids' bathrooms, and hall closets. The walls of nearly all rooms and wards not painted were washed, and the floors of the school-room, play room and boys' ward and corridors were varnished. New linoleum was laid in the nurses' and maids' bathrooms. Twelve new cribs were purchased to replace some old ones which had been in the upper ward for 25 years. In order to make our back door and yard, which faces the beautiful Bloomingdale flower garden, as inconspicuous as possible, a lattice work screen has been erected. As a further safeguard in case of fire an extension phone was installed in the Girls' Cottage.

Close contact with the hospital wards and staff waned as the pediatric service at the old hospital became less active and the Cottages turned to the clinics and social service field for a large number of their cases. As a result the work in recent years has been less actively convalescent and increasingly preventive and social welfare. During the past twenty-five years the Cottages have been developed and improved to what is in most respects the limit of practical possibilities. Ideally, we should now offer an adjunct service to the hospital's new pediatric department, but a new home—built, equipped and organized with active convalescent wards in mind—is needed to make this ideal a working reality. While waiting for this dream to come true the good work now being carried on could be extended within our present plant by equipping a small room for ultra-violet light treatment and by providing a small dental clinic. Those familiar with modern therapy know that ultra-violet radiation is proving of major importance. Conditioning the mouths of our little patients would, in itself, be a work of inestimable value.

Miss Alice C. Ellison resigned as Superintendent June, 1932.

Miss Marie L. Troup was appointed Superintendent June, 1932.

Miss Ellison and Campbell Cottages are synonymous. Her work is known to all conversant with the history of children's convalescent care. The record of Campbell Cottages from 1907 to 1932; the care taken of nearly 20,000 children; the lives and lasting gratitude of men and women who were one time patients and are now sending their children to the Cottages, reflect the character and far reaching influence of Miss Ellison's twenty-five years of devoted and unselfish service.

Christmas Season was a time of great excitement and real joy. The efforts and contributions of individual friends and members of organizations made the day a memorable one for our little guests.

Gifts of books, clothing, toys and games are received from time to time and are greatly appreciated.

The Cottages are very grateful to the Bloomingdale Laboratory and X-Ray Department for their very prompt assistance at all times.

We are again deeply indebted to the Social Service Department of the New York Hospital for their willing efforts and invaluable aid.

We wish to express our appreciation for the hearty cooperation of Dr. Schloss and his staff.

To Dr. Raynor and Dr. Hamilton I am grateful for their kind advice and aid so willingly given on all occasions.

To Dr. Chapman, the nursing staff, and all employees, I wish to express sincere appreciation for their assistance and devotion to their duties.

To Miss Ellison I am deeply indebted for her thoughtful and pains-taking efforts to acquaint me with the routine administration of the Cottages.

To your Honorable Board and Bloomingdale Committee I wish to express my sincere appreciation for your counsel, encouragement and support so graciously tendered me since taking up my duties as Superintendent.

Respectfully submitted,

MARIE L. TROUP,
Superintendent.

Extract from the minutes of the Board of Governors of The Society of the New York Hospital, meeting of March 6, 1934.

RESOLVED, That as Governors of The Society of the New York Hospital we desire to record this expression of our profound sorrow at the death of our President,

MR. EDWARD WRIGHT SHELDON

Mr. Sheldon became a member of this Board in 1906, and after serving successively as Treasurer and Vice President, he was elected President in 1919. It may truthfully be said that from the date of his election to the Board until his death no day ever passed without time being given to the consideration of some problem connected with the work of this Society.

His presidency of a great Trust Company, with its accompanying responsibilities, was not sufficient alone to occupy his active mind or to satisfy his desire for public spirited service to the community in which he lived. For many years he was a trustee of the New York Public Library and of Barnard College and to both of these also he contributed the active interest and the mental training of the clear seeing business man and the cultivated scholar, conservative by nature, but ever ready to look ahead and build for the future.

But nearest of all to his heart was The Society of the New York Hospital. He had studied every line of its history, and its long and honorable record for scientific study and progress, the cure of disease and the alleviation of suffering, appealed enormously both to his intellectual and his humanitarian nature.

And so there developed in his mind the vision of this great monument, in which the scientific study and the practice of medicine have joined hands, and in which for generations to come, as a result of the combined efforts of Mr. Sheldon and Mr. Whitney, science and humanity will work together for the alleviation of mankind.

To a man of his reserved, unselfish, deep thinking nature, whose good works were done so quietly and without publicity, the motto of the Society "Go and do thou likewise" was no empty phrase, but was a trumpet call to duty and effort.

We have lost a great personality and a wise leader, but his spirit is still alive, embodied in this great Temple of Healing, and long after we have passed on our successors will still be inspired by that spirit, will still revere the memory of Edward Sheldon, lawyer, banker, philanthropist, scholar, our loyal friend and associate.

Extract from minutes of Board of Governors meeting held on January 2nd, 1934.

"The President, with deep sorrow, asked the Governors to record on their minutes the death at the Hospital on the afternoon of December 29th, 1933, of who had been an officer of the Society for nearly thirty years, acting as Assistant Secretary from 1905 to 1922, and as Secretary since 1922. During all of those years he served the institution devotedly, most efficiently and with a constant maintenance of its traditions and ideals. Indeed all his life was irradiated by his zeal for the Hospital. Both for his invaluable service and his delightful personality, he will be sadly missed."

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
GOVERNORS OF THE SOCIETY OF THE NEW YORK
HOSPITAL FOR THE YEAR 1933

In conformity with the provisions of its Charter, granted by Royal Authority June 13, 1771, in the reign of King George III, the Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital present to the Legislature of the State of New York their annual report and a statement showing the receipts and expenditures for the year 1933 of the several institutions under their control and management as follows:

The General Hospital at 525 East 68th Street, New York, which is hereinafter called the New York Hospital, the Department for the treatment of mental diseases, known as Bloomingdale Hospital at White Plains, Westchester County, and the Hospital for Convalescent Children, also at White Plains. The New York Hospital also includes the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic, the Pediatric clinic, the Society of the Lying-In Hospital and the Manhattan Maternity and Dispensary.

The year 1933 was the first calendar year of occupancy of the new hospital buildings, which were opened September 1st, 1932. Looking back over this period, with the inevitable readjustments which must accompany the transition from a relatively small institution to a vast undertaking such as the present one, considerable satisfaction may be felt with the progress which has been made. Minor difficulties and obstacles have been overcome, the component parts of the hospital have functioned more and more smoothly, and a fine spirit of cooperation has manifested itself throughout, forecasting a great extension of the very useful life of this old institution.

Against its very evident gains, the Hospital suffered an irreparable loss through the sudden death on February 14, 1934, of its President, Mr. Edward Wright Sheldon, who had served as a Governor since 1906 and as President since 1919. Of all his manifold interests, the Hospital was closest to him, and the present great Institution sprang largely from his vision and enterprise. It is gratifying to record that he lived to see its completion, and to know that it was safely launched on its greatly broadened humanitarian career.

During the year death also took from the Board of Governors two of its members, Mr. Walter Jennings, who had served since 1916, giving much of his time and generous support, and Mr. Frederick Winthrop Allen, who was elected in 1926.

A further loss was suffered through the death, on December 29, 1933, of Mr. G. Howard Wise, who had served the Board of Governors ably and efficiently as Assistant Secretary from 1905 to 1922, and as Secretary from 1922 until December, 1933.

Attention is invited, for detailed information concerning the operations of the separate branches of the hospital, to the reports of the various departments. The achievements there recorded are a source of great satisfaction to the Board of Governors.

Since the last annual report, Miss Mary Gardiner Thompson has repeated her generous annual gift of $15,000 for use in meeting special needs of the Hospital, while Mrs. Barklie McKee Henry has made a splendid contribution of $12,000 to be devoted to Endocrine Research.

New legacies to the Society have been reported during the year as follows:

Under the will of Amelia Breckenridge, who died January 18, 1933, the hospital is named as legatee after the death of the life beneficiary.

Under the will of Pauline Dennerlein, who died February 28, 1933, the Hospital receives the residuary estate.

Under the will of Moses M. Riglander, who died October 28, 1932, the Hospital receives one-fourth of the residuary estate.

Under the will of Amelia Remington Foulke, who died April 30, 1933, the Hospital receives $5,000.

Under the will of Helen Jay Garretson, who died August 1, 1933, The Hospital receives $5,000.

Of the legacies mentioned in previous reports the following amounts have been received.

Under the will of William Crawford, $25,000.

Under the will of Edward G. Kennedy, $100,000.

Under the will of Robert S. Tasse, $1,000.

Under the will of Edward N. Hill, $124.98 in final payment.

WILSON M. POWELL,
President.

AUGUSTINE J. SMITH,
Secretary.

REPORT OF THE NEW YORK HOSPITAL—CORNELL MEDICAL COLLEGE ASSOCIATION

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I have the honor to present herewith the report on professional activities of the Hospital during the year 1933. As separate reports are to be presented by Dr. Stander on the work of the Lying-in Hospital, by Dr. Russell on the work of the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic, by Dr. Schloss on the work of the Children's Clinic and by Dr. Lowsley on the work of the Department of Urology, the activities of the departments of obstetrics and gynecology and of psychiatry will be mentioned only in their relation to other departments and to the general activities of the Hospital.

The professional care of patients in the public pavilions throughout the Hospital has been excellent, as judged by personal observation and by the reports received from the heads of the different services. Patients have been given skilled and sympathetic treatment by a highly proficient medical staff, with which have been coördinated excellent nursing, a well-directed and efficient nutritional service, and understanding administrative procedures that have all combined to give the patients a type of service which has been gratefully appreciated by them, and frequently expressed.

The reports that have been received from the heads of various services contain much of interest, and it is regretted that the limitations of space allow but brief mention of some of the special features of the work that has been carried out during the past year.

In the department of medicine, attention is directed to the work in certain metabolic disorders that are being studied and treated by the exact application of chemistry and physics. A study of muscular weakness has been carried out on patients with a form of muscular wasting and results have been obtained which supplement discoveries that have recently been made by some of those engaged in this work which have not only proved of great benefit to the patients who have been treated but also have added new knowledge to the important problem of muscular weakness in general. The patients under observation have occupied the small metabolism ward on the second floor, where they are fed from a special kitchen in charge of a dietitian trained in the accurate determination of the chemical constitution of all foods that are given to these patients. This type of metabolic work has been greatly aided by the Russell Sage Institute of Pathology which has placed at the disposal of Dr. DuBois and his associates the respiration calorimeter for the exact measurement of the chemical processes going on in the human body. The Russell Sage Institute of Pathology also supports in the department of medicine a well-trained physicist and a chemist with special training, and also a technician for the care of the calorimeter, affording an opportunity for the study and treatment of certain disorders that are available in no other hospital. Dr. DuBois and his associates have also conducted studies on the temperature of the body which throw new light on the problems of fever.

One other field of work, among many, deserving mention is that being conducted on the endocrine or ductless glands, which have been found in recent years to play an important part in the regulation and control of bodily functions. This work has been supported very generously by friends of the Hospital who have furnished special funds for the work of Dr. Bruce Webster, Assistant Attending Physician and Assistant Professor of Medicine. Although this is a difficult field of work, promising results have been obtained both by experiments and by the study of patients, in which several members of the department of medicine are coöperating.

The work of the department of surgery during the first year of its present organization has been analyzed in great detail by Dr. Heuer, and his report presents much interesting information which warrants a study of the report in its entirety. Among other features of the surgical report there is a careful analysis of the treatment of the patients admitted to the general surgical service of 116 beds. There were 2,105 patients treated on the general surgical pavilions, 1,663 of whom were operated upon, 1,765 operations being performed during the first year ending September 1st, 1933. There were 43 fatalities following operation, or an operation mortality of 2.4%. Dr. Heuer gives especial attention to the fatalities that occurred in his service, setting forth each case in some detail and discussing the various groups of cases in which fatalities occurred. The report presents a thorough critique of the work of the department, as well as giving a detailed account of all the work of the first year. The report also contains the list of papers that have been published during the year by the members of the department of surgery.

The surgical specialties, otolaryngology, ophthalmology, orthopedic surgery, and dentistry, have been conducted successfully in the out-patient department, where the equipment and arrangements for these special fields of work are admirable. One of the leading ophthalmologists of Europe who visited the Hospital recently said that the eye clinic was better arranged than any other he had ever seen. In spite of these facilities, these special fields of surgery are much handicapped under present conditions in not having beds in the Hospital to which patients from these clinics of the out-patient department can be referred.

Special funds for investigative work in surgery have been available through several gifts that have been made to the Medical College for expenditure in the department of surgery. Mrs. John L. Given has continued her annual gift of $3,500.00 a year for work for research and teaching in surgery; a grant of $1,500.00 from the Josiah Macy, Jr. Foundation for the study of surgical shock, and $3,300.00 contributed through Dr. Alice Bernheim for the study of disease of the blood vessels have all aided materially the investigative work of the surgical department.

A separate report has been presented by Dr. Lowsley as director of the department of urology of the James Buchanan Brady Foundation. Dr. Lowsley states that the provision for the care of patients and for other activities of his department has proved eminently satisfactory for its needs. He also comments on the coöperation his department has received from other departments of the Hospital and of the Medical College.

The members of the staff of the Brady Foundation performed 366 urological operations during the year, 119 of which were on private patients. They also did over 3,000 cystoscopic examinations and cared for 10,746 visits to their out-patient department, which included men, women, and children.

During the early autumn, while on a brief visit to Europe, Dr. Lowsley had the opportunity of demonstrating his work in Madrid, Paris, and Padua.

The work of the department has been aided by contributions from a number of donors, including a generous gift of $6,500 from Mr. Charles C. Wright to the Bessie Wright Memorial Fund, and the income from the Gustavus Lawrence Fund has also aided greatly the activities in urology.

The department of pediatrics has treated 787 patients in its pavilions during the past year, and 27,444 visits were made to the out-patient department.

Dr. Schloss reports that the air-conditioned rooms in the department of pediatrics used for the treatment of babies born prematurely in the Woman's Clinic have proved very satisfactory, and this care has undoubtedly saved the lives of many babies.

The collaboration of the pediatric and the obstetrical service in the care of the new-born babies has been a successful feature of the organization. All newborn babies are examined and cared for by members of the pediatric service, and although this has required almost the entire time of two or more members of the staff of the children's clinic, it has proved very helpful to the obstetricians and has also given the pediatricians an opportunity to study early infancy in a way that is not often afforded.

All mothers of babies born in the Woman's Clinic who reside in the district of the Hospital return with their babies to the Well-Baby Clinic of the department of pediatrics so that they can be cared for until eighteen months of age. This is a very valuable service for both babies and mothers, and also affords opportunities to both internes and students to become familiar with the care and feeding of growing infants. A prophylactic clinic is also maintained in which all children not already immunized to smallpox or diphtheria are referred. Here a new type of vaccine virus developed by Dr. Rivers at the Rockefeller Institute has been used with satisfactory results.

Another special feature of the department of pediatrics is the study of rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease that is being conducted under Dr. Schloss' direction by Dr. May Wilson and her associates. The expenses of the elaborate study are being borne by a grant of ten thousand dollars a year made to the Hospital last April by the Commonwealth Fund. A group of children suffering from heart disease has been under observation by Dr. Wilson for a number of years at the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital, and this group has been transferred to the pediatric clinic. Studies on the epidemiology of rheumatic fever, on special methods of diagnosis, and on the natural history of rheumatic heart disease are being conducted. During the year 258 children made 1,940 visits to the cardiac clinic where these studies are being carried on in conjunction with the treatment of these patients.

The collaboration of psychiatry and pediatrics has been developed also by means of a grant from the Commonwealth Fund which has appropriated five thousand dollars a year to the Hospital for the support of a psychiatrist specially trained in the field of emotional and mental disturbances of childhood. Dr. LaMar, who conducts this work, spends the major portion of his time in the pediatric clinic and his work is important both for psychiatry and also for a thorough understanding of children and their emotional tendencies.

The relation of psychiatry to other services of the Hospital has been successfully established, especially for the medical service, in which the psychiatrists make regular visits and attend in the out-patient department. By this means, the emotional and neurotic disturbances of the patients in the general hospital can be properly evaluated and studied. Dr. Amsden, Dr. Kirby, and Dr. Henry have taken part in this work, and it has proved helpful both in the care of patients and in teaching.

The report of Dr. Elser regarding the activities of the central laboratories indicates the large volume of laboratory diagnostic work which has been carried on during the current year. The laboratory staff made 46,862 examinations in clinical pathology and bacteriology alone, more than twice the number made during the last full year at the old Hospital. The staff has been heavily taxed and the amount of time allowed for research has been much restricted. The laboratory has been carefully organized and economically administered. Besides the large number of diagnostic examinations made, the laboratory has made and issued the general supply of culture media, dextrose solution, Dakin's solution, and other laboratory and therapeutic supplies. By a liberal calculation, the cost of each examination is hardly more than one-half of that expended in the old Hospital.

The x-ray department, under Dr. Carty, has rendered excellent service, and has worked with splendid coöperation with the various clinical services. The load on the staff has been a heavy one, and has required careful organization. Dr. Carty has worked out an admirable plan for the standardization of the radiographic work, which has allowed constant checking of the machines and of the quality of the work being performed by the technical staff. Besides the routine work, several special studies have been conducted on the radiography of soft tissues, and several new types of apparatus have been devised which are being generally used.

The private patient service, reorganized during the year under the direction of Dr. Pool and Dr. Cussler, now has three resident assistants who devote their entire time to the private medical and surgical services. Toward the end of the year, the two operating rooms on the eleventh floor were opened by the Governors for private surgical patients and they afford unusually fine facilities for this work and should be a factor in increasing the service of the Hospital to private surgical patients. The private pavilion facilities are now available not only to the attending staff in medicine and surgery, but also to the physicians and surgeons to out-patients and to a selected group of well-qualified physicians and surgeons forming the courtesy staff to whom this privilege has been given by the Board of Governors. Much favorable comment has been received from all those who have been in the private pavilion either as patients or as visitors.

The out-patient department has presented a number of problems during the year which have for the most part been administrative in nature. These problems have been thoughtfully considered in the report of Dr. Klotz, the director of the out-patient department, and are to be studied in the immediate future by a special committee appointed by the Governors for this purpose. Some adjustments both in the professional and in the administrative procedures are needed. Much excellent service has been rendered, and in some departments the service has nearly reached the limits of the facilities and staff. There were 186,728 visits by patients made during the year.

The teaching activities of the Hospital have been organized by the head of each department in conformity with the curriculum of the Medical College. Beginning in the latter half of the second year of medical study, the students are trained in the various methods that are used in the direct study of patients. After approximately six months of this training, the third-year class is divided into three groups which rotate every two months through the various clinical departments for the actual study of patients in the pavilions. The various groups are further subdivided among the different pavilions and a few patients are assigned to each student. By this means, the students actually become part of the working organization of the Hospital and carry out under supervision some of the simpler necessary routines such as obtaining the history of the patient, laboratory examinations, and assist the resident staff in their work. In this way, the students assume some responsibility and render service. The students also are an aid and comfort to the patients to whom they are assigned, as they come to know each other and the students learn to be helpful and interested in their patients as individuals in those departments where this close contact can be established. With the present restricted service in medicine and to a less extent in surgery, it has been necessary to utilize the services of Bellevue Hospital which are controlled professionally by the Medical College, to prevent overcrowding the pavilions with students and to supplement the teaching material. At least once a day, the entire third-year class is brought together for instruction by clinical lectures and demonstrations by one of the clinical departments.

The fourth-year students devote themselves mainly to the study of patients in the out-patient departments, where they take part under supervision in taking histories, in the examination of patients, and in suggesting methods of study and treatment. Here again, the students rotate through the different clinics and are subdivided into small groups.

It may be said that the presence of the students in the Hospital has in no way disturbed patients, who in most instances seem to enjoy their contacts with the students.

The teaching activities of the Hospital have been greatly assisted by the interested coöperation of the members of the nursing service, the department of nutrition, and the social service.

In summary, it may be said that the New York Hospital has rendered medical service of high quality to many people in practically every field of medicine during the past year, and in association with the Cornell University Medical College has offered unsurpassed facilities for medical education and for medical research which have been fully utilized and appreciated by the Staff of the Hospital.

G. CANBY ROBINSON.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—The most important element in the conduct of a hospital is human relationship; and the larger the hospital the more important it becomes. The individual in a condition serious enough for hospital care, enters the institution with foreboding, and his family with bewilderment and fixed concern. To make both feel that they are among friends is more important than a show of administrative or professional efficiency.

The most gratifying results of the year have been the letters and reports from patients telling us of the "human and considerate treatment" throughout the hospital, "from doormen to doctors and nurses."

With such response, the one possible doubt about care in an institution of this size is done away.

THE YEAR'S WORK

Of the thousand beds which the hospital was designed to accommodate, there were open for use by the middle of March 671 beds.

465 of these were in the pavilions, and 140 in private and semi-private rooms.

The pavilions were occupied during the year at 83% capacity and the private service at 46%. The biggest pressure was in the medical service which ran at 92% capacity, and in the Woman's Clinic which ran at 90%.

The Hospital provided 213,502 days care for 14,325 bed patients, and 203,603 visits for 33,549 out-patients.

In figuring the cost per unit of service, the cost of research and education, including salaries, supplies, and the up-keep of the space allotted to these purposes, have been excluded from the cost of patient care. Also a new-born infant day is figured as one-fourth an adult day, as recommended by the United Hospital Fund.

On this basis, it cost to care for a pavilion patient $7.12 a day, for a private patient $12.93 a day, and for an out-patient $1.52 per visit.

In connection with these costs, it should be remembered that while only 65% of the bed capacity is in use, the space closed by reason of this is only 3% of the total cubic capacity of the buildings. In other words, the overhead now carried by the beds in use would not increase greatly if the hospital were opened to full capacity, and the cost per patient day would be correspondingly reduced.

It is not possible, here, to report on the work of all departments. The reorganization necessitated by the drastic budget reduction in February, involving wage cuts, reduction of personnel, increased duties, elimination of established procedures, and economy in the use of supplies was carried out by all departments with fine courage, with no interruption of service, and without sacrifice of standards of care.

The report of the Department of Nursing appears elsewhere. It should be reported, here, that the Nursing service, as organized and developed, has given eminent satisfaction to patients and staff, and that the Department has been of great help to the administration throughout the Hospital.

THE PRESENT NEW YORK HOSPITAL

SIXTY-EIGHTH TO SEVENTY-FIRST STREETS, YORK AVENUE TO EXTERIOR STREET
OPENED FOR PATIENTS SEPTEMBER 1ST, 1932

NUTRITION DEPARTMENT

The Nutrition Department prepared and served 1,542,602 meals during the year, or 4,226 per day. The cost of the raw food averaged 17.2 cents per meal. Due to increased prices, the cost was 14% higher during the last six months than during the first six.

In addition to meals and special diets, the Nutrition Department instructs pupil nurses in dietetics, and advises and instructs patients referred to the Nutrition Clinic of the Out-Patient Department, where 6,890 patients were instructed during the year.

The Department prepared and published a Handbook of Nutrition, which is of great value in all clinical departments, and has met with favorable comment in and out of the Hospital.

ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT

Following is the output of the Power Plant for the year, and the unit costs:

Steam:	514,657,483 lbs.	@	$.26370 per M lbs.
Electricity:	8,514,860 K.W. hrs.	@	.01034 per K.W. hr.
Refrigeration:	43,136 tons	@	.6964 per ton
Ice:	32,168 50-lb. cakes	@	.0542 per cake

Low Pressure Steam furnished for Heating and Domestic Hot Water—173,742,517 lbs.

There have been no interruptions to the service during the year, and progress has been made in adjusting the plant to the difficulties encountered.

The maintenance department has been concerned chiefly with meeting the needs discovered by use. From now on repairs and painting will gradually increase.

OTHER DEPARTMENTS

The Housekeeping Department has kept all parts of the buildings in excellent condition.

The Laundry has turned out 142,000 pieces a week with remarkably little confusion.

The Admitting Department has sat with some 46,000 patients applying for care, and determined their capacity to pay, with sympathy and fairness.

The Record Room has originated, indexed and filed some 50,000 new histories, and handled requests for 1,500 to 1,800 histories a day.

At the close of the first year of such a large family living together, it is a pleasure to report that in spite of the diversity of our origins and experience and of the many difficulties encountered, there has been an unusual spirit of friendliness and coöperation. In particular, I want to thank the Professional Staff for their patience, forbearance, and readiness to help meet the administrative and financial problems.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN R. HOWARD, JR.,

Superintendent.

REPORT OF THE OBSTETRICIAN AND GYNECOLOGIST- IN-CHIEF

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I have the honor to present the report of the Society of the Lying-In Hospital for the year 1933.

In the report for the previous year I expressed the hope that our results will, in a measure, justify the efforts and interests of the Board of Governors of the Hospital. I feel that the figures, as detailed in the statistical report, represent a partial realization of this expectation.

During the year 1933 we treated a total of 4,387 obstetrical patients on our indoor and home delivery services, and 626 gynecological patients, a grand total of 5,013 patients discharged for the year. Our pavilion hospital beds have been occupied to the extent of 89.7 per cent of full capacity and the private beds 71 per cent, resulting in a total bed occupancy for the Lying-In Hospital of 86.84 per cent capacity, a figure which cannot be increased and still remain consistent with adequate obstetrical care.

The number of hospital deliveries was 2,620 and that of home deliveries 1,095, a total of 3,715 confinements resulting in 3,752 babies. The uncorrected total maternal mortality, including abortions and ectopic gestations, was 7 deaths in 4,387 obstetrical discharges, or 1.59 per 1,000 patients. This mortality rate, when expressed in the customary manner in terms of live births, is 1.9 maternal deaths per 1,000 live births, as compared with 3.3 per thousand for the year 1932. The maternal death rate for Greater New York City for 1932 was 5.98 per 1,000 live births.

Our gross infantile mortality, for indoor and outdoor delivery service, including all babies over 1500 grams in weight, as well as neonatal deaths during the first two weeks following birth, was 3.86 per cent for the year 1933.

In the gynecological service there were 6 deaths in 626 patients, a gross uncorrected mortality of 0.958 per cent.

The credit for these results belongs not only to the medical staff but in a very large measure to our nursing and anaesthesia departments. Our nurses have given unusually good nursing care to the hospital and outdoor patients. In the outdoor delivery services, Berwind and Cornell, I am deeply indebted to the Henry Street Nursing and the Maternity Center for the valuable nursing rendered to our patients by these two organizations. Miss Marguerite A. Wales, General Director of Nursing Service of the Henry Street Settlement, and Miss Hazel Corbin, General Director of Maternity Center Association, have coöperated with our medical staff to the fullest, with the result that the patients have received excellent nursing care and attention in their homes, not only at the time of confinement, but also during the antenatal and postpartum periods. I further wish to express my appreciation of the consistently good work rendered by Miss Mary C. Skelley, Superintendent of the Berwind Free Maternity Clinic, and her assistants. It is through the generosity of the late Mr. John E. Berwind, and the constant interest and help of his widow, Mrs. John E. Berwind, that we are able to carry on the magnificent work of the Berwind Free Maternity Clinic at 125 East 103rd street.

The admitting officers of this hospital have been most coöperative and efficient in their duties, which at times are most difficult.

The Department of Nutrition of this hospital, under the direction of Miss S. Margaret Gillam, has served us most faithfully and satisfactorily not only in the matter of meals for patients, but also in solving our many dietary problems.

To Dr. O. M. Schloss, Pediatrician-in-Chief to the New York Hospital, and to his staff we are indebted for the excellent medical care given our babies. We feel that the coöperative arrangement between the department of Pediatrics and the Lying-In Hospital has worked very successfully with regard to both patient and doctor. We hope to continue this arrangement.

We are also indebted to Dr. Eugene DuBois, Physician-in-Chief to the New York Hospital, and his staff for their coöperation and assistance in the treatment of our patients suffering from cardiac and pulmonary complications. The other departments of the New York Hospital have given us excellent coöperation. Dr. Bernard Samuels, in charge of Ophthalmology in this hospital, has been most conscientious and helpful in his weekly rounds.

All members of our Attending staff have participated in the teaching activities of the Lying-In Hospital, which are greatly diversified. The teaching schedule comprises the regular courses in Obstetrics and Gynecology to the Third and Fourth year Medical Students, as well as to the undergraduate and graduate nurses. In addition, during the summer months a one-month course is offered to 20 medical students from other universities, and a one, two, or three-month service in Obstetrics and Gynecology is offered to postgraduates in medicine from other hospitals. This latter group do actual hospital work and attend teaching rounds and conferences. The weekly Monday afternoon staff conferences are open to any physician who is interested in hearing frank discussion of gynecological and obstetrical problems. This applies equally well to our bi-monthly Journal Club meetings, at which time all current literature is presented and discussed. In addition to the above, we are now offering a one-month observation course to physicians seriously interested in obstetrics and gynecology.

The work of the Lying-In Hospital would be incomplete and would leave much to be desired, were it not for the intelligent assistance and inspiration from the Ladies' Auxiliary Board. In the following pages are the reports from the Secretary of this body and from the Head Social Worker which show to what extent our results depend on the efforts of the Ladies' Board. These ladies have helped us not only in providing for an excellent Social Service Department and for volunteer assistants throughout the Clinic, but have made it possible for us to procure radium for the treatment of cancer and other conditions, as well as help us in building up a departmental library. The members of their Executive Committee, as well as the other members of their Board, have at all times been willing to discuss and help in the solution of many of our problems. We owe a deep debt of gratitude to the Ladies Auxiliary Board of the Lying-In Hospital.

Finally, I wish to express my appreciation of the unstinted and whole-hearted support given us by the Executive Committee of the Board of the Lying-In Hospital, as well as by the Board of Governors of the New York Hospital. I am expressing the sentiment of the whole staff, medical, nursing and administration, by stating that there is a unanimous feeling of indebtedness to the Board of Governors for their interest and assistance in the many phases of the work of the Lying-In Hospital.

Respectfully submitted,

H. J. STANDER, M.D.

Obstetrician and Gynecologist-in-Chief.

REPORT OF NURSING SERVICE OF THE LYING-IN HOSPITAL

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I herewith submit the annual report of the Nursing Service of the Lying-In Hospital for the year nineteen hundred and thirty-three.

The work of the nursing service has proceeded according to the plan as outlined last year with the direction and assistance of the clinical staff. Modifications of this plan have been necessary because of general economic situation which has produced problems of an unusual type, affecting the service, the staff, and the school. The routines and techniques of patient care have been thoroughly studied and reviewed in consultation with the clinicians in order to meet the required changes adequately. Every effort has been made to maintain our standard of good nursing care.

The educational program has followed along the lines developed last year. Nineteen hundred and thirty-three has been a year of testing and revising the course of study in order to arrive at those methods which will most adequately meet the needs of the students. Lectures, clinics, and ward teaching have been more closely integrated, and more closely correlated with the actual service to patients. Our hope that the head nurses and the assistant head nurses might be able to participate in the teaching program has been realized in a very satisfactory way and each has taken a definite part in the instruction of students on her floor.

During the past year we have had twenty-five New York Hospital students and eighty-eight affiliating students: sixteen from the Bloomingdale Hospital School of Nursing, White Plains, New York; forty from the Lenox Hill Hospital School of Nursing, New York City; ten from the Moses Taylor Hospital School of Nursing, Scranton, Pennsylvania; nine from the D. Ogden Mills Hospital School of Nursing, Trudeau, New York; seven from the Saint Vincent's Hospital School of Nursing, New York City; twelve from Saint Mary's Hospital School of Nursing, New York City. There are forty-six graduate students representing thirty-nine schools in the following countries and states:

Canada.....	1	North Carolina.....	2
Florida.....	1	Ohio.....	2
Illinois.....	1	Pennsylvania.....	16
Kansas.....	2	Philippine Is.....	1
Massachusetts.....	4	Rhode Island.....	2
Michigan.....	1	South Carolina.....	2
Minnesota.....	1	Texas.....	1
New Jersey.....	1	Washington, D. C.....	1
New York.....	7	Wisconsin.....	2

During the year the Saint Vincent's Hospital, New York City, organized an Obstetrical Department in which their students will receive obstetrical training in the future. The school of Nursing of the Saint Mary's Hospital for Children, New York City withdrew their affiliation; however, through the unfortunate necessity of having to close their school, their students have been admitted to the New York Hospital

School of Nursing and will have their obstetrical course with us in due time.

The time lost on account of illness among our staff and students has been unusually large, amounting to over seven hundred days of nursing. Every effort is being made to ascertain the causes of illness, and by early recognition and treatment it is hoped that this amount may be reduced during the coming year.

This report would be incomplete if mention were not made of the Christmas festivities of the Obstetrical Department. Through the generosity of Mr. Edward W. Sheldon, President of the Board of Governors of the Hospital, it was possible to give a useful present to every pavilion mother and child. Material was bought and through the efforts of the staff of the Lying-In Hospital and their friends, each baby was provided with a blanket. This one feature added greatly to the pleasure of patients who had to be away from home at this time.

The department has had the pleasure of entertaining many professional visitors from foreign countries and from many different states. These contacts have been valuable and the points brought out by their study of our organization and methods have been of benefit to us in working out our own problems.

Several of the members of the nursing staff are taking special courses within or outside of the hospital. Eighteen have matriculated at one or another of the colleges located in the city. Two have worked toward the completion of their high school courses. It is the policy of the department to encourage self-development and to assist the nurses in taking special courses in which they are interested. Many have attended the lectures, clinics, and conferences held for the students in the department.

The interest and coöperation of the Director of the Lying-In Hospital and the Medical Staff have been very helpful throughout the year. Their assistance in meeting the problems of the nursing service and their generous participation in the educational program have been of great value to us. Acknowledgment of appreciation is due to the members of the other departments of the hospital who have coöperated with us in many ways.

Our great concern for the coming year is to maintain through difficult times our ideals and standards of care to patients, service to doctors, and education of student nurses.

Respectfully submitted,

VERDA F. HICKCOX, R.N.,

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE SCHOOL OF NURSING AND DIRECTOR OF THE NURSING SERVICE

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I herewith submit the fifty-sixth annual report of the school of nursing and nursing service.

SCHOOL OF NURSING

In accordance with the policies as established by the Board, the curriculum of the school of nursing has been carried out with satisfactory results. A class of seventeen students was graduated in March, 1933. Twenty-two students were admitted in the fall term, all of whom had had two or more years of college in accordance with the changed matriculation requirement. It is gratifying to note that Temple University is accrediting our course of study toward the Bachelor of Science degree for those students who have had two years of preclinical work at that institution.

An appreciable increase in the number of affiliating schools deserves mention. Samaritan Hospital School of Nursing, Troy, New York; White Plains Hospital Association School of Nursing, White Plains, New York; Cohoes Hospital School of Nursing, Cohoes, New York; D. Ogden Mills Training School for Nurses, Trudeau, New York, are sending students for four months medicine and four months pediatrics and, in the case of the last mentioned, four months of surgery. Highland Hospital School of Nursing, Rochester, New York, sends students for four months pediatrics. St. Vincent's Hospital School of Nursing, New York, New York and St. Mary's Hospital for Children School of Nursing, New York, New York, withdrew their affiliations in obstetrics. A total of one hundred and forty-one affiliating students have registered for these courses during the year.

A mutually satisfactory conference with directors and instructors of affiliating schools was held in November. At that time many problems of common interest were discussed and policies relating to our association were determined.

One hundred and twenty-four graduate students were admitted during the year; sixty-nine for obstetrics and gynecology, thirty-one for surgery, eighteen for pediatrics, four for operating room practice, one for medicine and one for supervision in medical nursing. It is gratifying to find that many of these women have accepted positions of responsibility in their chosen clinical fields.

The number of students in the school as of December thirty-first was one hundred and eighty-two. Of this number eighty-six were our own students, sixty-five affiliating students representing eight schools, twenty-nine graduate students and two special students.

The number of students who withdrew during the year was as follows: eleven New York Hospital students, four affiliating students and twelve graduate students.

Extra-curricular activities have been centered primarily in the affairs of student organization. A high sense of responsibility for the proper conduct of the group has been evinced by the students constantly. A greater reliability has been placed upon them to handle problems of discipline as related to social and professional life.

During the year five fellowship students of the Rockefeller Foundation have observed our work for periods of from one week to two months and innumerable guests from schools of nursing in the United States, Canada and from abroad have visited us. From these friends we have gained inspiration and stimulation.

NURSING SERVICE

Following the general plan of work as outlined in the early months of our occupancy of the new buildings our service has concentrated largely upon the continued study of all nursing procedures and techniques.

To maintain a good service to patients has been the predominant characteristic of the spirit of the staff. Due to the unprecedented economic situation the personnel of the service has met necessary reduction of salaries and longer hours of work with splendid coöperation and understanding. An anticipated turn-over of personnel has been met with the helpful coöperation of the clinicians and the administrative officers which has enabled us to maintain our usual standard of work.

STUDENT AND STAFF HEALTH SERVICE

Our health service has been very active during the year, although to promote economy the infirmary was closed from June first until November first. Four thousand and seven visits and follow-up examinations were made at the health office and one thousand and forty-one clinic visits were arranged. Besides the usual annual physical examinations, Schick and Dick tests and tuberculin tests have been given to all students and to two hundred and sixty-nine graduates. The total days of illness were two thousand four hundred and ninety-one. Days of infirmary care were one thousand and twenty-nine, with two hundred and ninety admissions. Days of hospitalization were four hundred and fifty-nine with fifty-four admissions of which thirty-three were for operations.

Twenty-five alumnae have enjoyed the benefits of hospital care. The total days of hospitalization were four hundred and fifty-two and seven operations were performed.

We are particularly grateful to our staff physician, Dr. Holt, and to the many physicians and surgeons for their excellent care of our staff and alumnae.

With deep regret and sorrow we record the deaths of two staff members, Miss Elizabeth Cooper, head nurse in pediatrics, and Miss Marion Fisher, general staff nurse, and eight alumnae whose names follow:

Mrs. Etta J. Davenport, class of 1880

Miss L. M. Borick, class of 1882

Mrs. A. M. Flinn, nee Marie L. Nicolai, class of 1884

Mrs. John E. Nicholson, nee Mary Adams, class of 1885

Mrs. James H. Lewis, nee Florence I. Golding, class of 1905

Mrs. C. E. Breckenridge, nee Amelia C. Winants, class of 1908

Miss Ethel M. James, class of 1909

Mrs. L. O. Johnston, nee Grace N. Winship, class of 1916

In closing this brief report of our work we wish to acknowledge with sincere appreciation the coöperation given our school and service by members of the administrative and clinical staffs.

Respectfully submitted,

ANNA D. WOLF,

Director of the School of Nursing and Director of the Nursing Service.

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE COMMITTEES

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital.

GENTLEMEN:—I submit to you the 21st Annual Report of the work done by the Social Service Committee and Sub-Committees during the past year. Our Social Service workers have been extremely active. They have covered 12 clinics—which meant attending 5,093 sessions. They have made 3,482 visits to the homes and 5,566 visits to pavilion patients. The statistical report will give a fuller account than I can attempt to give here.

The number of families given clothing and temporary relief in the form of money, food orders and milk increased steadily—so much so that a special fund has been started by various members of our Committee for the care of the cases not eligible for direct or prolonged social service relief. The number of those referred to community agencies has also increased. Through two members of our Committee—Mrs. William Goadby Loew and Mrs. Clarence Hay—nine older boys and two young women were given special environmental care during the summer. The results were remarkable and thoroughly satisfied the doctors.

We feel that our follow-up work for Medical and Surgical Departments is of real value. It is often important to assure the return of a patient to the clinic at stated times. It is again often important to make home adjustments to enable a patient to enter the hospital. All this must be done by the social service worker. We aid the doctors in carrying out plans for supplementing diets. We endeavor to improve the patients' home conditions where necessary. We have been repeatedly asked to supply glasses, orthopedic shoes, false teeth and other appliances. We are glad to render whatever service we are equipped to provide.

I would like to say here that the work done by all members of our staff is worthy of mention. They have given unquestioned loyalty and coöperation, and they have carried on cheerfully through these difficult times.

Our Sub-Committees have shown most satisfactory results.

GIFT SHOP

Mrs. Malcolm Goodridge, Chairman, Mrs. Paul Dineen and Miss Louise Scott form the Gift Shop Committee. They have worked with tireless energy and their success has been outstanding. In less than a year they have paid off all their obligations and given a substantial sum to the Social Service. The shop is now self-supporting, a tribute to the ability of this very important committee. Mrs. Cunninghame, who has been in charge of the shop from the beginning, has now two full-time paid assistants. Several student nurses are also employed in their free time. Not only have the sales increased, but the shop has become a great convenience to the patients and to the personnel of the Hospital.

VOLUNTEER DEPARTMENT

Miss Celia Robinson, as Chairman, Miss Peck, Vice-Chairman, have accomplished a remarkable piece of work. In less than a year's time the number of volunteers has been almost doubled. There are 72 active volunteer workers equalling 18 full-time paid workers. Last May our Committee undertook the responsibility of a full-time paid secretary to the volunteers as it became necessary to have the office and telephone covered at all times during working hours. Throughout the summer a number of volunteers were forced to give up their work, but the service was kept up during this time by quite a number of college students who wished this experience.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE

Last fall, Mrs. Walter Jennings accepted the chairmanship of the Library Committee, Miss Mary Ryan having resigned this office. During the fall the library was reorganized and a new method established—the Dewey Decimal Classification System. Books were covered in different colors according to their classification and three new book trucks were added. The room is most attractive and visitors are always welcome on the five mornings of the week when the library is open. There are now 2500 books in circulation and we would appreciate further donations.

WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE

Mrs. William Goadby Loew, as Chairman, assisted by Mrs. Julius Walsh and a small committee, organized an entertainment for the benefit of the Social Service. It was given at the Waldorf-Astoria on December 9th, and called the County Fair Ball. It was a brilliant success and netted the Social Service about $12,000. Great praise should be given to Mrs. Loew and her committee, for it takes ability, work and much ingenuity to accomplish any such results.

MILK FUND

52,688 quarts of milk were dispensed during the year. This was made possible by the generosity and work of Mrs. Payne Whitney, who gave her annual fair at her home in Manhasset. One hundred families have been given milk daily, an increase of 10,000 quarts over that given last year.

CLOTHING COMMITTEE

Mrs. C. Morton Whitman has done yeoman work to obtain donations for our Clothes Closet. The response has been most gratifying. Special mention should be made of the articles donated by Miss Bowdoin—sweaters, mufflers and stockings. One hundred articles were donated by the Needlework Guild of America. The Junior Emergency Relief gave lavettes and girls' kits, and Mrs. Joseph C. Roper, a donation of shoes. These were of the greatest assistance, as well as the blankets and bedding donated by Mrs. Whitman.

COMMITTEE ON CHILDREN OF THE CARDIAC CLINIC

Mrs. Watson B. Dickerman, Chairman, Mrs. John R. Howard, Jr., Vice-Chairman. Mrs. Howard has given much time and thought to these children. The books and games distributed during that time have been a real factor in inducing the children to come to the Clinic. We are most grateful to Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Dickerman.

VISITING AND INFORMATION COMMITTEE

Mrs. Scoville Treadwell continued her work as Chairman, and also as our representative on the Board of the Lying-In Hospital.

SEWING AND SUPPLY COMMITTEE

Mrs. Charles Farr, Chairman. We are indebted to the Sewing and Supply Committee for the sum $125, to be used for the purchase of shoes for our Clinic children.

The Havens Relief Fund gave us a much appreciated donation. We would indeed be at a loss without that annual grant.

Our Pediatric social workers have had close association with the work of our Convalescent Hospital for Children. 613 children were sent during the year—that means—time and thought on the part of our workers and a great amount of coöperation at both ends. Miss Troup, Superintendent of the Convalescent Hospital, has given excellent care and supervision to these children and to her and her staff we wish to express our appreciation. Each child averaged a stay of 36 days. A decided improvement was evident in almost every case.

Fifteen medical students spent one-half day each in the Social Service Department. Eight student nurses spent two months in the Department, and 40 other student nurses spent considerable time in the Social Service office. Instructions were given them regarding the social and economic situation of patients in whom they were interested. The work with the student nurses has developed a feeling of close relationship with the School of Nursing through its Department of Public Health, and through the Supervisors of the Medical, Surgical and Pediatric out-patients. Our social service workers have found this contact valuable.

We have added a part-time assistant teacher to our staff—owing to the pressure of work brought on our Director. This, with the addition of our secretary for the volunteers, has entailed an increase of some $2,450 in our yearly budget for salaries.

The social service staffs of the Lying-In Hospital, and the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic, have met during the year with our social service staff. These meetings have been of mutual benefit.

We wish to express our appreciation to the Governors, the Medical Director and the Superintendent, for their counsel and their help. We hope to keep up the standard of efficiency so unflinchingly set by them.

Respectfully submitted,

ELSIE C. WOODWARD,

*Chairman, Social Service Committee,
New York Hospital.*

REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF UROLOGY

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I hereby submit a report of the activities of the Department of Urology (James Buchanan Brady Foundation) of the New York Hospital for the year 1933.

Ample quarters have been provided in the new buildings for the accommodation of the various activities of our Department. Thirty beds have been set aside for ward patients. These beds are arranged in groups of two and four, each one of which may be easily surrounded by a curtain, and each one of which is provided with suction apparatus. All necessary accessories for the proper care of sick persons, men, women or children are available.

Three roof gardens, capable of accommodating every patient on our floor are in constant use in fair weather as are also ample solaria which are useful in unfavorable weather.

Adjoining our wards is a room for visitors which is suitably furnished and which contains an excellent portrait of Mr. James Buchanan Brady, painted by Mr. George B. Shepard and presented to the Director.

The outpatient department located on the same floor, is provided with separate waiting room, history taking rooms and examination rooms for men and women so that both sexes may be cared for at the same time. A laboratory, nurses treatment room, sterilizing facilities, suitable instruments and heliotherapeutic devices are in constant use.

In addition, eight cystoscopic rooms amply provided with radiograph, dark room, laboratory, dressing rooms and toilets are in almost constant use.

A waiting room, rest room, operating room and lecture room complete the equipment on the ninth floor.

An entire floor has been assigned to our department for the care of private patients. Each bed is supplied with suction and every facility for the proper care of urological patients.

Two thoroughly equipped cystoscopic rooms solely for the use of private patients are available.

With the coöperation of Prof. George Heuer and Prof. Sweet, the members of our department have completed several important surgical experimental studies on animals. Prof. Stockard has been most generous in allowing the use of cadavers for dissections and operative surgery by members of our staff.

During the past 12 months the members of our staff have performed 366 urological operations, of these 119 were performed upon private patients. Cystoscopic examinations were performed upon 2,851 ward and clinic patients, 233 private cystoscopies were performed during this same period.

In the outpatient department 10,746 visits were made and suitable treatment carried out. This included men, women and children.

The following scientific papers were presented by members of our Staff:

Persons interested in our work have been most generous in sending money for the relief of suffering and the pursuit of knowledge to aid in our treatment of the sick.

Mr. Charles Wright has presented $6,500.00 to the Bessie Wright Memorial Fund, established by him many years ago. By means of this generosity much suffering has been alleviated and many persons cared for who would otherwise have been without treatment.

The Gustavus Lawrence Fund has contributed to the general activities of the Department and made much of our excellent care of patients possible.

Through the generosity of these friends much good has been accomplished and the scope of our activities increased.

In addition to the regular indoor staff of the Brady Foundation the Medical Corps of the United States Navy keeps one of its officers constantly in our department for special study, Dr. Kilbury was assigned to duty during the first half of the year and Dr. Topper from July 1st, 1933 to Jan. 1st, 1934. Drs. Guerra of Florida and Dr. Bell of Georgia have taken special work in our department.

The Urological section of the New York Academy of Medicine was entertained by the Staff of the Brady Foundation at a clinic in the Surgical amphitheatre on Feb. 15th, 1933 at which over one hundred and fifty visitors were present.

During the Winter months the members of our staff meet at dinner on the second Wednesday of the month, following this there is a demonstration of the interesting pyelograms taken during the preceding month. A report of the deaths and mistakes in diagnosis is then rendered by the resident urologist. A discussion of interesting cases is conducted. The pathologist presents gross and microscopic specimens studied.

Often distinguished urologists are invited to address the members of our staff and reports are rendered by our own members who have attended conventions.

During the past year members of the Staff of the Brady Foundation have had 183 Private patients in the Private Patient's Pavilion.

REPORT OF THE GENERAL PSYCHIATRIC DIRECTOR

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—The following is the annual report of the General Psychiatric Director for the year ending December 31st, 1933:—

During most of the year, the psychiatric work of the New York Hospital, and the organization and administration of the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic, which had been opened October 1st, 1932, engaged my attention almost entirely. A review of the activities of the Clinic is therefore presented.

An accurate estimate of the results of treatment is difficult to state. Of the patients discharged, however, 112 had been benefited; 13 were fully recovered, and the others of this group were sufficiently improved to return to their homes and, in most instances, to their former pursuits. Fifty-three patients seemed to be no better than when admitted, and one died. A considerable number were received for diagnosis and advice only concerning a long term problem, and some were suffering from incurable organic and terminal conditions. Seven of the patients were discharged to their own resources, 132 went to relatives or friends, 15 were transferred to Bloomingdale Hospital and 10 to other psychiatric hospitals. Twenty-three were removed from hospital care against advice, some of them disposed to suicide. The ignorance of relatives, and even of physicians, in regard to the imminent danger of suicide in certain types of cases creates a serious problem in psychiatric practice, especially in the admission, treatment, and discharge of hospital cases. The large majority of persons who commit suicide are suffering from depression from which they would, if treated, recover. A better and more effective understanding of the subject by physicians and the public would result in the saving of thousands of useful lives, and in the relief of much depression of spirits and unhappiness that now culminate in suicide.

Eighty-four per cent of the applications for the admission of patients to the Clinic were from New York State, 63.6 per cent being from the City. Half the applicants were referred by physicians in private practice, fifty by in-patient and out-patient departments of the New York Hospital, and the remainder by other hospitals, out-patient clinics, welfare agencies, and friends of patients, or they applied because they had read or heard about the service. In the admission of patients, the policy long pursued by the Society of the New York Hospital at Bloomingdale Hospital has been followed. The aim has been to supplement instead of duplicate the psychiatric service provided by the public hospitals.

The organization and operation of the various service and treatment departments of the Clinic made reasonably good progress during the year. Several changes and considerable retrenchment became necessary, however, and the psychiatric work and the Clinic have still far to go before their maximum development is reached.

CHILDREN'S SERVICE

It was, unfortunately, necessary temporarily to discontinue the in-patient service for children after June 30th. During the period of its operation from November 1932 to June 1933, the number of children admitted was 13, of which 9 were boys and 4 were girls. Their ages were from 2 to 15 years, with an average of $8\frac{1}{2}$. The average period of residence was 4 months. Children were referred to the Clinic by private physicians, schools, the department of pediatrics, social agencies, the Clinic out-patient service, and by parents. Numerous inquiries were received and only funds were needed to enable this important service to operate at full capacity. The types of problems presented were psychoneuroses, early schizophrenia, habit disorders, and behavior and learning difficulties. The value of this form of service, in close relations with pediatrics and with a service for adults, was clearly demonstrated, and its resumption, as soon as funds become available, is earnestly hoped for.

The out-patient service for children has, as shown above, been continued. Its close relationship with the pediatric service has proved most advantageous. This has, during the year, been augmented by the services of Dr. LaMar, who, by means of an appropriation from the Commonwealth Fund, has, since September, been occupied exclusively in psychiatric studies in coöperation with Dr. Schloss and his staff in the department of pediatrics.

The interest and generous coöperation of Mrs. Barklie Henry have permitted the continuance of the out-patient nursery school, under the direction of Miss Eaton, with its special opportunities for service, research, and teaching.

INTERDEPARTMENTAL ACTIVITIES

Psychiatric service was furnished to other in-patient and out-patient departments in the examination of 616 patients. Five members of the department of psychiatry have devoted the larger part of their time to this work. Also 442 patients (280 adults and 162 children) were referred from other departments for out-patient psychiatric treatment. Medical service has also been furnished to the Clinic by physicians from other departments in a large number of cases. In the out-patient service 135 patients were examined by physicians from the medical department, who visited the service regularly for the purpose. Internists, surgeons, and specialists have given a great deal of attention to patients in the in-patient service of the Clinic, but no complete record was kept. From the Clinic out-patient service, 266 patients were referred to other departments, 16 of whom were children. The clinical, nursing, social service, record, library, laboratory, radiology, dietary, accounting, purchasing, engineering, administration, and all other departments with which the Clinic has had relations, have been most coöperative and have contributed much to the performance and advancement of the work.

As the psychiatric development at the New York Hospital is an extension of a work in which the Society of the New York Hospital has always engaged, and of a highly organized department which has been long operated as Bloomingdale Hospital, it has been of great advantage, during the year, to have had the strong coöperation and support of Dr. Raynor and the Bloomingdale Hospital organization. The services of Dr. Jameison in the organization of the Clinic Medical Service, for which he was given three months' leave of absence by Dr. Raynor, were invaluable. Dr. Raynor and the heads of the departments at Bloomingdale have also, during the year, given most helpful advice and guidance in the development and administration of the service. Several of the physicians of the hospital staff are attending psychiatrists in the out-patient service of the Clinic, and some are instructors in the medical college. Further experience will determine the best lines to follow in developing activities and relationships for the advancement of the psychiatric work of the Society at the New York Hospital and at Bloomingdale Hospital. The work in the city is not yet well established, and the development of its organization, its service to patients and to the community, its relations with the various departments of the hospital, with outside agencies, and with the medical college and school of nursing will require much thought and effort. The advancement of the psychiatric work of the Society to the extent for which the way has now been opened, calls, however, for the further development and utilization of all the resources now possessed by the Society at Bloomingdale Hospital as well as at the New York Hospital.

TEACHING

Third year medical students received instruction during the year in the in-patient service of the Clinic, and fourth year students in the out-patient service. The work was carried on without noteworthy incident and seems to be developing satisfactorily. Student nurses have also, throughout the year, received instruction and practice in the in-patient and out-patient services, and in the occupational and physical therapy departments.

CONCLUSION

In the first fifteen months of its operation, the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic has received for treatment 255 patients, treatment was furnished to 1815 patients in the out-patient service, and 842 patients were examined and treatment advised in consultation with physicians in other services, making in all a total of 2912 persons to whom psychiatric service was furnished. This experience in the early period of its operation seems to indicate that, in extending its psychiatric service, the Society of the New York Hospital is supplying a real want in the community.

In closing, I wish to express to the members of the Clinic organization my admiration and gratitude for their loyalty and strong endeavor in a most trying period. Also to express my appreciation of the support and encouragement of your honorable Board.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM L. RUSSELL, M.D.,

General Psychiatric Director.

The types of cases received were not unlike those of recent years. The number of cases of organic brain disease was somewhat larger, amounting to 10.5 per cent of the total admissions.

Thirty of the patients admitted had received treatment at the Hospital on one or more previous occasions, and 54 had received treatment in other institutions. One hundred and sixty, 70 per cent of the admissions, presented histories of mental symptoms for less than one year.

The average age of the patients admitted was 41 for the men and 40 for the women. Eleven patients were under 20 years of age; 62, or 27 per cent, were under 30; and 114, or 50 per cent of the total admissions were under 40.

Seventy-five of the patients admitted had been educated in colleges or universities, and 106 in high schools.

The occupations of the patients admitted were principally professional and commercial. Thirty-four women were self-supporting. The remaining women were supported by their husbands or fathers who were either business or professional men.

Seventy-seven per cent of the patients made their own applications. This is in accordance with our experience of previous years. One patient who came to the Hospital under commitment later signed his own application as a voluntary patient. The policy that has been followed has been to resort to legal restriction only when it is clearly required to protect the patient and to furnish legal authority for detention that could not properly be dispensed with. In 17 cases it became necessary to place under commitment patients who had been received in the Hospital as voluntary cases.

DISCHARGES

The total number of patients discharged was 229 of whom 93 were men and 136 were women. Of this number 57 were fully recovered, 37 were much improved, and 71 improved. These 165 patients constituted 72 per cent of the total number discharged. Forty-nine were discharged without having improved. A number of the latter as well as those transferred to other institutions were cases which had been in the Hospital for a considerable period of time and were, in accordance with the policy of the Hospital, removed to make room for new admissions, or were cases received for examination and study for the purpose of advising their relatives in regard to their future care and treatment. Eleven were transferred to other institutions. Four, 0.8 per cent of the total number of patients treated, died.

The average period of treatment in the Hospital of those who were discharged as recovered was 8 months and 23 days; and of those improved 7 months and 3 days. Ten of the recovered cases had been in the Hospital a year or more, 3 for more than 2 years, and 1 for 3 years.

At the close of the year 55 who had left the Hospital during the year were still carried on visit. Most of these patients kept in touch with the physicians by visits to White Plains or to the New York Hospital. The visits of former patients to the New York Hospital were 200, and to Bloomingdale Hospital 278. This service is of great value to the patients in aiding them to complete their adjustments outside of the Hospital and to seek early advice in the event of any unfavorable symptoms. This service to our patients on visit as well as former patients has been furnished without charge. It consumes considerable of the time and adds much to the work of the physicians.

CLINICAL SERVICE

Regular staff conferences are held four days each week at which patients with their case records are presented for study and consideration.

Each week the Monday Evening Meeting is held. Topics of scientific interest, special studies, and current literature are presented for discussion. For these meetings regular programs are prepared and followed.

These seminars are most helpful and have contributed to the maintenance of the usual high standards in the clinical service.

Twice during the year conferences were held to which outside physicians were invited. The following programs, of interest to the physicians in general practice, were prepared for these meetings: "Suicide, a Medical Problem," and "Some Phases of Treatment in Bloomingdale Hospital."

The medical staff in addition to their regular duties devoted considerable time to the Out-Patient Department of the New York Hospital; to the educational work of the Hospital; and to consultations with patients who return to the Hospital or to our office at the New York Hospital for professional advice.

Members of the medical staff made addresses, and read and published papers as follows:

Dr. Raynor: The Psychiatric Approach of the Practitioner to His Patient, published in the Bulletin of the New York Academy of Medicine, March 1933;

Dr. Henry: Experimental Catatonia, read before the Discussion Club, Cornell University Medical College; Constitutional Factors in Psychosexual Development—A Comparative Study of the Heterosexual, Homosexual and Narcissistic Types of Adjustment, read before the Association for Research in Nervous and Mental Diseases; Physiological and Psychological Aspects of Homosexuality, read before the Research Society, Cornell University Medical College;

Dr. Henry and Dr. Galbraith: Psychogenic and Constitutional Factors in Homosexuality—Their Relation to Personality Disorders, read before the New York Psychiatric Society;

Dr. Henry and Dr. Kindwall: Wet Packs and Prolonged Baths—A Clinical Study of Reactions to These Forms of Therapy, read at the American Psychiatric Association;

Dr. Jameison and Dr. Henry: Mental Aspects of Brain Tumors in Psychotic Patients—A Study of Twenty-six Verified Cases, published in the Journal of Nervous and Mental Disease, October and November 1933;

Dr. Jameison and Dr. Wall: Some Psychiatric Aspects of Suicide, published in the Psychiatric Quarterly, April 1933;

Dr. Henry and Dr. Galbraith: The Constitutional Factors in Homosexuality, presented before the American Psychiatric Association;

Dr. Allen and Dr. Henry: The Relation of Menstruation to Personality Disorders, published in the American Journal of Psychiatry, Sept. 1933;

Dr. Jameison: Suicide, a Medical Problem, read before the New Rochelle Medical Society; the Chapter on Manic-depressive Psychoses, in the Cyclopedia of Medicine published by the F. A. Davis Company;

Dr. Wall: Notes on Gastrointestinal Functions, read before the New York Psychoanalytic Society.

Studies into the application of psychoanalysis to the treatment of severe neuroses and psychoses continued throughout the year.

The visiting internists from the New York Hospital examined all newly admitted patients, all patients developing physical illnesses during their Hospital residence, and saw them again on subsequent visits, and examined all X-ray films. The visiting gynecologist examined all newly admitted women patients, and the visiting urologist from the New York Hospital examined all newly admitted men patients; each upon subsequent visits saw those patients who required further attention from them. Dr. Knight and Dr. Moriarity examined the ears, nose and throat of each newly admitted patient; Dr. Moriarity likewise examined their eyes. Both carried out such subsequent examinations and treatments as were necessary. The regular attendance of the visiting physicians has been of great assistance in maintaining standards in the medical work of the Hospital. It is a pleasure to again express appreciation of the co-operation of the administrative, clinical, and laboratory staffs of the New York Hospital in dealing with various problems, and the kindly and skillful attention received by patients and employees who have been transferred to the New York Hospital for examination and treatment.

The consulting specialists have been called upon constantly and have responded promptly and furnished skillful service which has been of great advantage to the individual patients and the standards of the Hospital. As in previous years the Hospital has relied principally upon Dr. J. Fielding Black of White Plains for the general surgical work. He made 61 visits to patients during the year. Dr. Robert B. Hammond has given all anaesthetics required.

The surgical work required by patients during the year included 13 general surgical operations, 5 tonsillectomies, and 32 dental extractions under general anaesthesia. All the members of the visiting and consulting staffs have been most attentive and when circumstances required, have given their services with little or no charge. The total number of their visits was 854. Patients visited the private offices of specialists 39 times.

Dietary Department. In addition to preparing in a most satisfactory manner the regular meals for patients and Hospital personnel, this Department contributed directly in an important way to the treatment facilities of the Hospital. Special diets were prepared in the diet kitchen which is under the immediate charge of a trained dietitian. During the year a daily average of 338 portions were prepared for 74 patients. These varied from individual portions to complete meals and were prescribed by physicians for medical reasons.

Employees' Clinic. The physicians in attendance at the Clinic have continued to examine all new employees, and to treat all cases of injuries and sickness. The student nurses receive four physical examinations during their course. During the year 849 persons visited the Clinic 2123 times. There were 148 physical examinations and 163 X-rays for employees, and a considerable number of preventive treatments against typhoid fever, diphtheria, small-pox, etc. In addition to the above, 150 were treated in bed. The visiting and consulting specialists examined many cases and several were referred to general hospitals for treatment.

Dental Department. There has been no change in the Dental Department during the year. Dr. Sniffen has continued in charge and has kept his department on a high level of service to the patients. Dr. Sniffen is assisted by a dental hygienist and a chair assistant. All new patients are given a prophylactic treatment; X-rays are taken of all teeth; and the teeth are examined in connection with the reading of the films, a report of which is filed in each patient's case record. The number of new patients examined was 219, and 254 other patients were examined in accordance with the periodical system of examinations made of all patients. The total number of times patients were seen in the dental office and on the halls was 3098. A total number of operations and dental procedures was 4424.

LABORATORIES

There has been an increase in the amount and variety of work done in the clinical and X-ray laboratories during the year. There were 11,881 examinations made in the clinical laboratory and 747 in the X-ray laboratory.

THE NURSING SERVICE

The nursing service has been maintained throughout the year on a satisfactory level of proficiency. Our nurses, because of their special studies and experience, are able to understand the personalities of the patients and to observe and interpret their symptoms and reactions. They are also able to carry out the many psychiatric nursing procedures necessary to the patients' comfort and treatment.

The coordination of the many psychiatric treatments prescribed by the physicians is important and the nurses necessarily have to work in close association with the medical staff in establishing and maintaining schedules of treatment which are so important in effectively bringing about a restoration of health.

The nursing service gave 4,129 prolonged baths, and 9,231 therapeutic packs during the year.

OCCUPATIONAL AND PHYSICAL THERAPY DEPARTMENTS

Occupational Therapy is one of the most valuable therapeutic measures available to the Hospital. The Hospital is fortunate in having two well planned and equipped buildings in which to carry on this form of treatment. All patients, their condition permitting, go to these special buildings for regular periods each day. For those patients who are unable to go to the special buildings, definite hours are arranged when the personnel of these Departments visit the halls. There are few patients who do not have the advantage of this form of treatment. The total number of patients treated during the year was 446, of whom 202 were men and 244 were women. This number constitutes 91 per cent of the total patients treated at the Hospital. Gardening and other outdoor occupations such as care of the lawns, game fields and courts, were engaged in, in addition to the arts and crafts. Many of the patients carried on as hobbies, and a few as a means of support after leaving the Hospital, crafts in which they were trained while under treatment. It is found that the actual accomplishment of some worth while piece of work gives the best results in this form of treatment.

Both Men's and Women's Physical Education Departments have been active during the year. Organized physical recreation and rehabilitation have continued throughout the year on a high plane, especially during the winter because of the resources provided for by the gymnasias. Individual attention in recreations and corrective exercises have been freely given whenever the need presented itself.

These Departments have also been in charge of the entertainments and organized social life of the patients. The maintenance of a suitable social environment and well directed social and recreational contacts with opportunities for participation in events is essential to treatment which is aimed to bring about social adjustment. This is regarded as one of the very important features of the therapeutic resources of the Hospital.

The total number of patients enrolled in the Department of Physical Education was 319, of whom 182 were men and 137 were women. Details of the activities of these Departments may be found in the appended tables.

The resources of the Departments were made available to the employees of the Hospital and were used extensively.

Massage, hydrotherapy, and other forms of physiotherapy were employed. The total number of treatments given to patients were 38,430. The table at the end of this report will show both the variety of treatments and the number of patients receiving these various treatments.

YORK LODGE

York Lodge, a large cottage with generous grounds and a bathing beach, is located at the foot of Rushmore Avenue, Orienta Point, Mamaroneck. The cottage accommodates 12 patients. It has a spacious lounging room, a reading and writing room, a broad porch and attached bath houses. On the grounds are a tennis court and provision for outdoor games. A large recreation room for indoor games and dancing is available for use in inclement weather. The homelike atmosphere, the relaxation and pleasure derived from salt water bathing and the seashore, have contributed a great deal to the improvement of many patients. York Lodge is available to patients from the Hospital from late in the Spring until early in the Fall. Stated periods are allotted to men and to women. It is also available during the winter months by special arrangement. Patients while at York Lodge continue under the treatment of the physicians and nurses of the Hospital medical and nursing staffs. A total of 49 patients enjoyed the benefits of the Lodge during the summer. In addition parties of patients visited York Lodge each day but Sunday. Lunch was served on the veranda and the patients had opportunity to go in swimming. There were 83 day parties providing 891 outings for 155 patients. The patients enjoyed these outings very much. York Lodge contributed a great deal to the pleasure of the patients and may be looked upon as one of the treatment resources of the Hospital.

EDUCATIONAL WORK

The educational work carried on at the Hospital continues to merit some comment and is important enough to refer to each year. This very important part of the work done at the Hospital is directed to the training of physicians, nurses, occupational therapists, physical education aides, dietitians, and housekeepers. Aside from two instructors employed in the Nursing Department solely for teaching, all the educational work is carried on by the physicians and directors and their assistants of departments in connection with their regular duties in the treatment of patients and the administration of the Hospital. The advantages to the services of the Hospital are very great in building up and maintaining standards. The time is looked forward to when this work can be better organized and receive definite support.

Two positions on the medical staff are available to physicians, meeting the requirements, for study and training in psychiatry. One physician studied for 5 months in the X-ray and Clinical Laboratory Departments of the New York Hospital. Since the opening of the new building of the New York Hospital and its association with the Medical College of Cornell University, 7 members of the medical staff have given a half day each week to the Out-Patient Department of the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic. Five of these physicians are instructors in Psychiatry at the Medical College. The Medical Director is Professor of Clinical Psychiatry at the Medical College, and Consultant in Psychiatry to the New York Hospital.

The four staff conferences held weekly at which cases are presented, the Monday evening conferences for the discussion of scientific subjects and the review of current literature, and the conferences held with the visiting and consulting staffs, all have an educational value to the physicians. An excellent medical library is kept up to date with new books and files of important periodicals. Likewise a special library is maintained for the nursing staff. Periodicals and books are provided for the other departments.

The School of Nursing is registered by the Regents of the University of the State of New York. All graduates are eligible for the qualification of R.N. granted by the Regents. The course is of three years' duration, 15 months of which are spent by the women at the New York Hospital and 12 months by the men at Grasslands Hospital. This year 149 students received instruction, of whom 65 were undergraduate students, 63 affiliated students, and 21 post-graduates. One student was awarded the Floyd-Jones Scholarship in Nursing Education. The educational level of the students has risen. Notwithstanding the apparent oversupply of general nurses there continues to be a shortage of well trained psychiatric nurses.

The Westchester Central School of Nursing in which the Mount Vernon Hospital has united with Bloomingdale Hospital in the employment of a highly qualified instructor, is conducted in the Nurses Educational Building of the Hospital. No charge is made for the use of the building and its equipment. Sixty-nine students were enrolled this year. For further details the report of the School of Nursing which is appended may be referred to.

In the Department of Dietetics 53 students were given instruction. Four were student dietitians, and 49 were nurses. This instruction was both theoretical in the diet laboratory and practical in the special diet kitchen.

Two women and 1 man occupational therapists took the special course in Occupational Therapy offered by the Hospital. The Departments of Occupational Therapy also gave instruction to 79 nurses in training in the Hospital.

Instruction in the employment of physical exercises, games and sports, and social entertainments, in the treatment of the sick, was given to 89 student nurses.

The librarian gave 5 lectures to 85 nurses in the School of Nursing on the selection of books and the value of literature in the treatment of psychiatric disorders.

The educational work of the Hospital has been carried on over a number of years. It has increased each year and has demonstrated its value to the Hospital and the community.

IMPROVEMENTS IN PLANT AND EQUIPMENT

Last year work was begun on the development of an additional water supply for the Hospital. This work, including a reservoir, pumps, pressure tank, and chlorinating apparatus, was completed this year at a total cost of $24,000. The water supply now available is sufficient to meet all our present needs and additional requirements for several years to come.

Hall G was rewired, and fire alarm signals were installed in Halls G, B, I and M.

Late in the year work was started on the new walks and roads on the south side of the property. The amount expended was $610.

NEEDS

A discussion of the needs of the Hospital this year is important in view of the prevailing economic situation. Reorganization of some of the Hospital services has been made. Special funds should be provided for certain activities of the Hospital which ought not to be a direct charge on the receipts derived from the care of patients. Among these activities is the educational work of the Hospital including the School of Nursing, and the more intensive and liberal training of members of the medical staff.

It has been the tradition of the Hospital for more than the century of its existence that no person, otherwise suitable, be refused admission because of temporary lack of funds if accommodations are available. In keeping with this tradition it would appear to be highly desirable for the Hospital to have the support of additional special funds, such as the John C. Green Memorial Fund the income of which would be applied to the support of worthy patients whose friends are unable to reimburse the Hospital in whole or in part for their treatment.

It is desirable that the number of patients admitted to the Hospital be increased and thereby augment the Hospital income. Certain of the overhead fixed charges would be apportioned over a greater number of patients and the relative cost to the Hospital would be reduced.

In considering the needs of the Hospital they may be looked upon as those which are required to modernize both the accommodations and the equipment; to round out the facilities which have not yet been fully provided for; to provide for continued development to meet the needs of the community, and to continue the scientific and educational work of the Hospital.

Both the men and the women patients now have to use the Women's Hydrotherapy which is inadequate for the women alone. As a consequence the work of the Hydrotherapy Department has had to be seriously curtailed. It is recommended that means be found to provide for these necessary improvements.

It is recommended that the renovation, rewiring, and refurnishing of the halls be continued until completed.

Funds are needed for relocating the general library and enlarging the medical library. It would also be highly desirable that funds be set aside, the income from which could be used for the purchase of books. The general library is seriously in need of $1000 for the purchase of new books.

New elevators are urgently needed.

The halls in the main building could with advantage be reduced in capacity. Rooms on each hall are needed for examining rooms, nurses' offices, and private baths. To provide for this improvement additional cottages would have to be constructed. This would also provide increased facilities for classification, which is desirable.

There continues to be a considerable need for extensive renewals occasioned by depreciation. The bakery is in need of renovation and a new oven. Much of the laundry machinery should be replaced. The pond is gradually filling up and should be cleaned out. The use of pond water for the boilers and laundry results in considerable saving to the Hospital.

Funds are needed for the completion of the new walks and roads. Relocating the golf course, and providing more game fields are desirable and should be considered.

The tentative programs submitted to the Bloomingtondale Committee in 1927 and 1928 of the developments to meet present and future needs of the Hospital are again referred to for consideration.

A house for men nurses is much needed.

It seems highly desirable that the group of houses for the nursing staff of which the Student Nurses House is the first be completed. It is believed that these houses would do much toward stabilizing our nursing staff. Rooms on some of the halls continue to be occupied by nurses. The release of this space for additional patients and for examining and treatment rooms would be of advantage.

Cottages for the treatment of cases of early and mild neuroses, also for the study and treatment of unstable and problem children, are developments which should be given additional study.

The Bloomingtondale Committee is conversant with the many needs of the Hospital which have not been specifically mentioned in this report. Appropriations have been promptly made by your Board when recommended by the Committee whenever funds were available. Constant effort has been made to maintain the entire plant in such condition that the services of the Hospital would not be impaired. The continued maintenance of the service of the Hospital requires that the demands of progress in the medical sciences generally and in psychiatry in particular be met and kept abreast of.

A review of the reports of the Hospital will show the gradual improvement of the medical service at Bloomingtondale and that each year more serious studies have been made and presented before scientific societies.

These studies have been published and accepted favorably by the profession. It therefore seems desirable that special Residents in Psychiatry be provided for and established to further stimulate and develop this very important work.

The need continues, in the Women's Department, for the projected acute building. The plans are completed and it is hoped that it can be built in the near future.

FINANCIAL

The cost of maintenance decreased nearly 9 per cent over the previous year owing to the lower cost of supplies and pay roll reductions. The total expenditure for ordinary maintenance and care and treatment of patients was $651,241.54, or $62,858.46 less than during the previous year. This includes the maintenance of the properties at White Plains and Orienta Point; ordinary repairs and renewals; insurance except against fire; supplies, nursing and other study and treatment services; the educational work engaged in; salaries and wages; and all other running expenses. Capital charges and the cost of extraordinary renewals and improvements for which no provision was made in the budget and for which special appropriations were received, are not included.

Because of the decreased income of the Hospital, it has been necessary to effect reorganization of most of the departments of the Hospital. Repairs and desirable improvements have been postponed and wages and salaries have been reduced. It has been possible by these methods to effect considerable saving without infringing upon or impairing the standard of care and treatment of patients.

Of the 492 cases treated during the year, 290 were wholly or partially supported by the Society. The number treated without charge was 22, and 268 paid rates that were less than the average cost. The expense borne by the Society in the treatment of these cases amounted to $183,457.90, which was the equivalent of 66 free beds or 24,090 free days throughout the year. The number of days' board and treatment was 84,105.

The income of the John C. Green Memorial Fund, amounting to $8340.49, was, in accordance with the terms of the Memorial, applied to the support of 4 women patients.

The Hospital at the close of the year had a large deficit.

In addition to the above the Hospital expended $27,152.22 for maintenance not provided for in the budget and for extraordinary improvements.

Libraries. The report of the librarian shows that 409 volumes of which 239 were gifts, were added to the libraries during the year. Of these, 189 books were added to the general library, and 157 new books and 38 bound volumes of journals were added to the medical library. Three hundred and two books were withdrawn from the general library. Sixty-eight general magazines (44 titles) and 45 medical journals of which 7 are in foreign languages, were received. The distribution for the general library was 23,489 of which 15,367 were issued to patients, 8047 to the men and 7320 to the women; and 8122 to employees. No figures are kept showing the use of the medical library. All of the medical journals are bound and are available for reference. The general library contains 4520 volumes, and the medical library and that of the School of Nursing 4942, making a total of 9462 volumes.

Acknowledgments and Gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Barklie Henry presented the Hospital with $1000 with which to experiment with a new type of window screen to replace the present screens and window guards.

Mr. Henry G. Barbey presented the Hospital with a new topographical map of the Hospital property.

Miss Jennie Lea Southwick presented the Hospital with a portrait of her uncle, Dr. Pliny Earle, Superintendent of this Hospital 1844-49.

A friend gave $500 to be used for the general purposes of the Hospital.

Many friends of patients have signified their appreciation of the service rendered to patients in whom they were interested by giving liberally to the Nurses' Entertainment Fund.

Religious Services. Since 1819 religious services have been conducted on Sunday afternoons. The Reverend Thomas F. Watkins of The White Plains Presbyterian Church was good enough to conduct the services during January and February. Since March the Reverend Reginald Mallett, Rector of Grace Church, White Plains, has conducted the services. These services were much appreciated and a source of comfort to those who attended. The Reverend Father Joseph C. Fleming and his assistants, the Reverend Father Francis X. Scott and the Reverend Father John D. McGowan of St. John's Church, and the Reverend Father Patrick Mackin and his assistant, the Reverend Father John Reagan of the Gedney Farms Roman Catholic Church, White Plains, have been most faithful in attending to the religious comfort of the Catholic patients.

Items of Interest. Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Barklie Henry a Survey, Analysis and Plan to Improve Public Opinion of Bloomingtondale Hospital and of Mental Hospitals in General was prepared.

The Medical Society of the County of Westchester held its annual meeting at the Hospital on November 21st.

The Governors established the Pliny Earle Residency in Psychiatry for the purpose of giving recognition to the scientific work done at the Hospital by Dr. Earle, and also to encourage the further advancement of psychotherapy.

Drs. Allen, Sprague, and Wall were appointed Instructors in Psychiatry at Cornell University Medical College.

Dr. Jameison was appointed Visiting Physician to the New York Hospital. He spent three months in the Spring at the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic organizing the medical work. Later in the year he spent two weeks at the Clinic.

Dr. Harry M. Tiebout of the Payne Whitney Clinic spent three months in the Spring at Bloomingtondale.

Visitors. The number of visitors to patients during the year was 13,484.

Resident Medical Staff. Dr. Hollis E. Clow was appointed an Assistant Resident Physician on January 2nd.

Dr. Edwin J. Doty was appointed an Assistant Resident Physician on August 1st.

Dr. Robert O. Willmott resigned August 31st on the completion of two years' service.

Dr. Hamlin A. Starks resigned September 30th on the completion of three years' service.

Dr. Gerald R. Jameison was appointed Director of Clinical Psychiatry in October. He will also continue with his duties as Physician in Charge of the Women's Department.

Dr. Edward B. Allen was appointed Senior Resident Physician.

Dr. James H. Wall was appointed Pliny Earle Resident in Psychiatry.

It is a pleasure to express my appreciation to the physicians, nurses, and those in the special departments, the executives, and the employees of the Hospital for their devotion to their duties and the standards of the Hospital and their loyal assistance throughout the year. Without their interest and assistance the economies instituted could not have been so successful. I wish to thank Dr. Russell for the continuation of our pleasant association.

It is with deep regret that I record the retirement from the Bloomingtondale Committee in December 1932 of Mr. Howard Townsend. While Vice-President and President of the Society Mr. Townsend served as an ex-officio and as an elected member of the Committee for a period of twenty-eight years. His encouragement and helpful advice have been much appreciated.

Bloomingtondale Hospital suffered a great loss in the death early in the year of Mr. Walter Jennings who for seventeen years had been a Governor of the Society, and a member of the Bloomingtondale Committee for sixteen years. Mr. Jennings, always interested in the advancement of the Hospital, was a generous and helpful friend. As a patron of the libraries he will always be especially remembered by those who appreciate and delight in books.

This year marks the one hundred and forty-first year of uninterrupted treatment of mental disorders by the New York Hospital, and the one hundred and thirteenth year in which this has been carried on at Bloomingtondale Hospital. It is a pleasure to record that although the Hospital is going through a trying economic period, the standards of the treatment of patients have been maintained.

For the generous support and encouragement and for the wise counsel which have been given me so fully at all times, I am greatly indebted to your Honorable Board and the Bloomingtondale Committee.

Respectfully submitted,

MORTIMER W. RAYNOR,

Medical Director.

ANNUAL REPORT—SCHOOL OF NURSING

From the year 1923 on, studies on nursing schools and nursing in institutions show an alarming overproduction and greatly decreased demand of services offered, and there are grave conditions of unemployment in the field of general nursing although there is a dearth of psychiatric nurses. A question has arisen as to whether we should devote our facilities only to preparing the graduates and undergraduates of general hospitals for psychiatric nursing. Studies made here show that our post-graduates after the completion of the six months' course are holding satisfactory positions in the psychiatric field.

The following changes have been made during the year in the undergraduate course: extension of the preliminary period to $7\frac{1}{2}$ months; the admission of one instead of two classes a year; payment of entrance fees; and the rearrangement of subject matter in some courses without great increase in hours.

The regular six months' post-graduate course has been lengthened to nine months providing additional experience in the social service and out-patient departments of the New York Hospital. The post-graduate head nurse course given in conjunction with Teachers College, Columbia University, has been discontinued.

The New York Hospital School of Nursing has discontinued its affiliation at Bloomingdale, and the Mount Vernon Hospital School of Nursing now sends its students for three months' affiliation in psychiatric nursing. The New Rochelle and White Plains Hospital Schools have withdrawn from the Westchester Central School of Nursing, the Mount Vernon and Bloomingdale Hospital Schools now comprising this School. The Floyd-Jones Scholarship for a year's study at Teachers College, Columbia University, was awarded to Miss Helen McKey, class of 1931. Nine students, 7 men and 2 women, graduated from the School of Nursing on April 29th.

In summary we have given instruction to 65 undergraduates, 21 post-graduates, and 63 affiliated nurses during the year. We have maintained service to all patients in a manner that is most helpful therapeutically.

Respectfully submitted,

ELOISE SHIELDS,

Director of Nursing.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE CONVALESCENT HOSPITAL FOR CHILDREN

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—The twenty-sixth annual report of The Society of the New York Convalescent Hospital for Children is herewith respectfully submitted:

During the twenty-six years of its service to the public this institution has cared for over 20,500 children, and it has seemed particularly fortunate that you made it possible to carry on this good work during the past year of widespread distress and dire want. We know that the majority of our patients have come from sadly stricken homes and it certainly has been gratifying to be able to minister to their physical needs and to watch them learn to laugh and play.

The hospital days for 1933 totaled 28,172. All but 42 of the 714 admissions were definitely improved by the bracing air of Westchester County and the bountiful, nourishing food, happy atmosphere and competent care provided for them. The average gain in weight did not increase in proportion to the average length of stay, but the fact that so many children were definitely under-nourished on admission accounted for retarded improvement and necessitated a slow, patient process of building their little bodies up to the gaining point. An effort has been made to improve the lasting quality of the treatment given by increasing the length of stay rather than admitting a larger number of cases for short periods.

In May, through the interest and coöperation of Dr. Robinson and Dr. Johnson, the facilities of the New York Hospital dental department and the services of a dentist were made available on one morning a week. The organization of this clinic has added another definite value to our work for which we are most grateful.

In June a representative of the State of New York Department of Social Welfare inspected the hospital and the ensuing report from that department submitted the following classification: Plant—Class I, Administration—Class I.

An anonymous donation of $600 made possible the purchase of very attractive new china of a distinctive children's design. This lovely gift has greatly enhanced the appearance of the dining room and will be a source of great pleasure to our little guests for many years to come.

Donations of games, balls, books and clothing are always welcome and appreciated and I want to thank again those friends who have so thoughtfully and generously contributed to the children's welfare and happiness and who made their Christmas a truly happy, merry day.

We are greatly indebted to the New York Hospital Social Service Department for so faithfully carrying on our admitting work; to the general and laboratory staffs of Bloomingdale Hospital and New York Hospital for their willing assistance and many courtesies; and to Dr. Schloss and his staff for their interest and coöperation.

To your Honorable Board and Bloomingdale Committee I tender my sincere appreciation for your unfailing, helpful advice and generous support.

Respectfully submitted,

MARIE L. TROUP,

Superintendent.

REPORT OF THE CHILDREN'S CLINIC FOR 1933

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—The existence of a separate unit of New York Hospital devoted to the care of children was rendered possible by the utilization of funds derived from the Manhattan Maternity Hospital. It seemed to the Board of Governors of the Manhattan Maternity Hospital that the activities of their hospital could be assumed and carried on to greater advantage in connection with a well rounded hospital group with no loss to the community and with the possibility of contributing more directly to medical education. It was thus possible for the Woman's Clinic and the Children's Clinic of New York Hospital working in close association to assume the work of the Manhattan Maternity Hospital with both women and infants.

The volume of work carried on by the Children's Clinic in 1933 showed considerable increase when compared to the four months of 1932. This applies both to the Pavilions and to the Out-Patient Department.

Early in the year the Out-Patient Department ran at full capacity and all of the available space was used during the general clinic hours in the morning. In this period each physician sees six to seven patients. At times it was necessary to make appointments a week to ten days in advance but all applicants who were acutely ill were seen without delay by two members of the house staff assigned to such service.

There were 27,444 visits to the Out-Patient Department during the year, these being made by 6,148 children of which 5,130 were new patients and 1,018 old patients. There were 8,369 visits to the special clinics divided as follows:

	Individuals	Visits
Allergy.....	215	1,952
Cardiac.....	258	1,940
Endocrine.....	68	276
Luetic.....	47	583
Prophylactic.....	466	1,628
Well Baby.....	440	1,990

Seven hundred eighty-seven patients were cared for in the Pavilions during the year. At no time have all beds been occupied, but the average daily census has increased gradually, and it is probable that within a short time the pavilion service will be operating at capacity. The pavilion service offers little of unusual interest beyond the fact that we now have sufficient clinical material to do all teaching here. Last year it was necessary to send some of the third year students to the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital for clinical instruction.

The air conditioned rooms used for premature infants have proved very satisfactory. During the year, 106 premature infants were cared for with an uncorrected total mortality of 36 per cent. Twenty-two of the fatalities occurred within forty-eight hours after admission and were due to extreme prematurity or some congenital anomaly or neo-natal disease incompatible with life. If one excludes these cases, the mortality is reduced to 15 per cent.

On the whole, the service has shown a satisfactory progress during 1933 and with this as a foundation the sphere of usefulness of the clinic can be broadened and its activities extended.

Respectfully submitted,

OSCAR M. SCHLOSS, M.D.

WEST FIFTEENTH STREET FRONT—COMPLETED 1877

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
GOVERNORS OF THE SOCIETY OF THE NEW YORK
HOSPITAL FOR THE YEAR 1934

In conformity with the provisions of its Charter, granted by Royal Authority June 13, 1771, in the reign of King George III, the Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital present to the Legislature of the State of New York their annual report and a statement showing the receipts and expenditures for the year 1934 of the several institutions under their control and management as follows:

The General Hospital at 525 East 68th Street, New York, which is hereinafter called the New York Hospital, the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic, the Pediatric Clinic, the Society of the Lying-In Hospital, the Manhattan Maternity and Dispensary, the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital, the Department for the treatment of mental diseases, known as Bloomingdale Hospital at White Plains, Westchester County, and the Hospital for Convalescent Children at White Plains.

On February 14th, 1934, Mr. Edward Wright Sheldon, Governor since 1906 and President since 1919, died. Through his untiring efforts the present Hospital came into existence.

On March 6, 1934, Mr. John R. Howard, Jr., resigned as Superintendent. He had held office since the occupancy of the new building and had accomplished much in its organization and co-ordination.

On October 1, 1934, Dr. G. Canby Robinson, who had faithfully served the Hospital for eight years as Director, resigned. Due to his foresight and planning we now have the present magnificent building. He gathered around him an able Faculty.

On September 25, 1934, the Medical Board consisting of

Dr. Henricus J. Stander, Chairman

Dr. Eugene F. DuBois

Dr. Walter L. Niles

Dr. George J. Heuer

Dr. Eugene H. Pool

Dr. Samuel Z. Levine

was organized to have charge of the professional activities of the Hospital. They have functioned since October 1st with great skill and effectiveness. We are all much indebted to each member of this Board for careful and efficient work in the solution of the many intricate professional questions which have arisen during that time.

It gives me great pleasure to express to the Ladies who have given so much of their time voluntarily to the Hospital work the appreciation of the Board and all of those connected with the Hospital. Much of this work has been done at real personal sacrifice. It has been effective and has resulted in substantial saving to the Hospital.

In the month of October it became apparent to the Board of the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital that it would be necessary to close the Hospital for lack of funds. An arrangement was made whereby its remaining assets were made available for this Hospital to carry on its work. This has resulted in strengthening the New York Hospital.

During the year the Hospital buildings on West 16th Street running through to 15th Street have been demolished. Some of these were built in the seventies and so well built that it became necessary to blast the walls to remove them. A three and four story tax paying apartment will be built on the property. Also the buildings of the Manhattan Maternity and Dispensary, including the tenements owned by it, have been demolished.

On December 31, 1934, Mr. Murray Sargent became the Executive Director of the Hospital. We consider ourselves fortunate in having secured his services in the administration of the Hospital.

Since the last annual report Miss Mary Gardiner Thompson has again repeated her generous annual gift of $15,000 to be used in meeting special needs of the Hospital.

Mrs. Barklie McKee Henry has continued her subscriptions towards Endocrine Research the total receipts for the year being $15,759.34.

New legacies to the Hospital have been reported during the year as follows:

Under the will of Edward Wright Sheldon, who died February 14, 1934, the Hospital receives $100,000.

Under the will of Isabel M. Towar, who died July 10, 1934, the Hospital is named as residuary legatee.

Of the legacies mentioned in previous reports the following amounts have been received.

Under the will of Pauline Dennerlein, $26,010.22.

Under the will of Helen Jay Garretson, $5,000.

Under the will of William Crawford, $17,231.25.

Under the will of Edward G. Kennedy, $41,607.83.

Under the will of Max Davidson, $45.00.

WILSON M. POWELL,

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE MEDICAL BOARD

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I have the honor to present herewith the report on professional activities of the Hospital for the year 1934.

During the past year we saw important changes in two of the major divisions of the Hospital: the Administrative and Professional. Mr. Murray Sargent was appointed Executive Director of the New York Hospital and took over the executive administration of the Hospital. Furthermore, in order to secure the necessary coordination between the various professional departments and sub-departments in the Hospital, the Board of Governors of the New York Hospital created the Medical Board which is responsible for the professional conduct of the Hospital. The Assistant to the President of the Board of Governors, and the Dean of the Cornell University Medical College, attend all meetings in an advisory capacity and without vote.

The Medical Board has the responsibility of making recommendations to the proper authorities if patients are not receiving the proper care and consideration in any department of the Hospital. A Medical Advisory Committee has charge of the professional activities of the Out Patient Department, and it reports directly to the Medical Board through its Chairman. The Director of the Out Patient Department functions under the jurisdiction of the Medical Advisory Committee on professional matters and under the Executive Officer of the Hospital, on administrative matters.

In the Department of Medicine it has become necessary to make careful plans so that the limited number of beds may be of maximum service to the profession and to the community at large. This department needs more pavilion beds in order that there may be a proper balance between the clinical departments. It is hoped that within the near future the unopened floors in the Main Building may be placed at the disposal of the Department of Medicine. At present the pavilions are chiefly a place for the intensive study that is not possible outside of the hospital and also for the treatment of patients who are too ill to be cared for in their homes. The dispensary is staffed largely by practicing physicians of this city who volunteer their services.

On the Medical pavilions and in the Out Patient Department the part-time practitioners and the full-time men who devote their whole day to the hospital work serve on terms of equality and cooperate most satisfactorily.

One of the most important sub-departments is the pulmonary clinic which has charge of all the tuberculosis work in the district assigned to us by the City. This clinic is increasing rapidly in size and is being used as a place for the training of specialists. It is receiving financial support from the International Health Board, but it needs more funds in order to obtain bed care for tuberculosis patients.

The sub-departments of Neurology and Dermatology are working as integral parts of the Department of Medicine and are fitting in very well. Neurology has an unusually large and active consultation service. Dermatology conducts very active Out Patient Department clinics, where a large number of intravenous treatments are being given.

Affiliated with the Department of Medicine is the Russell Sage Institute of Pathology which is conducting research in diseases of metabolism and the problems connected with fever and the regulation of body temperature. The Henry Research Fund also associated with the department has been established through the generosity of Mrs. Barklie Henry for the study of endocrinology. Both of these research funds combine laboratory investigation with the intensive study of patients.

During the year ending September 1, 1934, 2907 patients were admitted to the Surgical pavilions. A total of 2645 operations were performed with 71 deaths, an operative mortality of 2.6 per cent, a case mortality of 2.7 per cent. These figures represent an increase in the patients admitted for treatment over the previous year of 46.6 per cent and an increase in the number of operations performed on pavilion patients of 50 per cent. With this there has been an increase in the emergency surgical operations of 130 per cent. Whereas in the year 1932-1933, 90 per cent of the patients admitted to the surgical pavilions were admitted through the Out Patient Department or Accident Service, during the past year 75 per cent were admitted through these channels, the remaining 25 per cent include patients recommended directly by outside physicians, readmission of former patients, nurses, medical students, employees, and transfers from other hospital services. Patients admitted through the accident service increased 235 per cent over the previous year.

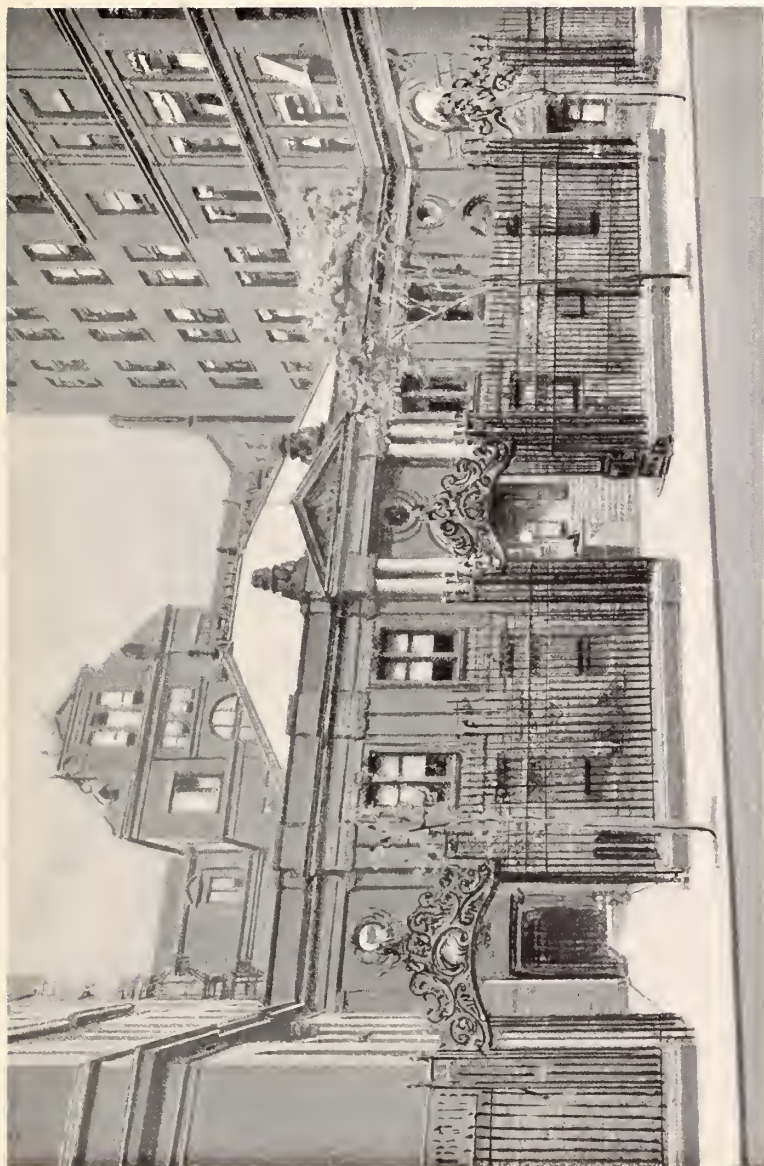

During the year one additional pavilion of 58 beds for general surgery and surgical specialties was opened. This has necessitated an increase in the staff in the operating room, in anesthesia, and in the laboratory, and the appointment of four additional internes to the House Staff.

Two hundred patients were admitted to the sub-department of Urology, as compared with 85 during the preceding year. 173 urologic operations were performed on 143 of these patients with 6 post-operative deaths, an operative mortality of 3.4 per cent and a case mortality of 4.2 per cent. Two additional patients died in the hospital.

The number of urological cases treated in the Brady Foundation was 397, of which 350, or 86 per cent were operative. In the Out Patient clinics of this department the attendance has increased, 11,431 cases having been received during the past year. Mr. Charles Wright has continued his generous support of the Bessie Wright Memorial Fund, established by him in memory of his mother, for the care of destitute persons suffering from cancer of the genito-urinary tracts.

During the major part of the year the sub-department of Otolaryngology has continued to function without specified pavilion beds, patients being admitted to the semi-private beds, and to the pavilions of general surgery, medicine and pediatrics. 462 patients were so admitted and operated upon with one death after mastoidectomy in a child with mastoiditis and extensive lateral sinus thrombosis. On October 1, 1934, ten beds were opened for Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology.

The activities of the Ophthalmological sub-department were largely confined to the Out Patient Department, but the members of this sub-department performed valuable service in visiting the hospital pavilions in the various clinical departments. Certain pavilion beds are now assigned to Ophthalmology.

THE NEW YORK HOSPITAL
WEST SIXTEENTH STREET FRONT

During the past year the sub-department of Orthopedic Surgery has continued to function in the Out Patient Department where 1549 new patients were admitted. The total number of visits to the Orthopedic Out Patient Clinics are 5417. On October 1, 1934, ten beds were opened to the Orthopedic Service, and since then have been actively occupied.

The Accident Service continues to offer to the Community a 24-hour service, receiving and attending to accident cases at all times. During the year 3852 patients were given accident or emergency treatment and 653 additional patients presented themselves for examination. The total of 4505 represent an increase of 51 per cent over the preceding year.

The sub-department of Dentistry conducted an Out Patient Clinic where 1466 visits were made during the past year. This department gave dental service to 432 hospital patients. One of the important functions of this department has been to examine the teeth and mouths of pavilion patients, and correct any infections before operation.

In the laboratory of Surgical Pathology a total of 2525 pathological specimens were examined, representing an increase over the previous year of 53 per cent.

During the year, 754 patients were treated in the pavilions of the Children's Clinic and 6,577 patients made 29,278 visits to the Out Patient Department. During the autumn of 1934, facilities were, for the first time, afforded in the Children's Clinic for rendering service to private patients. The close cooperation between the Pediatric and the Obstetric Services in the care of all newly born (both full-term and premature) infants has been successfully maintained during the past year with mutual advantage to the patients and to the two departments.

The renewal of the grant of $10,000 from the Commonwealth Fund to the Hospital has permitted Dr. Wilson to continue her elaborate and valuable studies of rheumatic fever in childhood. Similarly, the renewal of the grant of $5,000 from the same source for the support of a psychiatrist who devotes the major portion of his time in the Children's Clinic and who is especially trained to treat behavior disturbances in childhood has resulted in rendering an invaluable service to our patients.

The work of the Children's Clinic, embodying medical education, service to patients, both within the Hospital and the Out Patient Department, and research is carried on by a staff of 37 pediatricians, seven of whom devote their full time to the hospital. The work has been under the direction of Dr. Samuel Z. Levine, acting Pediatrician-in-Chief, who has had the cooperation of Dr. Oscar M. Schloss, former Director of the Children's Clinic and Attending Pediatrician at the present time.

The Private Patient Service was put under the control of a Special Committee, Drs. Eugene H. Pool and Edward Cussler, on June 6, 1933. This Committee now functions under the jurisdiction of the Medical Board. The service was reorganized and provided with a resident staff. In June, 1934, the Private Patient Service was extended to include a Semi-private Service. It comprises one pavilion for men and one for women and is for people of moderate means. All Attending Physicians of the Hospital have the privileges of the Private and Semi-private pavilions. There is also a large list of men having courtesy privileges.

There are 215 physicians having such privileges—23 full-time, 40 courtesy, and 152 part-time physicians. The resident staff of this service consists of one Resident and four Assistant Residents, who attend both the Semi-private and Private pavilions.

A separate report on the work of the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic is submitted by Dr. Russell, and adequately covers the activities of the Department of Psychiatry.

During the year the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology treated 4317 obstetrical patients on the indoor and outdoor delivery services, and 711 gynecological patients, a total of 5,028 patients, as compared with 5,013 in 1933. The pavilion beds have been occupied to the extent of 91 per cent of full capacity and the private beds to 73 per cent, while the total occupancy, including pavilion, private and semi-private was 89.9 per cent of the total bed capacity, which means full occupancy because of the nature of the specialty. If proper precautions are to be effectual at all times, this Department should endeavor to keep its occupancy at a figure not exceeding 85 per cent of available beds.

During 1934 the obstetrical service delivered 3616 women, resulting in 3651 babies. The uncorrected maternal mortality including abortions, ectopic gestations and transfers to other departments, was 6 deaths in 4317 obstetrical discharges, or 1.38 per 1,000 patients. This maternal mortality death rate when expressed in terms of live births, is 1.7 per 1,000 live births as compared with 1.9 per 1,000 live births for the year 1933. The gross infantile mortality was 3.807 per cent for the year 1934. In the gynecological service there were 7 deaths in 711 patients, an uncorrected mortality of 0.984 per cent.

During 1934 the total number of visits in the clinics of the Out Patient Department was 219,257, as compared with 203,601 the previous year—an increase of 15,658. Each individual made an average of six visits. This ratio is the same as for the previous year.

The recent development of the hospital organization under central administrative direction and the establishment of the Medical Board with its Medical Advisory Committee provides the necessary machinery for more critical attention to the professional activities of the Out Patient Department. Continuous efforts have been made to improve the clinical reports to physicians who have referred patients to the Out Patient Department for diagnosis or consultation.

Autopsies performed by the Department of Pathology and the relation of autopsies to deaths in the various services of the hospital were as follows:

Deaths in Hospital (excluding stillbirths).....	463
Autopsies performed	263
Autopsies in relation to deaths.....	56.8%
Stillbirths	93
Stillbirth Autopsies in relation to deaths.....	50.5%

Clinical pathological conferences in which the clinical and pathological staffs take part are held on Monday of each week throughout the year. At these conferences the relation of clinical diagnosis to observations made post mortem are fully considered with the purpose of improving diagnosis and treatment.

The pathological museum maintained in the department perpetuates the traditions of the "pathological cabinet" of the New York Hospital and is available to the medical staff of the hospital.

Owing to an increase in the activities of the various clinical divisions of the hospital and to the addition of several new clinical units, the demands for laboratory examinations by the Central Laboratories Department were correspondingly increased. To illustrate the growth of this service since its inception in 1932, it may be stated that the number of examinations made by the laboratory staff in 1933 was 46,862 which exceeded our original calculations by a wide margin and is more than twice the number made in the old hospital. The total number of laboratory examinations made during the past year was 55,201, representing an increase of approximately 17%.

The past year has been characterized by a marked increase in the number of diagnostic and therapy patients in the X-ray Department. While mere numbers may, perhaps, have little significance, the general interest shown in X-ray methods is a source of great satisfaction. One of the most important obstacles to a more widespread use of radiographic diagnostic methods is the per capita cost, which admittedly is high. The X-ray field is advancing at an astonishingly rapid rate.

The increased volume of work has necessitated the addition of radiographic and radiosopic equipment on the 6th floor and some minor structural changes in order that private patients may be given more individual expeditious care. This will also permit us to handle additional ward and Out Patient Department patients.

The teaching activities of the Hospital have continued in the manner outlined in the 1933 Hospital Report. A closer cooperation and fuller understanding between the Cornell University Medical College and the New York Hospital have resulted in the satisfactory solution of many difficult problems of mutual interest to the two institutions. It is becoming more and more evident to all concerned that the success of the one is dependent upon, and bound up with, that of the other and vice versa. The result has been a more properly interrelated organization functioning in a more satisfactory manner.

The nursing service in the Hospital has been of an unusually high order, patients receiving excellent care. The success of the institution depends to a great extent upon a proper understanding and cooperation between the nursing and medical staffs.

It has been a source of great satisfaction to observe the close cooperation, which has evolved during the past year, between the Executive Committee of the Board of Governors and the Medical Board. The professional staff is deeply grateful to the Board of Governors of the New York Hospital for its unusual interest and support in all phases of the work of the Hospital.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRICUS J. STANDER, M.D.,

President of the Medical Board.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

To the Board of Governors of The Society of The New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—Distinct progress was made by the Hospital in 1934. In point of work done, it was probably the most active year in the history of the institution. The work of organizing, which has been going on for the past thirty months, to meet the new conditions brought about by transferring from a small, simply organized hospital into a large, complicated one, progressed satisfactorily. The Medical and Nursing Staffs and the personnel generally have adjusted themselves to the new surroundings and conditions and are working together harmoniously and effectively. The time and thought given so generously to the Hospital by your Board are largely responsible for smoothing out many complicated organization problems.

The average census was 670 and the average occupancy of beds was 77%. The pavilions were occupied at 85% capacity and the private service at 59%.

The Hospital provided 222,476 days care for 16,416 bed patients and 213,116 visits for 37,304 out-patients.

In figuring the cost per unit of service, the cost of research and education have been excluded from the cost of patient care. Also, a new-born infant is figured at one-fourth an adult day. On this basis it cost to care for a pavilion patient $7.29 a day and for a private patient $10.96 a day. The average costs and receipts in the different divisions were:

	Average Cost a day	Average Receipts a day
Main Hospital:
Pavilion Patients.....	$ 7.32	$ 2.63
Private Patients.....	11.43	11.72
Semi-private Patients.....	8.76	6.58
Woman's Clinic:

Semi-private Patients.....	7.96	7.07
Children's Clinic:
Pavilion Patients.....	9.15	1.42
Private Patients.....	12.98	8.50

The total amount expended on behalf of patients was $2,390,697.87, against $2,258,244.60 in 1933, an increase of $132,453.27 or 5½%.

The operating income (income from investments not included) was $1,337,878.34, compared with $1,026,723.69 the previous year, an increase of $311,154.65 or 23%.

Deducting the operating income from operating expenditures shows a deficit of $1,052,819.53. For 1933 the comparable operating deficit was $1,231,520.91.

The cost of pavilion service was $1,168,609.82—of private service $326,463.07—of semi-private service $56,713.84.

The cost of operating the Out-Patient Department was $284,983.36 and the income was $218,620.82, the deficit being $66,362.54, against $96,709.09 in 1933.

THE PRESENT NEW YORK HOSPITAL
SIXTY-EIGHTH TO SEVENTY-FIRST STREETS, YORK AVENUE TO MARIE CURIE AVENUE
OPENED FOR PATIENTS SEPTEMBER 1, 1932

The Hospital now has in use 862 beds, and 131 bassinets for babies. Two pavilions in the main building, one floor of the Pediatric Clinic, the reception pavilion, one private-patient floor and 23 beds in the Whitney Clinic have not been opened. These when opened will provide for 133 additional beds.

The distribution of beds on December 31 was as follows:

Pavilions	No. of Beds
Medicine.....	109
Surgery.....	164
Orthopedic.....	10
Ophthalmology and Oto-Laryngology.....	10

Total.....	<hr/> 862

The facilities of the Hospital were increased by 142 beds during the year by the opening of five additional pavilions.

Two pavilions for the use of persons of moderate means were opened June 6. This Semi-Private Service was allotted 58 beds on the second floor of the main building, one pavilion being for men and one for women.

The rate is $5 a day and other charges are about half those prevailing on the Private Service. The professional fees, which are arranged between the patient and his physician, are moderate.

There were 644 admissions to this Service during the seven months it was open and the daily average of patients was 26.

Notwithstanding the opening of this new service, there was improvement in the average daily occupancy of private rooms in the main building—59 against 46 in 1933. The total number of admissions to this Department was 1,720 (447 medical cases and 1,273 surgical cases).

Pavilion H-4 was opened on September 4. It is called the Pulmonary and Skin Pavilion. There are 26 beds in this unit, 19 for chronic chest conditions, mostly tuberculosis, and 7 for skin cases.

The Surgical Service was extended on October 1, through the opening of the eighth floor of the main building. The added bed capacity provides for the expansion of general surgery and urological units, and the creation of a fixed number of ward beds for ophthalmology, otolaryngology and orthopedic surgery. Of the new beds 48 were assigned to general surgery and 10 to orthopedic surgery.

This floor is under the immediate supervision of the part-time surgeons. The re-assignment of beds gave 20 beds for urology and 10 beds for eye and ear cases on the ninth floor.

These changes made necessary the appointment of six more internes and assistant residents.

The Hospital (including the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic) now has 36 internes, 47 assistant residents and 11 residents.

In October it was decided to make the pavilion rate for paying patients $4 a day for board and care and to introduce the plan of making small additional charges for the use of the operating room, certain special laboratory work, X-ray examinations, physical therapy and special drugs. No charge is made for routine laboratory work. Heretofore a flat charge was arranged with each patient, according to his means, on admission. This charge included board, care and all extras, except fees paid to blood donors.

Mr. John R. Howard, Jr., resigned as Superintendent in March. His resignation was keenly regretted by his co-workers and their best wishes went with him.

Mr. Murray Sargent became connected with the Hospital in September, taking over its general administration and before the end of the year was appointed Executive Director.

NUTRITION DEPARTMENT

This Department prepared and served 1,705,341 meals during the year, or 4,672 per day. The cost of raw food averaged 18.1 cents per meal. In addition 25,892 baby formulas were prepared at an average of 5.6 cents.

The number of refers from the various clinics to the Nutrition Clinic for instruction in diet increased. More assistance was given this year to families in planning food budgets. The clinic gave 8,971 instructions and 1,721 mothers attended the nutrition classes in the pre-natal clinic. Medical students received experience in this clinic in planning diets and instructing patients.

Through a request from Columbia University, a course of post-graduate lectures and field experience is being offered in the Department of Nutrition to qualified graduate students enrolled in the Institution Management Department at Teachers College.

ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT

This Department is one of the most essential departments of the modern hospital. It is an important factor in nearly all activities. The diversified needs of a hospital as they relate to the division of engineering and maintenance present problems not found in the ordinary line of engineering.

The following is the output of the Power Plant for 1934, and the costs:

Steam.....	519,272,300	@ .29434 per M lbs.
Electricity.....	8,102,810 Kw hrs	@ .010711 per Kw hr.
Refrigeration.....	36,334.58 tons	@ .81964 per ton
Ice.....	34,821 cakes	@ .0582

Low pressure steam furnished for heating and domestic hot water:—
171,672,251 lbs.

OTHER DEPARTMENTS

The Laundry turned out from 80,000 to 95,000 pounds of laundry a week.

The Record Room originated, indexed and filed some 41,000 new records in 1934. This figure, when analyzed, is an increase over the figure given in the 1933 report. 50,000 new histories in the 162nd Annual Report covered 1933 plus four months in 1932. 50,000 also includes the old patients carried over from the institutions merging in September 1932. These old patients were all assigned new numbers and histories when transferred to this institution for treatment.

The Record Department circulated a total of 477,703 records during 1934; handling requests for an average of 1,500 to 1,785 daily. The actual daily range of records circulated was from 1,104 to 2,168. There was a total of 220 days during the year on which circulation exceeded 1,500 records.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE SCHOOL OF NURSING AND DIRECTOR OF THE NURSING SERVICE

To the Board of Governors of The Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I herewith submit the fifty-seventh annual report of the School of Nursing and Nursing Service.

SCHOOL OF NURSING

The curriculum of the School has been followed as indicated in the bulletin published for the current year. The greatest changes have been the reestablishment of the four-year high school matriculation and a reorganization of the nursing practice schedule of the first year program which now allows twenty-four instead of sixteen weeks for medical and surgical nursing practice. Plans have been made also to have each of our students have two weeks' practice in the Payne Whitney Nursery School, instead of the Nursery School of Greenwich House. In March, 1934, thirty-four students were graduated. It is particularly noteworthy that all of this group had the prolonged course of four months in psychiatric nursing and twenty-seven students had the two months field experience with Henry Street Visiting Nurse Service. Forty-one students were admitted to the school September twenty-ninth and two students on prolonged sick leave were reinstated.

In January, we accepted upon transfer thirty-four students from St. Mary's Hospital for Children which on account of economic stress was required to close its school. Of these students, eight are now registered in the class of 1935 and twenty-four in the class of 1936, two have withdrawn from the school. A comprehensive orientation period was carried out for four and a half months after which the students were assigned to their respective regular class groups. The interruption and change in these students' programs have been very difficult but we are glad to report they have become well adjusted to their new curriculum and school life and on the whole are doing satisfactory work.

Our affiliations have been carried on as established in 1933; one hundred and twenty-three students were admitted from the nine schools affiliating for courses in medicine, surgery, pediatrics and obstetrics.

The courses for graduate students have been revised and reorganized. Basic and advanced courses in psychiatric nursing have been added for a limited number of well qualified students; a six months course in operating room technique and management attracts a small but well-selected group and an advanced course in obstetrical and gynecological nursing is now open for those who are especially qualified in administration and teaching in that clinical subject. One hundred and three graduate students from seventy-four schools of nursing have matriculated for our various courses, thirty-one in surgical nursing; fifteen in pediatric nursing; nine in operating room management; forty-four in obstetrical nursing; and four in psychiatric nursing.

During the year twenty-nine observation students have been with us, staying for a period of three days to two months. These students have come from eleven countries and represent various branches of nursing administration and teaching. Besides these students we have had over one hundred and fifty nurses from the United States and Canada visit our school in the interest of some particular specialty.

As of December 31st, our student enrollment included one hundred and eleven New York Hospital students of whom forty-one were in their first year, thirty-eight in their second year and thirty-two in their third year, sixty-seven affiliating students and thirty-eight graduate students. During the year sixteen New York Hospital students, five affiliating students and thirteen graduate students withdrew from the school.

NURSING SERVICE

Necessary changes in nursing practices have been made to meet clinical and administrative requirements. We believe on the whole a consistently high standard of service to our patients has been maintained despite the frequent changes of the junior staff members and subsidiary workers. As of December 31st the total full time graduate staff participating in nursing care of patients, technical service and teaching was three hundred and fifty-five. These graduate nurses represent many different schools which has required a steadfast and constant program of staff education in each department to be assured of a standard of work acceptable to all concerned. We have been extremely fortunate in the low percentage of resignations of senior staff members, which has undoubtedly been our greatest stabilizing factor.

In October an eight hour special nursing service was established upon the request of registrants of the alumnae. We believe this service will prove more satisfactory than the twelve hour service to patients and clinicians and as time goes on will grow appreciably.

STUDENT AND STAFF HEALTH

Our health service has done much in advocating certain measures for the prevention of illness—fifty-eight percent of which has been due to colds and upper respiratory infection so dangerous in undermining the health of young women of the age our group represents.

The usual annual health examinations of students have been given but on account of the frequent changes among the general staff nurses they have not been continued except for those especially indicative of the need.

Four thousand, two hundred and twenty visits and follow-up examinations were made at the health offices and one thousand three hundred and eighteen clinic visits were arranged. Careful follow-up has been made of all students who have had Mantoux Tests. Necessary Schick and Dick tests have been given all students. Three thousand four hundred and thirty-seven days of illness are recorded; one thousand five hundred and thirty-four days of infirmary care with five hundred and twenty-seven admissions and five hundred and eighty-nine days of hospitalization with eighty-seven admissions of which fifty were operative cases.

Our alumnae have enjoyed as always the benefits of clinic and hospital service. Thirty-one admissions are noted with six hundred and sixteen days of hospitalization including twenty-two operations. Again we wish to record our gratitude to our staff physician, Doctor Holt, and the many other physicians and surgeons who have given themselves unsparingly in the excellent care of our alumnae, students and staff.

With deep regret and sorrow we record the deaths of the following alumnae:

Miss Charlotte Searcy	Class of 1881

Whatever our school and service may have contributed to the service of our hospital, we recognize that in large part they have been made possible through the loyal support and cooperation of the administrative and clinical services for which we are deeply grateful.

ANNA D. WOLF,

Director of the School of Nursing and Director of the Nursing Service.

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE COMMITTEE

To the President and Governors of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I submit to you the twenty-second Annual Report of the work done by the Social Service Committee and Sub-Committees during the past year.

Our workers have covered 287 more clinic sessions than last year—2000 more visits have been made to patients' homes. We have followed up as many medical and surgical cases as our facilities permit.

We have sent a large number of patients to Convalescent and Fresh Air Homes, as well as to permanent ones. Our work with Community Agencies has increased, and for those entirely destitute—temporary relief has been given until satisfactory arrangements could be made.

We have been able to provide special diets recommended by the doctors, and where Home Relief has already taken over a case, we have secured the extra allowance required. In numbers, our cases have been fewer than in the previous year, but the figures do not give any indication of the many problems involved, nor the time spent in trying to work them out to the best of our ability. Our type of work has changed somewhat. Where we had many short associations requiring no follow-up, we now have a greater number receiving longer and a more definite service.

Not the least important part of our work lies in helping the discharged patient to adjust his life to his condition—to lend assistance in finding new quarters—to encourage him to look for a job—to supply clothing where necessary and to give him and his family the chance to make a fresh start.

Thanks to the Governors, one free bed a week has been given to the Pediatric Division for the use of children requiring tonsillectomies. A study of the problem, made by our Pediatric workers, had shown the lack of community facilities for this purpose.

The children of our Out-Patient Department have been much benefited and we are very grateful to the Governors.

The Havens Relief Fund sent us again a generous donation.

Forty-one medical students spent one half day each in the Social Service Department; their interest, questions and attention have been most encouraging.

Our relationship continued with the Board of Nursing through the Department of Public Health and the Supervisors of the Out-Patient Departments. Informal conferences have been held and 113 students and post-graduate nurses spent a number of hours in the Social Service Department. In addition to this, groups of students have been addressed by our Director. All our workers have been glad to give information when possible to students regarding their case studies. As this work has definite value and is increasing, our assistant teacher has proved very necessary.

The meetings of our Staff with those of the Lying-In Hospital and Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic have been interesting and stimulating.

It has not been possible to increase the number of Social Service workers (eleven full time and two part time), although owing to the opening of new Hospital beds this fall, the work has grown, and the demands on our Staff are becoming more urgent. Our Director is very conscious of services that cannot be given under our present circumstances.

GIFT SHOP

Much to our regret, Mrs. Malcolm Goodridge resigned December first as Chairman. Full credit should be given to her for this successful venture in organizing and carrying on the Gift Shop. Mrs. Paul Dineen—who has worked equally hard—has accepted the Chairmanship. Miss Louise Scott, the Treasurer, has also done a splendid piece of work.

Mrs. Sosthenes Behn and Miss Ruth Peck have joined this Committee. Sales have increased materially during the year. The Shop now has five full time workers and one part time worker. The profits go towards the support of the Social Service.

VOLUNTEER DEPARTMENT

Miss Celia Robinson as Chairman, Miss Ruth Peck, as Vice-Chairman, have maintained the excellent standard of our Volunteer Department. The largest number of active volunteers during one month has been 82. During the summer the volunteers averaged 57 to 63 a month. Fully one half of those working last year have carried on.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE

Mrs. Walter Jennings as Chairman and Miss Frances Reilly her very able Vice-Chairman are in charge of our Library. Under their leadership this work has become more and more valuable. The number of books given out—9,928, shows an increase of almost 2,500 over the previous year.

VISITING AND INFORMATION COMMITTEE

Mrs. Scoville Treadwell, as Chairman, has done valuable work by visiting institutions, hospitals and nursing homes. A knowledge of those actual conditions and surroundings has been very helpful to us.

MILK FUND

Mrs. Payne Whitney gave her annual Fair this summer and sent a generous part of the proceeds to be used for our Milk Fund. Approximately 50,000 quarts of milk were given during the year to children for whom our doctors requested this help.

CLOTHING AND SUPPLY COMMITTEE

Mrs. C. Morton Whitman, Chairman, Mrs. Charles E. Farr, Treasurer. Through their efforts we have been continually supplied with clothes and funds to buy shoes and underwear where needed.

The Needlework Guild of America donated 100 articles to our Social Service.

The Junior Emergency Relief again came to our aid with layettes and girls' kits. Miss Bowdoin's gifts of knitted articles have been frequent and invaluable.

CONVALESCENT HOSPITAL FOR CHILDREN COMMITTEE

This new Committee was formed during the past year. Mrs. Clarence L. Hay, as Chairman, secured a donation for clothing and shoes for the children, and one of our members, particularly interested in Mrs. Hay's report, sent a generous Christmas contribution. 603 children were admitted by way of our Social Service during the past year.

WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE

Mrs. William Goadby Loew again organized an entertainment for the benefit of our Social Service. Mrs. Julius Walsh put on an excellent floor show, and the evening was a most successful one. We netted over $7000.

MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE

Mrs. Loew Burrill has consented to take the chairmanship of this new Committee.

To all of those who have cooperated with us in this work, we extend our thanks—and to the Governors—our deep appreciation for their interest and counsel.

Respectfully submitted,

ELSIE C. WOODWARD,

Chairman.

REPORT OF THE GENERAL PSYCHIATRIC DIRECTOR

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—The following report for the year ending December 31st, 1934, relates to the psychiatric service of the Hospital in New York City, to which my attention was almost exclusively directed during the year. It constitutes the second annual report of this service.

It is noteworthy that, although the accommodations designed for men and women are about equal in capacity, twice as many women as men were admitted. Of the applications for admission, 68 per cent were referred by physicians in private practice; since the Clinic was opened in October 1932, 158 different physicians have referred patients. Of the 185 patients discharged, 141, or 76 per cent, returned directly to the community, 19 on their own responsibility, the others to relatives or friends. Ten patients were transferred to state or municipal hospitals, 4 to proprietary institutions, 18 to Bloomingdale Hospital, and 6 to other private benevolent hospitals. Three patients died at the Clinic. Thirty were removed contrary to advice. Three committed suicide soon after leaving.

* Includes children service—23 beds temporarily not operating.

Of the patients admitted, 61, or about 33 per cent, followed professional pursuits or were dependent on relatives thus engaged; an equal number were engaged in mercantile occupations or were dependent relatives. Twenty were college students. The remainder were in miscellaneous occupations, with 17 supported by income from investments; 82.5 per cent of the applications were from residents of New York State.

In the study and treatment of the patients, besides the attention furnished by the Clinic staff, 450 visits were made to Clinic patients by physicians from other departments. Clinic patients also made 146 visits to other departments for examination and treatment. Administrative staff conferences were held daily, and, three times a week, conferences at which patients were presented. Members of the staff presented papers, made clinical presentations, and participated in discussions at various medical meetings. Dental service was furnished by the dentist to 114 patients and by the dental hygienist to 156 patients. The extent to which organized therapeutic measures were employed is indicated by the following:—6850 packs and prolonged baths were given; 350 treatments with other forms of hydrotherapy; 231 patients received occupational therapy attention and made 4339 articles; 310 electrical treatments, including lights, were given; 1254 massage, corrective, and re-educational treatments were given to individual patients; and 14,833 games, exercises, and recreational activities were engaged in.

Psychiatric out-patient service furnishes a form of attention that is not otherwise available to a large number of persons greatly in need of it. Although there are 27 physicians employed and the service is one of the largest in the city, many patients who apply cannot be accepted. Private treatment is available to only a few as, owing to the time required of the physician at each visit, the expense is much greater than for other forms of illness. Of the patients treated, 111 were referred to the service by private physicians. Further support for this service is much needed.

INTERDEPARTMENTAL RELATIONS

One of the principal aims in the psychiatric development at the New York Hospital is integration with other departments of medicine. The co-operation thus far established with these departments is most encouraging and helpful. The service to Clinic in-patients by physicians from other departments has already been mentioned. Psychiatric service was, on the other hand, furnished to 274 in-patients in the medical and surgical departments. In the out-patient service, 452 patients (308 adults, 144 children) were referred from other departments for psychiatric examination and treatment, and 203 patients were similarly referred from the Clinic out-patient service to other departments. Co-operative psychiatric service with physicians in other out-patient departments was furnished in the study and treatment of 836 patients under treatment in this department, of whom 208 were children. One psychiatrist gave full time service, four others regular part time, and other members of the staff on occasion. Eighty-eight patients of the Clinic out-patient service were examined by the neurologist and 179 by internists from other departments who attend at regular hours for these examinations. Co-operation with Bloomingdale Hospital has been maintained in the transfer and treatment of patients, in the out-patient service, of which Bloomingdale physicians are staff members, in attendance at Clinic staff conferences, and in frequent conferences with Dr. Raynor.

CHILDREN'S SERVICE

The development of psychiatric study and treatment of children is taking on so great importance that it seems advisable to direct special attention to it. It is evident that additional funds will be required to permit of re-opening the much needed in-patient service for children. The out-patient service, though active during the year, would be greatly strengthened if a salary for a full-time psychiatrist were available. Enough has been accomplished by the work in pediatrics, carried on by means of a grant from the Commonwealth Fund, to indicate that it should not only be continued, but should be more fully organized and extended. Other means of support for this work will be required after September 1st. The Nursery School has, by means of the generous co-operation of Mrs. Barklie Henry continued to operate successfully. It is evident that the splendid resources for service, for education, and for research that are presented by the children's service require only adequate financial support in order to make to psychiatric and pediatric progress a contribution of exceptional significance and importance.

EDUCATION

The usual teaching activities were engaged in throughout the year. Third year medical students were given clinical instruction in the in-patient service of the Clinic and of the general hospital, and Fourth Year students in the out-patient service. Twenty-seven student nurses were received for the prescribed four months period of instruction and practice in psychiatric nursing. An eight months' post-graduate course for nurses was established during the year, to which graduates who have not had psychiatric training may be admitted. Four students were admitted for a three months' practice course in occupational therapy. Two students were given a similar course in physiotherapy. In the development of the psychiatric service, one of the principal objects is to establish such standards of study and treatment as will themselves prove a means of education to those who participate as students, instructors, or practitioners.

CONCLUSION

Much might be said concerning needs. The proper utilization of present resources and advances that are clearly needed require much in the way of equipment, personnel, and support. We are, however, gratified that, in these trying times, the work has, on the whole, gone forward. The year has ended without a budget deficit, and a spirit of interest, activity, and hopefulness prevails. For what has been accomplished, credit is due to the members of the organization who have so ably and loyally done their part, and to the constant support and interest of the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Committee and of your honorable board.

The average age of the patients admitted was 41 for the men and 39½ for the women. Nine patients were under 20 years of age; 59, or 25 per cent, were under 30; and 127, or 54 per cent of the total admissions, were under 40.

BLOOMINGDALE HOSPITAL, WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.

Eighty-six of the patients admitted were educated in colleges or universities, and 86 in high school.

The occupations of the patients admitted were principally professional and commercial. Thirty-seven women were self-supporting. The remaining women were supported by their husbands or fathers who were either business- or professional men.

In 15 cases where patients had been admitted as voluntary, it became necessary to have them committed. In 9 cases patients petitioned for their own commitment on account of alcoholism.

The total number of patients discharged was 217 of whom 98 were men and 119 were women. Of this number 41 were fully recovered, 48 were much improved, and 71 improved. These 160 patients constituted 74 per cent of the total number discharged. Fifty-three were discharged without having improved. Some were transferred to other institutions, others were discharged to make room for more hopeful cases, and others who had been received for examination and study in order to advise the relatives regarding future care and treatment, were discharged when this had been accomplished. Four, 0.8 per cent of the total number of patients under treatment, died.

The average period of treatment in the Hospital of those who were discharged as recovered was 8 months and 7 days; and of those improved 9 months and 15 days. Fourteen of the recovered cases had been in the Hospital a year or more, 3 for more than 2 years, and 1 for 4 years.

At the close of the year 48 patients who had left the Hospital during the year were still carried on visit. Most of these patients kept in touch with the physicians by visits to White Plains or to the New York Hospital. The visits of former patients to the Bloomington office at the New York Hospital numbered 215, and to Bloomington Hospital 312.

Sixty-eight per cent of the total number of patients remaining in the Hospital at the close of the year were voluntary.

CLINICAL SERVICE

The clinical service of the Hospital has remained on a high level throughout the year. The medical staff is organized to provide frequent consultations. Each patient has as his personal physician a member of the medical staff. Staff conferences are held frequently at which each patient with his case record is presented. Regular conferences are held by the medical staff with the heads of the nursing and treatment departments in each of the men's and women's departments of the Hospital. Seminars are held on Monday evening of each week by the medical staff for the review of current literature and the discussion of scientific subjects.

In addition to the medical staff the visiting staff attends the Hospital regularly and examines all patients. The consulting staff is equally attentive and responds whenever called.

The surgical work required by patients during the year included 20 general surgical operations, 6 tonsillectomies, 20 dental extractions, and 3 examinations under general anaesthesia.

The total number of visits to the Hospital by the visiting and consulting staffs was 1421.

Two conferences to which outside physicians were invited were held during the year for which the medical staff prepared psychiatric programs.

The Medical Director from time to time, and the Clinical Director regularly, have attended staff conferences and seen patients in consultation at the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic of the New York Hospital.

Studies into the application of psychoanalysis to the treatment of severe neuroses and the psychoses have continued throughout the year.

Members of the Medical Staff made addresses and read and published papers as follows:

Dr. Raynor: Psychiatry and the General Practitioner-Syndromes Commonly Met with in Practice, read before the Fifth District Branch of the Medical Society of the State of New York; Bloomingtondale Hospital, published in the Dial of the White Plains Contemporary Club, May 1934; Address of the Retiring President, read before the Medical Society of the County of Westchester, published in the Bulletin of the Society, December 1934;

Dr. Jameison: The Therapeutic Value of Dental Departments in Mental Hospitals, read before the White Plains Dental Forum;

Dr. Hamilton: The Psychiatric Resources of New York, published in the American Journal of Psychiatry, March 1934;

Dr. Sprague: Varieties of Homosexual Manifestations, read before the American Psychiatric Association;

Dr. Allen: Menstrual Dysfunctions in Disorders of the Personality, Their Nature and Treatment, read before the Scientific Session of the Association for the Study of Internal Secretions;

Dr. Henry: Psychogenic and Constitutional Factors in Homosexuality: Their Relation to Personality Disorders, published in the Psychiatric Quarterly, April 1934; Constitutional Factors in Psychosexual Development, A Comparative Study of the Heterosexual, Homosexual, and Narcissistic Types of Adjustment, published in the A.R.N.M.D., Biology of the Individual, Vol. 14, 1934; Bloomingtondale Hospital Laboratory, An Historical Survey, printed by the Bloomingtondale Hospital Occupational Therapy Press; Homosexuality as a Medical Problem, read before the International and Spanish Speaking Association of Physicians; The Relation of Emotion to Menstruation, read before the Discussion Society, New York Hospital;

Dr. Henry and Dr. Kindwall: Wet Packs and Prolonged Baths: A Clinical Study of Reactions to These Forms of Therapy, published in the American Journal of Psychiatry, July 1934;

Dr. Henry and Dr. Galbraith: Constitutional Factors in Homosexuality, published in the American Journal of Psychiatry, May 1934.

The Dietary Department in addition to preparing the regular meals has contributed through special diets to the treatment of patients. During the year a daily average of 361 special portions was prepared for 68 patients and 18 employees as prescribed by physicians.

The Dental Department has examined 224 new patients and re-examined 252 others and carried out 4823 dental procedures and operations. Each patient upon admission has a complete dental examination with X-rays and receives a dental prophylactic treatment.

The Employees' Clinic is organized to examine all new personnel and to treat all those who become sick. Employees visited the Clinic 1692 times. One hundred and thirty-seven physical examinations were made, and 141 persons were treated in the infirmaries.

The Associate Director of Laboratories has also been appointed Resident Internist for the purpose of integrating more thoroughly the laboratory and clinical work of the Hospital. He acts as consultant in somatic medicine to the clinical services and assists the visiting physicians. He also works one day a week at the New York Hospital.

The clinical laboratories made 12,801 examinations during the year, and the X-ray laboratory made 716 examinations.

The nursing service has been maintained throughout the year on a satisfactory level of proficiency. Our nurses, because of their special studies and experience, are able to understand the personalities of the patients and to observe and interpret their symptoms and reactions. They are also able to carry out the many psychiatric nursing procedures necessary to the patients' comfort and treatment.

The coordination of the psychiatric treatments prescribed by the physicians is important and the nurses necessarily have to work in close association with the medical staff in establishing and maintaining schedules of treatment which are so essential in bringing about a restoration of health. Studies have been made of several of the psychiatric nursing procedures for the purpose of improving the technique of their administration and enhancing the comfort of the patients.

The nursing service gave 4382 prolonged baths and 9509 therapeutic packs during the year.

Among the therapeutic resources of the Hospital Occupational Therapy is highly organized. There are two well planned and equipped buildings devoted to this form of treatment. The personnel are highly trained and are competent in applying this form of treatment to psychiatric patients. For those patients who are unable to go to the special buildings provision is made for this kind of treatment on the halls. Out-of-door activities are also provided for. Ninety per cent of all patients under treatment, or 447—199 men and 248 women—received occupational therapy. Many of the patients carry on as hobbies after leaving the Hospital crafts in which they were trained while under treatment.

The Physical Education Departments through organized physical recreation and rehabilitation programs have contributed a great deal to the successful treatment of patients. The gymnasias make it possible to continue in all kinds of weather planned group and individual exercise and recreation. The maintenance of suitable social environment and well developed social and recreational opportunities has been found to be essential to the treatment which is aimed to bring about social adjustment.

The total number of patients enrolled in the Departments of Physical Education was 389, 181 men and 208 women.

Massage, hydrotherapy and other forms of physiotherapy were employed. The total number of treatments given to patients was 41,499.

The Hospital is very much indebted to the staff of the New York Hospital for its willing and skillful assistance on many occasions.

YORK LODGE

York Lodge, a large cottage with a bathing beach located at Orienta Point, Mamaroneck, is maintained as an additional treatment resource of the Hospital in the summer. It is also available during the winter months by special arrangement. Patients while at York Lodge continue under treatment by the medical and nursing staffs of the Hospital. During the summer there were 31 day parties at the Lodge providing 334 outings for 84 patients.

EDUCATIONAL WORK

The educational work at the Hospital is a very important part of the work done and is directed to the training of physicians, nurses, occupational therapists, physical education aides, dietitians and housekeepers. The advantages of this work to the service of the Hospital are very great in building up and maintaining standards. The time is looked forward to when this work can be better organized and receive definite support. The Hospital in accordance with the standards of the American Medical Association offers physicians meeting the special requirements of the Hospital appointments of from two to five years for the purpose of graduate education in Psychiatry. Through the courtesy of the Vanderbilt Clinic and other organizations in New York the resident physicians have opportunities for study in related branches of medicine. Since the opening of the new building of the New York Hospital and its association with the Medical College of Cornell University, 4 members of the medical staff have given a half day each week to the Out-Patient Department of the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic. Four physicians are Instructors in Psychiatry at the Medical College. The Medical Director is Professor of Clinical Psychiatry at the Medical College and Consultant in Psychiatry at the New York Hospital. The Clinical Director is Instructor in Clinical Psychiatry at the Medical College and Attending Psychiatrist to the New York Hospital.

The staff conferences, the Monday Evening Meetings, and the consultations with the visiting staffs all have an educational value to the physicians.

An excellent medical library is kept up to date with new books and bound files of important journals.

The School of Nursing recognized by the State has maintained an undergraduate course qualifying for R.N. No new students have been accepted in the three-year course since September 1933. One hundred and thirty-two students, including 55 affiliating and 17 postgraduate students, were enrolled in the School during the year.

The Westchester Central School of Nursing discontinued classes on May 18th.

Affiliating students were received from seven general hospitals of which the General Hospital of Syracuse and the Southampton Hospital, Southampton, Long Island, were added.

The postgraduate course has been increased from nine to twelve months. Students who have had an affiliation in psychiatric nursing are allowed three months' credit. Ten students registered in September for this course. The curriculum included, besides the subjects given in the shorter course, General and Educational Psychology, Psychobiology, Psychopathology, Psychotherapy, Sociology, and Mental Hygiene. The course is planned primarily for the young graduate who has had at least a year's experience in the nursing field, and for those who have a special interest in psychiatric nursing.

The Hospital awarded the Floyd-Jones Scholarship in Nursing Education for part time study at Teachers College, Columbia University to two students. Sixteen members of the graduate nursing staff have taken courses in the theory and practice of nursing and allied subjects at Columbia University and other educational institutions.

In addition five students took training in the Department of Dietetics. One student was enrolled in the Housekeeping Course. The Occupational Therapy and Physical Education Departments and the librarian gave instruction to students of nursing throughout the year.

IMPROVEMENTS IN PLANT AND EQUIPMENT

Improvements in the plant and equipment during the year consisted of the continuation of the construction of new roads in the South Field at a cost of $1,296; beginning of the renovation of the bake shop by installing new gas ovens at a cost of $1,542.90, and the purchase of bread and rolls instead of baking at the Hospital; and actively combatting the Dutch Elm Disease.

NEEDS

A discussion of the needs of the Hospital this year is important in view of the continued economic situation. Reorganization of some of the Hospital services has been made. Special funds should be provided for certain activities of the Hospital which ought not to be a direct charge on the receipts derived from the care of patients. Among these activities is the educational work of the Hospital including the School of Nursing, and the more intensive and liberal training of members of the medical staff.

It would be highly desirable for the Hospital to have the support of additional special funds, such as the John C. Green Memorial Fund, the income of which would be applied to the support of worthy patients whose friends are unable to reimburse the Hospital in whole or in part for their treatment.

In considering the needs of the Hospital they may be looked upon as those which are required to modernize both the accommodations and the equipment, to round out the facilities which have not yet been fully provided for, to provide for continued development to meet the needs of the community, and to continue the scientific and educational work of the Hospital.

Funds for the replacement of the present window grills by the new safety screen developed at the Hospital are needed. The value of this improvement cannot be emphasized too strongly.

Both the men and women patients now have to use the Women's Hydrotherapy which is inadequate for the women alone. As a consequence the work of the Hydrotherapy Department has had to be seriously curtailed. It is recommended that means be found to provide for these necessary improvements.

It is recommended that the renovation, rewiring, and refurnishing of the halls be continued until completed.

Funds are needed for relocating the general library. It would also be highly desirable that funds be set aside the income from which could be used for the purchase of books. The general library is seriously in need of at least $1000 for the purchase of books.

New elevators are urgently needed.

The halls in the main building could with advantage be reduced in capacity. Rooms on each hall are needed for examining rooms, nurses' offices, and private baths. To provide for this improvement additional cottages would have to be constructed. This would also provide increased facilities for classification which is desirable.

There continues to be a considerable need for extensive renewals occasioned by depreciation. Much of the laundry machinery should be replaced. The pond is gradually filling up and should be cleaned out. The use of pond water for the boilers results in considerable saving to the Hospital.

Funds are needed for the completion of the new walks and roads. Relocating the golf course, and providing more game fields are desirable and should be considered.

The tentative programs submitted to the Bloomingtondale Committee in 1927 and 1928 of the developments to meet present and future needs of the Hospital are again referred to for consideration.

A house for men nurses is much needed.

It seems highly desirable that the group of houses for the nursing staff of which the Student Nurses House is the first, be completed. It is believed that these houses would do much toward stabilizing our nursing staff. Rooms on some of the halls continue to be occupied by nurses. The release of this space for additional patients and for examining and treatment rooms would be of advantage.

Cottages for the treatment of cases of early and mild neuroses, also for the study and treatment of unstable and problem children, are developments which should be given additional study.

The construction of the projected acute building for women for which plans have been completed is urgently needed and is especially recommended to the attention of the Governors.

Renovation and changes in Men's Halls Seven and Eight are much needed.

FINANCIAL

The Hospital year was increased by 11 days making the fiscal and calendar year coincide. This added $24,104.81 to the cost of maintenance. The total expenditure of the year was $657,989.16. This includes the maintenance and operation of the properties at White Plains and Orienta Point, ordinary repairs and renewals, and insurance except against fire. Capital charges and the cost of extraordinary renewals and improvements are not included.

The annual income of the Hospital has decreased in each of the past four years. The receipts this year were $265,313.49 less than in 1930 while the number of patients under treatment was 28 less. This drop in income was met by savings in operation and in reorganization in service departments which included the domestic water supply, the bakery, the hospital delivery system, pay roll reductions, and in the reorganization of the School of Nursing; and by deficiency appropriations on account of maintenance amounting to $28,970.17 and on account of special appropriations for unexpected expenditures, amounting to $21,279.08. These appropriations were made from the Payne Whitney Charitable Trustees 2/28th Fund for Bloomington Hospital. It has been possible by these means to effect savings without infringing upon or impairing the standard of care and treatment of patients.

Of the 499 cases treated during the year 247 were wholly or partially supported by the Society. The number treated without charge was 26, and 221 paid rates that were less than the average cost. The expense borne by the Society in the treatment of these cases amounted to $177,248.95 which was the equivalent of 62 free beds or 22,630 free days throughout the year. The number of days' board and treatment was 84,765.

The income of the John C. Green Memorial Fund, amounting to $7721.12 was, in accordance with the terms of the Memorial, applied to the support of 5 women patients.

The Hospital at the close of the year had a deficit.

In addition to the above the Hospital expended $3,392.50 for maintenance not provided for in the budget and for extraordinary improvements.

One hundred and fifteen volumes have been added to the general library and 69 new books and 96 bound volumes of journals to the medical library. Sixty-nine general magazines and 52 medical and special journals of which 7 are in foreign languages, were received. The distribution for the general library was 19,930 of which 14,370 were issued to patients, 7461 to the men and 6909 to the women, and 5560 to employees. The general library contains 4484 volumes and the medical library 9658.

Mr. Henry G. Barbey presented the Hospital with funds for the construction of a golf driving range and the necessary equipment. Mr. Barbey also presented the Hospital with two work horses.

Mr. and Mrs. Barklie Henry presented the Hospital with a number of books.

Many friends and relatives of patients have signified their appreciation of the service rendered to patients in whom they were interested by giving liberally to the Nurses' Entertainment Fund.

Since 1819 religious services have been conducted on Sunday afternoons. The Reverend Reginald Mallett, Rector of Grace Church, White Plains, has conducted these services during the year. The Reverend Father Joseph C. Fleming of St. John's Church and his assistants have been most faithful in attending to the religious comfort of the Catholic patients.

For several years the Hospital has been endeavoring to find a screen for the windows which will have the appearance and the quality of a fly screen and at the same time provide the security which is required in a psychiatric hospital. Experiments carried on in conjunction with the Orange Screen Company and the International Nickel Company have at last been successful. A window fly screen suitable in appearance for a residence and meeting our requirements of security has been evolved. The frame is aluminum and the screen cloth is 0.020 gauge and 14 mesh. The screen cloth cannot be torn or punctured by anything available to a patient on the halls. These experiments have been made possible through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Barklie Henry.

Mr. Grosvenor Atterbury, the architect to the Hospital for many years, is making studies of projected improvements and changes in the main hospital building.

On May 30th the Hospital entertained eighty-five members and guests of the American Psychiatric Association which was holding its annual meeting in New York City.

The Medical Society of the County of Westchester held meetings at the Hospital in September and November. At the latter meeting Dr. Raynor completed his term of office as President of the Society.

On December 15th a number of the Board of Governors of the Society made a special visit to the Hospital. They were especially interested upon this visit in the therapeutic resources of the Hospital.

Dr. D. A. Sniffen was appointed Professor of Oral Surgery at New York University Dental School, and was also elected Vice-President of the New York State Dental Society.

Dr. Burtrum C. Schiele, Assistant Resident Psychiatrist at the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic of the New York Hospital, spent the month of August at the Hospital.

The Hospital is cooperating with the Department of Biochemistry, Columbia University, in a research problem of mutual interest.

Dr. O. N. Anderson, representative of the Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association, visited the Hospital on February 27th. There were 14,006 visitors to patients during the year.

RESIDENT MEDICAL STAFF

Dr. Hugh M. Galbraith resigned on June 1st to accept a position in another hospital.

Dr. Joel Milam Hill resigned August 31st to accept a position as Resident Psychiatrist at the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic of the New York Hospital.

Dr. Patrick Henry Drewry, Jr. was appointed an Assistant Resident Physician on September 1st.

Dr. Edwin E. McNiel was appointed an Assistant Resident Physician on October 1st.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

It is a pleasure to express my appreciation to the physicians, nurses, and those in the special departments, the executives, and the employees of the Hospital for their devotion to their duties and the standards of the Hospital and their loyal assistance throughout the year. Without their interest and assistance the economies instituted could not have been so successful. I wish to thank Dr. Russell for the continuation of our pleasant association.

It is with deep regret that I record the death, on February 14th, of Mr. Edward W. Sheldon. Mr. Sheldon served as a governor of the Society for twenty-eight years, latterly as its President. His understanding and generous interest in Bloomingdale Hospital, his high ideals and devotion to the responsibilities of his trusteeship, endeared him to all with whom he was associated. Bloomingdale Hospital has suffered a great loss in the death of Mr. Sheldon.

This year marks the one hundred and forty-second year of uninterrupted treatment of mental disorders by the New York Hospital, and the one hundred and fourteenth year in which this has been carried on at Bloomingdale Hospital. It is with great satisfaction that I record that although the Hospital is going through a trying economic period, the standards of the treatment of patients have been maintained.

I am greatly indebted to your Honorable Board and the Bloomingdale Committee for the helpful counsel and generous support and encouragement which they so freely continue to give me.

Respectfully submitted,

MORTIMER W. RAYNOR,

Medical Director.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE CONVALESCENT HOSPITAL FOR CHILDREN

To the Board of Governors:

GENTLEMEN:—The Twenty-seventh annual report of the Convalescent Hospital for Children is as follows:

About 600 children left New York City, in the bus provided for their transportation, and were safely driven to this branch of the Society of the New York Hospital, so ideally located in Westchester County. Here they had all the advantages and joys of a homelike atmosphere and outdoor life and received over 28,000 hospital days of trained care.

In March, closer contact with Westchester Hospitals was established. Since that time 32 Westchester children have been admitted and cared for entirely free of charge.

Patients in need of dental work were taken to the New York Hospital Dental Department each Monday morning to a clinic assigned solely to them. During the year 80 cases were treated.

Thru the admission and observation of about 75 cardiac children, assistance was lent to the special study of rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease being conducted by Dr. May Wilson.

Heliotherapy treatments, formerly limited to sunny summer days, have been made possible the year 'round by the purchase of two powerful quartz lamps.

An annual inspection by the New York State Department of Social Welfare again classified this institution as Plant—Class I, Administration—Class I.

For many years, under Miss Josephi's direction, our admitting work has been ably carried on by one of the Pediatric workers of the New York Hospital Social Service Committee. During the past two years Miss O'Connell's many other duties and the problems and details of our admitting work have greatly increased. It became evident that the work could no longer be adequately handled on a part time basis. A newly appointed member of our staff is now vested with these duties, and it is our hope that she will be able to markedly improve our service and be of definite assistance to all New York Hospital Departments concerned in the care of children.

I wish to thank the Social Service Committee and Miss Josephi and her workers for their faithful service and generous contributions. We greatly depend on their counsel and aid, and we are very happy that Mrs. Clarence Hay is Chairman of a Sub-Committee actively interested in the needs of our children.

To all those friends who have contributed to the children's welfare and happiness, I again express sincere appreciation and solicit their continued interest in this branch of the Society's work.

We are greatly indebted to the general and laboratory staffs of Bloomingdale and New York Hospitals for their willing assistance at all times; to Dr. Levine and his Staff for their cooperation and to Dr. T. C. Goodwin, Chief of the Pediatric, O.P.D., in particular, for so generously having given much needed advice and assistance.

To your Honorable Board and the Bloomingdale Committee, I extend my sincere appreciation for your unfailing support and helpful counsel.

Respectfully submitted,

MARIE L. TROUP,
Superintendent.

EXCERPT FROM THE MINUTES OF THE
BOARD OF GOVERNORS

SEPTEMBER 3RD, 1935.

Mr. Smith, who presided, announced with deep sorrow the death at his residence in New York, on August 17th, 1935 of Mr. Wilson M. Powell, President of the Society.

It was voted, the Governors rising, that the following memorial be spread in full on the minutes and an engrossed copy sent to the family of Mr. Powell:

It is with deep sorrow the Governors of the New York Hospital record the death on August 17, 1935, of Wilson M. Powell.

Few have been so closely associated with this institution or have had a greater share in shaping its policies. In 1915 Mr. Powell became counsel for the Hospital on the death of his father, who had held that important post for thirty-nine years, and continued in office until his own death, a striking record of family service of fifty-nine years. As counsel for the corporation and also as a close friend of Mr. Sheldon, he advised not only on our many and difficult legal questions but he played a most important part in assisting Mr. Sheldon and Mr. Payne Whitney in effecting the affiliation between the New York Hospital and the Medical School of Cornell University, and helped to make their dream an impressive reality.

Mr. Powell was elected a Governor and Vice-President in 1931, and President in 1934. During these critical years the new buildings were planned and completed, a new organization created, the staff of the Hospital built up, and innumerable and trying problems overcome. Owing to the financial depression, unexpected and almost insurpassable difficulties arose to complicate the situation, but he met these difficulties, as all others, with wisdom, courage and unfailing good humor. In spite of these many burdens he never seemed pressed and was always anxious to do more than his share. Nothing was too insignificant for his attention and he found time to listen to criticism and to deal justly with innumerable differences of opinion which are unavoidable in a new organization.

A modest gentleman and a kindly but firm executive he commanded the respect and loyalty of his associates and the staff. The Hospital has lost a faithful and invaluable leader, and we of the Board a loyal and understanding friend.

EXCERPT FROM THE MINUTES OF THE
BOARD OF GOVERNORS

SEPTEMBER 3RD, 1935.

Mr. Smith having announced the death of Mr. Charles S. Brown, a member of this Board, it was voted, the Governors rising, that the following memorial be spread in full on the minutes and an engrossed copy sent to the family of Mr. Brown :

RESOLVED That the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital record their profound sorrow at the death, on July 21st, 1935, of their colleague, Charles S. Brown.

Mr. Brown became a member of the Board in 1904 and during all those years he has been an active and influential force, ready at all times to give his time and his advice in the study of the many questions and policies which came before the Board.

In all the relations of life he stood for the highest standards, and especially so in the business world, in which he occupied such a prominent and distinguished position.

We, his associates on this Board, shall greatly miss his wise counsel and shall retain for long the memory of his friendly and attractive personality.

EXCERPT FROM THE MINUTES OF THE
BOARD OF GOVERNORS

MAY 7TH, 1935.

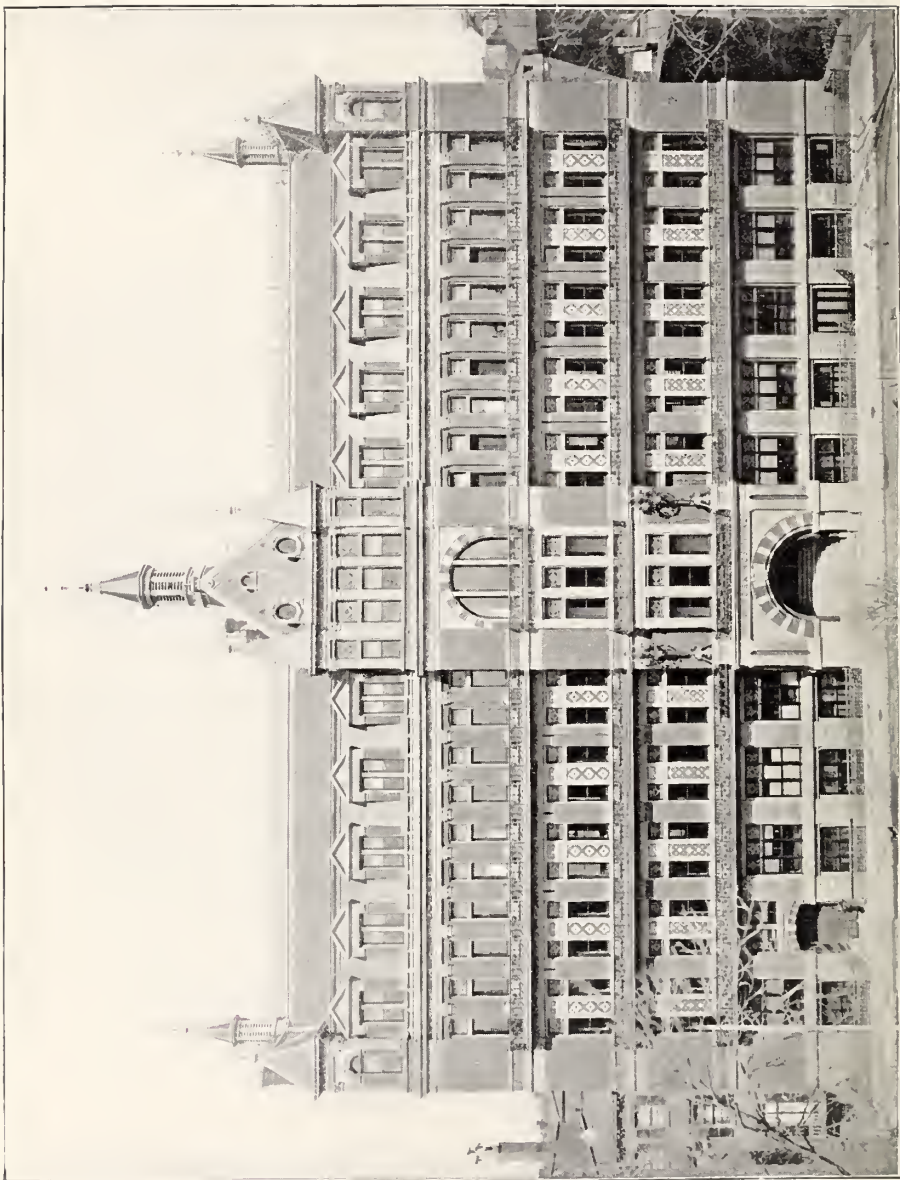

Mr. Hoppin, with profound regret, asked the Board to record on its minutes the death on April 24th, 1935, at his home in New York City, of Mr. Howard Townsend. It was voted, the Governors rising, that the following memorial be spread in full on the minutes and an engrossed copy sent to the family of Mr. Townsend:

WHEREAS The Society of the New York Hospital, through the death of Howard Townsend, has lost a most honored member of its Board of Governors, and a President who has served the Hospital with distinguished ability

BE IT RESOLVED That we, the Governors, at our meeting held at the Hospital on Tuesday, May 7th, 1935, hereby record our profound sense of loss and our very deep appreciation of the loyalty which marked every action of Mr. Townsend in his relation to the Hospital.

Mr. Townsend was elected a member of the Society in 1898 and was elected a Govenor in 1899; Vice President in 1907 and served in that capacity until 1915 when he was elected President. He served as President for four years, until December, 1919. Among the countless services which Mr. Townsend rendered to the Society was the important and constructive part he took in the establishment and development of the Campbell Convalescent Cottages.

The Board of Governors of this Hospital will greatly miss his able and devoted services and his delightful personality.

THE NEW YORK HOSPITAL
WEST FIFTEENTH STREET FRONT—COMPLETED 1877

ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
GOVERNORS OF THE SOCIETY OF THE NEW YORK
HOSPITAL FOR THE YEAR 1935.

In conformity with its charter, granted by Royal Authority June 13, 1771, in the reign of King George III, the Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital present to the Legislature of the State of New York their annual report and a statement showing the receipts and expenditures for the year 1935 of the several institutions under their control and management, as follows:

The New York Hospital, having among its departments: the Woman's Clinic, known as the Lying-In Hospital; the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic; the Department of Pediatrics; Bloomingdale Hospital for Mental Diseases at White Plains, New York; and the Hospital for Convalescent Children, White Plains, New York.

In the operation of these institutions the Society is associated with The Society of the Lying-In Hospital, Manhattan Maternity and Dispensary and the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital.

It is not possible to review the events of the year 1935 without first recording our deep sense of loss occasioned by the deaths of three members of the Board of Governors.

Wilson Marcy Powell, twenty-fifth President of the Society, to whom so great a debt is due for the existence of the Hospital in its present form, died August 17, 1935.

Howard Townsend, a member of the Board since 1899, its Vice-President from 1905 to 1917, and its twenty-third President, serving in that capacity from 1915 to 1919, died on April 24, 1935.

Charles S. Brown, whose service as a member of this Board began in 1904, died on July 21, 1935.

Elsewhere in this report are reproduced the formal resolutions adopted by the Board in commemoration of all that these three men did to carry on the long tradition of the Hospital.

The sudden death, on October 5, 1935, of Dr. Mortimer W. Raynor, Medical Director of Bloomingdale Hospital, was a severe loss to the whole organization. After careful consideration, Dr. Clarence O. Cheney, of the New York State Psychiatric Institute, was selected to fill the vacancy thus created. Dr. Cheney will assume his duties in May, 1936.

Dr. Thomas Howell, Superintendent of the New York Hospital since 1909, requested permission to retire. This being granted, with regret, by the Board of Governors, Dr. Howell duly retired on July 1, 1935. He now bears the title of Advisory Superintendent.

The progress forecast in previous reports is continuing, with all parts of the Hospital operating efficiently and harmoniously. Details will be found in the individual reports of the President of the Medical Board and of the Executive Director. The achievements recorded therein are a source of great satisfaction to the Board of Governors.

The Governors pay tribute to the members of the Social Service Committee whose true devotion and ever competent work have been vital factors in the success of the institution, and to Mrs. William Woodward, whose inspiring leadership was an important factor in the success of the United Hospital Campaign, and to Mrs. Scoville Treadwell for her untiring efforts in that campaign and to the other members of the Social Service Committees who took an active part, the Board acknowledges a special debt of gratitude.

The New York Nursery and Child's Hospital became affiliated with the New York Hospital shortly after the first of the year, and its activities are now carried on by this organization.

The Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital convey to the Staff, both professional and administrative, their appreciation of the efforts they have made during the year to broaden the scope of the service rendered by the Institution.

WILLIAMSON PELL,
Chairman of the Executive Committee.

AUGUSTINE J. SMITH,
Secretary.

June 1st, 1936.

At a stated meeting of the Board of Governors held on January 7th, 1936, the following minute was adopted:

RESOLVED that Mr. Williamson Pell, the present Chairman of the Executive Committee, write the foreword of, and together with the Secretary, sign the annual report of the Society for the year 1935.

Secretary.

THE PRESENT NEW YORK HOSPITAL
SIXTY-EIGHTH TO SEVENTY-FIRST STREETS, YORK AVENUE TO MARIE CURIE AVENUE
OPENED FOR PATIENTS SEPTEMBER 1, 1932

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

To the Board of Governors of The Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—During the year 1935 the budgetary control plan in the hospital accounting which had been put into effect the previous year was further perfected. The general policy followed in the administration of the hospital has been to maintain and, where possible, to improve the high standards of quality in the various services such as Nursing, Nutrition, Engineering, Housekeeping and Laundry, and at the same time to institute economies in operation. A decidedly upward trend in operating income is in part accounted for by an increased average census in the various private and semi-private services and also in the charging for services rendered to patients so that the spread between costs of patient care and income from patients has been reduced.

The average census was 665 and the average bed occupancy was 73.6%. The pavilions were occupied at 77.6% capacity, the semi-private at 61.5% and the private at 64.1%.

The hospital provided 242,261 days care for 17,345 bed patients and 247,453 visits for 41,774 out-patients.

In figuring the cost per unit of service, the cost of research and education has been excluded from the cost of patient care. A new born infant is figured at one-fourth an adult day. On this basis it cost to care for a pavilion patient $8.06 a day and for a private patient $10.67 a day.

A comparison of the average costs and receipts per patient day for the year 1935 with 1934 follows:

	Average Cost per Patient Day	Average Receipts per Patient Day	Average Cost per Patient Day	Average Receipts per Patient Day
Private	$10.67	$12.61	$10.93	$11.09
Semi-Private	6.79	6.78	7.96	6.66
Pavilion	8.06	3.91	7.44	2.43
Average all In-Patients	8.37	4.68	7.98	3.87

The total amount expended on behalf of patients was \$2,491,860.33 against \$2,390,697.87 in 1934, an increase of \$101,162.46 or 4 $\frac{1}{4}$ %.

The operating income (income from investments not included) was $1,473,016.06 as compared with $1,337,878.34, the previous year or an increase of $135,137.72 or 10%.

Deducting the operating income from operating expenditures shows a deficit of $1,018,844.27. For 1934 the comparable operating deficit was $1,052,819.53 and in 1933 it was $1,171,520.91.

The cost of pavilion service was $1,340,224.03, of private service $365,839.95, of semi-private service $118,932.29.

The cost of operating the Out-Patient Department was $292,891.57 and the income was $222,786.90, the deficit being $70,104.67 against $66,362.54 in 1934 and $96,709.09 in 1933.

The great loss to the management of the hospital in the death of Mr. Wilson M. Powell, the President of the Society, has been partly offset by the keen interest and active part taken in the problems of the hospital by the members of the Board of Governors, a number of whom have given unsparingly of their time, individually and in committees.

Following Dr. Thomas Howell's retirement from the active Superintendency of the hospital in the Spring of 1935 he served in an advisory capacity. Pending the appointment of a Superintendent, Dr. Hugh Warren temporarily held the position of Assistant Superintendent from October 5th, 1935, until the first part of 1936.

The New York Hospital joined the Associated Hospital Service of New York and during the year a number of patients came in on that plan both in the semi-private and private pavilions.

The Nutrition Department prepared and served in its budgeted units 1,933,422 meals during the year at a cost of $383,216.96 for raw food or .198 per meal. The cost of personnel amounted to $163,902.56 or .084 per meal and the cost of supplies totaled $18,489.59 or .009 per meal. In addition 27,949 baby formulas were prepared at a cost of $1,683.34 or .06 per formula.

The Nutrition Clinic gave 10,527 instructions and 1,115 mothers attended nutrition classes in the pre-natal clinic. On November 1st a plan was put into effect to charge patients, except those in the Diabetic and Obesity Clinic, for instruction in the Nutrition Clinic.

During the year, the educational work for nurses, medical students and post graduate dietitians has continued.

An increase of more than 6% in electric current, of about 10% in refrigeration, ice and low pressure steam indicates that the output of the Engineering Department kept pace with the larger requirements in 1935 over 1934.

The following figures represent the volume of the various engineering productions and the costs:

Steam Produced	519,628,981 lbs.	@ .27495 per M lbs.
Electric Current	8,610,447 KW Hrs.	@ .00997 per KW Hr.
Refrigeration	40,425.49 Tons	@ .77168 per Ton
Ice	37,797 Cakes	@ .0556 per Cake

Low pressure steam for heating and domestic hot water—190,978,606 pounds.

The total poundage which was put through the Laundry in 1935 was 4,472,231 or slightly more than 2,236 tons. This represented about 8,000,000 pieces. The increase over 1934 was 15%.

The Record Room originated, indexed and filed some 35,250 new records in 1935. This figure is interesting in its connection with the unit system of record keeping. While the total number of patients treated both in-patient and out-patient shows an increase over 1934, the number of new records originated is less than 1934. The reason for this is the fact that each time a patient returns for treatment and each time he is readmitted to the hospital, a new record and new history number is not given to the patient, but record of his new treatment or new admission is added to his old record under his old history number. In this way we have all the patient's treatment and data from all departments contracted in one history of the patient. All our records, therefore, are potentially active.

The Record Department circulated a total of 551,530 records during 1935, handling requests for an average of 1,647 to 2,279 daily. The actual daily range of records circulated was from 1,310 to 2,683. There was a total of 247 days during the year on which circulation exceeded 1,500 records; and a total of 101 days during the year on which circulation exceeded 2,000 records.

During the year the only change in bed capacity was the opening of the twelfth floor in the Private Patient Pavilion. This provided 17 additional private beds, which have been used in part by the Woman's Clinic.

The distribution of beds on December 31 was as follows:

Pavilions	No. of Beds

In carrying out the program of the non-professional activities of the hospital the three objectives of a teaching hospital: care of the patient, teaching, and research, have been kept constantly in mind. The relations between the Hospital and the Cornell University Medical College have been intimate and cordial.

The whole hearted cooperation of the professional staff and the loyal support of the administrative department heads and of the rank and file of employees have aided materially in the progress of the institution along sound economic lines.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE MEDICAL BOARD

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I have the honor to present herewith the Medical Board's Report on the Professional activities of the Hospital for the year 1935.

The total number of patients admitted to the Hospital during that year was 16,988, while the actual number of patient-days was 264,398, as compared with 244,912, patient-days in 1934. Likewise, an expansion is also noted in the Out-Patient Department, the total number of patients treated in 1934 and in 1935 being 37,304 and 41,774, respectively, whereas the total number of visits for these years was 213,116 and 247,453, respectively.

In the Department of Medicine, the pavilions or wards have been well filled with patients representing a large variety of diseases though there have not been as many contagious cases as we had hoped. The isolation ward, G-4, provides an excellent opportunity for the care of such patients with individual rooms and complete isolation. There is still a need of more free beds to provide material for the many special studies that are being carried on by the full time and part time members of the department.

The part time physicians working in the medical wards and the Out-Patient Department have continued to serve the Hospital with great loyalty. One important factor in this has been the monthly dinner of the medical department out-patient service organized and conducted by Dr. Connie M. Guion, who is in charge of the general medical clinic. This is followed by a lecture and discussion dealing with some topic of practical as well as scientific interest to the whole staff.

The pulmonary service is developing steadily with the encouragement and financial assistance of the International Health Board. We are now serving a large city tuberculosis district immediately surrounding the hospital and careful study is made of the source of infection of every case. All members of the family are brought to the Hospital for clinical and X-ray observation in order to detect the disease in its earlier stages. The new tuberculosis ward proves invaluable as a place for the treatment and distribution of tuberculosis patients.

The Russell Sage Institute of Pathology has made it possible to engage in extensive metabolic studies in connection with the small metabolism ward. The Henry Research Fund in a similar manner has aided the work of the endocrine clinic. There is still room for more of these special research funds.

In order to promote the efficient care of patients, special clinics are being developed to the best of our ability. At present enthusiastic groups are working in the subdivisions of gastro-intestinal diseases, circulatory diseases, metabolic endocrine disturbances, arthritis, allergy, neurology, and diseases of the blood and the skin.

The members of the neurological staff have been cooperating even more closely this year with the staff of the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic. The assistant residents in the Department of Medicine have had the unusual opportunity of working at the New York State Hospital for Incipient Tuberculosis at Ray Brook for three weeks at a time while members of their staff are visiting our Hospital in New York in exchange.

During the last year there have been 26 publications from the Department of Medicine. The spirit of teaching has permeated the department and carefully planned instruction is given not only to the students, nurses and house staff but facilities for self instruction are provided for all the doctors working in the out-patient department and pavilions. The educational facilities of the Hospital are being appreciated more and more by outside groups interested in nursing, nutrition, clinical medicine, and the fundamental sciences. Many of these organizations hold meetings in the Hospital during the course of the year.

During the year 2,600 patients were admitted to the general pavilions of the Surgical Department. Of this number 661 patients were not subjected to operation either because operation was not indicated or because operation was refused. Of this number 18 died in the Hospital, a mortality for non-operative cases of 2.7%. Upon the remaining 1,939 patients, 2,322 operations were performed with 67 deaths, an operative mortality of 2.8%, a case mortality of 3.4%. As in previous years appendicitis, diseases of the thyroid gland, hernia, diseases of the gall-bladder and diseases of the rectum (exclusive of cancer) were the five most common surgical conditions treated and made up 43.2% of all the operations performed. In this group there were 1,027 operations with 14 deaths, a mortality of 1.3%. The year saw the first death since the Hospital opened following a hernia operation and the first in a non-cancerous disease of the rectum. The year, however, also saw a perfect mortality record in operations upon the thyroid gland, 176 operations having been performed without a death. Of the total number of operations performed, the Resident Staff performed 1,542, or about 65%, with 23 deaths, an operative mortality of 1.4%.

An analysis of the deaths shows that of the 67 postoperative deaths, 20 followed operations for acute emergency conditions; 10 followed extensive operations for cancer; 10 followed operations upon the brain and spinal cord; 7 followed operations for conditions within the thorax; 3 followed operations upon the gall-bladder and bile ducts and 18 followed operation for a great variety of miscellaneous conditions.

In the various sub-departments of the Surgical Department, a summary of the year's work shows the following:

a). Urology: (exclusive of Brady Foundation). During the year 366 patients were admitted for various urological conditions. Of this number 180 were not subjected to operation, of which 10 died in the hospital. Upon the remaining 186 patients, 220 operations were performed with 10 deaths, an operative mortality of 4.5%, a case mortality of 5.3%.

b). Urology (Brady Foundation): 382 patients were admitted to the pavilions of the Brady Foundation, and 238 operations performed. In the out-patient clinics of this department, the total visits increased from 11,431 in 1934 to 13,206 in 1935. We feel deeply grateful to Mr. Charles Wright for his support in maintaining the Bessie Wright Memorial Fund for the care of destitute individuals with cancer of the genito-urinary tracts.

c). Otolaryngology: A total of 941 patients were admitted to the pavilions and semi-private and private floors. 969 operations were d). Orthopedics: 113 patients were admitted to the pavilion service, and 45 operations performed without a death.

e). Ophthalmology: 71 patients were admitted to the pavilion service and semi-private and private services. 62 ophthalmological operations were performed. There were no deaths.

Exclusive of the Brady Foundation, 4,091 patients were admitted to the hospital beds of the Surgical Department and 3,618 operations performed. These numbers include some semi-private and private patients in Otolaryngology and Ophthalmology.

The services of the Tenth Floor Operating Pavilion in the preparation of sterile solutions and supplies for the hospital, remain as in the past year. The records of the Operating Rooms show that 4,042 operations were performed the past year and 313 treatments given.

The group of anesthetists associated with the Surgical Department, gave or participated in 5,514 anesthetics, 3,351 were general inhalation anesthetics; 1,216 local anesthetics (in 57 combined with inhalation); 324 spinal (in 25 combined with inhalation); 46 caudal (in 13 combined with inhalation); and 528 avertin (in 501 combined with inhalation).

The pathological laboratory of the Surgical Department under the direction of Dr. Foot, described, diagnosed and recorded 2,802 surgical pathological specimens. Heliotherapy gave 10,851 treatments.

The Surgical Out-Patient Department received a total of 65,089 visits during the past year. This represents a considerable increase over the preceding year. All departments of the Surgical Out-Patient Department showed an increase in total visits; on the other hand, two departments showed a slight decrease in new patients. A full report of the Surgical Out-Patient Department will soon be available.

In the Accident Pavilion, 10,444 new patients were treated during the year of 1935; of this number 1,267 were sent into the hospital pavilions; there were 4,800 revisits and dressings; and 3,309 employees were treated. The grand total of visits for the year was 21,044.

In the Minor Surgical Operating Room in the Out-Patient Department 337 operations were performed while 819 plaster casts were applied.

The Children's Clinic continues to show an increase in the number of patients treated both in the pavilions and in the Out-Patient Department. Pavilion patients (exclusive of the private service) increased from 719 in 1934, to 894 in 1935; and 7,587 patients made 31,361 visits to the Out-Patient Department in 1935 as against 6,577 patients and 29,289 visits for the preceding year. Post mortem examinations were obtained in 74 or in 70 per cent of the 105 patients who died during their residence in the pavilions. In 1935, the first full year in which the private service of 10 beds functions, 239 patients were admitted for a total of 1,602 days. A growing number of physicians are availing themselves of these private facilities and there is little doubt that this service will continue to show a steady increase.

The close cooperation between the Pediatric and Obstetric Department in the care of newly born infants has continued during the past year. It is gratifying to report that with an increased occupancy in the premature air-conditioned suite for 91 infants in 1934 to 114 infants in 1935, the mortality rate has coincidentally declined from 44 to 24 per cent. If deaths occurring in the first 48 hours after birth are excluded, the corrected mortality rate for premature infants was 9 per cent for the past year.

The renewal of the grant of $10,000.00 from the Commonwealth Fund has enabled Dr. Wilson to continue her meritorious studies of rheumatic disease in childhood.

An increase in the grant from $5,000.00 to $13,500.00 from the same source has permitted expansion of psychiatric service to the Children's Clinic. Two psychiatrists (in place of one) who are especially trained in the management of behavior problems now devote the major portion of their time to the Children's Clinic and have rendered valuable service to our patients.

A number of investigations dealing with nutritional, chemical, bacteriological and immunological problems of infancy and childhood are being vigorously pursued. The premature nurseries, obstetrical nurseries, and the Convalescent Hospital in White Plains have been valuable adjuncts in carrying out a number of these projects.

The work of the Children's Clinic, embodying medical education, service to patients and scientific research is carried on by a staff of pediatricians totalling thirty-nine members, seven of whom devote their full time to the hospital. This staff is supplemented by a resident group consisting of twelve members.

We are indebted to Dr. Oscar M. Schloss, past director of the Children's Clinic and at present Attending Pediatrician, for his continued interest in the welfare and assistance in the conduct of the Children's Clinic.

The Department of Psychiatry has expanded its work under the able direction of Dr. W. L. Russell. During the year, 298 patients were treated in the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic, an increase of 50 above the preceding year. That the service meets a need of physicians in private practice is shown in the fact that 77 per cent of the applicants for admission were referred from this source. The number discharged was 228, of which 143, or 62.5 per cent, were either recovered or improved; 155, or 68 per cent, were discharged without supervision or to be with relatives or friends.

The number of visits to the Psychiatric Out-Patient Service was 6,224, and the number of patients treated was 1,534. There were 846 new patients, of whom 225 were children. Sixty-three per cent of the patients were referred from other departments. This was 81 more than in 1934. Of the remainder, 46 per cent were from physicians in private practice. The Out-Patient Service was strengthened by the appointment of a half-time psychiatrist to have charge of the children's division, and several additional psychiatrists were added to the general out-patient staff which now consists of 32. The Commonwealth Fund made it possible, not only to continue Dr. LaMar's service in the Department of Pediatrics, but to appoint a full-time assistant psychiatrist to aid in this important educational, research and developmental undertaking. The Nursery School with an enrollment of 18 has, with the support of Mrs. Barklie Henry, been continued and is a valuable means of investigating the development and behavior of young children with reference to their bearing on psychiatry. The School is also of value in the education of nurses, medical students, and physicians.

In cooperative relations with other departments, there were 487 visits made to patients in the Clinic by physicians to these departments, and 137 visits for treatment were made to other departments by clinic patients. Psychiatrists of the Clinic made 255 visits for consultations in other departments. Psychiatrists of the Out-Patient Service gave psychiatric attention to 838 patients in other Out-Patient Services, and physicians from the Medical Department examined for advice and treatment 67 patients in the Psychiatric Out-Patient Service.

The usual staff conferences were held three times a week. Physicians in private practice and from other departments of the Hospital were invited to attend when patients in whom they were interested were presented. Dr. Henry has continued in cooperation with physicians in other departments the psychiatric study of thyroid and menopause cases, and has published a book on psychopathology. Under the auspices of the Committee on Sex Variants a group of physicians is engaged at the Clinic in the psychiatric and constitutional study of 100 cases, including X-ray, endocrinological, and general physical examinations.

This department as well as the New York Hospital as a whole, has suffered a severe loss in the death of Dr. George H. Kirby and Dr. Mortimer W. Raynor.

The Hospital is deeply indebted to Dr. Pool and Dr. Cussler for their careful control and direction of the Private Patient Service. This service, including semi-private ward, has been greatly extended during the past year, as is shown by the fact that the total number of patients admitted increased from 2,547 in 1934, to 2,987 in 1935. The House Staff, as a consequence, had to be increased by the addition of an intern for the private medical service. The private rooms, a number of times, have been fully occupied and much use has been made of the semi-private wards; so much so that there appears to be a need of increasing facilities in this respect.

During that year the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology treated 4,185 obstetrical patients on their indoor and outdoor delivery services and 853 gynecological patients, a total of 5,038 patients, as compared with 5,028 in 1934, and 5,013 in 1933. The pavilion or ward beds in the Lying-In Hospital have been occupied to the extent of 86 per cent, the semi-private 45 per cent, and the private beds 76 per cent of full capacity, giving a total for all classes of patients of 80 per cent of full capacity, a figure which cannot be greatly exceeded in a maternity hospital without jeopardizing adequate medical and nursing care. The total number of women delivered was 3,488, resulting in 3,526 babies. The uncorrected maternal mortality, including abortions and ectopic pregnancies, was 3.106 per 1,000 patients. The gross infantile mortality rate, including all babies over 1,500 grams in weight as well as neonatal deaths during the puerperium to the time of discharge from the Hospital, was 3.431 per cent.

In the Gynecological Service of the Lying-In Hospital there were 853 discharges as compared with 711 in 1934. The total death rate in our gynecological division was 7 in 853 patients, or 0.821 per cent. The postoperative death rate was 2 in 680 total operations (minor and major), but as both occurred following major operations, this rate becomes 2 in 288, or 0.694 per cent.

During 1935 the total number of visits in the clinics of the Out-Patient Department was 247,453, an increase of 34,337 over the previous year. The total number of new admissions increased from 26,590 in 1934 to 27,066 in 1935. There was a substantial increase of 25 per cent or more in three medical and three surgical specialties, as well as a slight increase in admissions in the Gynecology Clinic and the Pediatric Clinic. In the service departments, X-ray, and Physiotherapy showed very definite increase in the amount of work performed.

On the whole, the present organization is working satisfactorily. The professional Advisory Committee of the Out-Patient Department has exercised more critical supervision over the professional work. Especially since last autumn, the Director of the Out-Patient Department has been given opportunity to present a number of routine problems, related to the care of patients. It would be desirable also if the Advisory Committee be kept cognizant of the economic aspects of the Out-Patient Department Administration, from the point of view of income and cost.

Autopsies performed by the Department of Pathology and the relation of autopsies to deaths in the various services of the Hospital during 1935, were as follows:

Deaths in Hospital (excluding stillbirths).....	555
Autopsies performed.....	316
Autopsies in relation to deaths.....	57.0%
Stillbirths	116
Stillbirths autopsies in relation to deaths.....	48.3%

A conference between the staffs of the clinical services and that of the Pathological Department is held each Monday throughout the year in order to discuss the diagnosis, clinical course and treatment of disease in relation to the observations that are made at autopsy. This conference is attended by a large part of the attending and resident staff. Obscure cases are reviewed and discussed in the light of post-mortem observations.

The Department has maintained and considerably enlarged the "Pathological Cabinet" of the New York Hospital.

Experimental studies of leukemia have continued with the aid of a fund provided by an anonymous donor and supplemented by a grant from the Lady Tata Memorial Trust for "research into diseases of the blood, with special reference to leukaemias." With the aid of a grant from the International Health Division of the Rockefeller Foundation, studies of protective inoculation against tuberculosis and of the relation of sensitization to immunity in this disease have continued. Other studies in progress in the Department of Pathology concern various phases of tuberculosis, sensitization and immunity with hemolytic streptococcus infection, lesions of the prostate gland, tissue culture study of histiocytes, etc.

There has again been a marked increase in the demands made upon the Department of Central Laboratories by the various clinical units of the Hospital. The total number of examinations made in 1935 was 64,476, exceeding the number made in 1934 by 16.8% and in excess of the number made in 1933 by 38%. This increase is in part due to the opening of additional clinical wards and in part to increased activities of the various clinical units. One of the functions of this Department, which is peculiar to the Central Laboratories, involves the manufacture of certain agents used for therapeutic purposes. In accord with the increased activities of the Hospital as a whole, the amount of this material called for by the clinical units has been increased by 12.5% and the culture media issued has been increased from 64,969 to 70,278 items representing an increase of 8.2% over the preceding year and 67.6% over 1933. It is in this field that the cost of operation has been materially increased but thus far economies effected in other units have been sufficient to meet these added expenditures.

During the year 1935 the marked increase in the number of cases referred to the X-ray Department noted in 1934, still continued. The point has been reached where the facilities of that Department are over-taxed. The rate of increase was approximately 8% greater than the patient increase in the Hospital, as a whole. This internal growth is of particular interest as indicating that the diagnostic and therapeutic services rendered by the X-ray Department are becoming more valuable to the referring physicians. Through the generosity of an anonymous donor, we secured an additional therapy machine of a shock-proof constant potential type. This has proved to be very efficient and has greatly increased the range of the therapy work, and it has improved the results.

The research work on soft tissue radiography carried on by the X-ray Department for several years was continued in spite of handicaps such as lack of time and funds. In this connection a considerable interest has been shown in a method of injecting air into the fascial planes, thereby affording a readily controlled contrast medium.

During the past year the Hospital has carried on its educational program as in 1934, and has continued to contribute its share to the research activities of the various departments. The cooperation between the Cornell University Medical College and the New York Hospital, to which I referred in the 1934 Report, has continued to the mutual benefit of both institutions. The Dean of the Medical School and the Executive Director of the Hospital have been of great assistance to the Medical Board, not only in furnishing the Board with necessary information but also in helping it in the solution of many difficult problems.

We are indebted to Miss Anna D. Wolf, Director of the School of Nursing and Director of the Nursing Service, and her staff, for the very high standard of nursing care maintained throughout the year. In a like manner is the Hospital grateful to Miss S. M. Gillam, Director of the Department of Nutrition, and the members of her staff, for the intelligent supervision and care given not only to problems of nutrition, but also to the matter of special diets as well as general meals throughout the Hospital.

The New York Hospital Social Service Committee has assisted in, and solved very many difficult problems inevitably arising in an institution giving care and treatment to many free, as well as part-paying patients. The report of Miss H. L. Josephi, Director of the Social Service Department, on Page 46, shows to what extent the Hospital is dependent upon the help of the Social Service Department. Similarly, in the Lying-In branch of this Hospital, the Ladies' Auxiliary Board of the Lying-In Hospital, with its Social Service Department, has solved those same problems arising in the Lying-In Hospital during the year.

The Medical Board, members of the professional staff and all associated with the Hospital, suffered a great loss in the death of Mr. Wilson M. Powell, President of the Hospital since the early part of 1934. His inspiration and understanding were of the utmost help to the Medical Board.

The Medical Board wishes to convey to the members of the Board of Governors of the New York Hospital, its sincere gratitude for their invaluable assistance and support in the solution of the many professional problems that have arisen during the year. The Medical Board feels that it has had the full cooperation and backing of the Board of Governors.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRICUS J. STANDER, M.D.

President of the Medical Board.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE MEDICAL DIRECTOR OF BLOOMINGDALE HOSPITAL, WHITE PLAINS, FOR 1935*

To the Board of Governors:

GENTLEMEN:—This report of the activities of Bloomingdale Hospital for the year ending December 31st, 1935 is a record of achievements planned and directed by one who did not live to communicate them to you. Mortimer W. Raynor, M.D., Medical Director of this Hospital since September 1st, 1926, died after a short illness on October 5th at the age of 56 years. His able administration, his high professional ideals and clinical standards, his interest in general medicine and problems of medical organization, his capacity in leadership and his many services to his fellowmen are well known to you and have been attested by individuals and by the various medical and other groups with whom he labored before and during his incumbency of the position to which you called him nine years ago. To his associates falls the duty of assembling this annual report.

* The full report of which this is a summary may be had upon request of the Medical Director.

Seventy-two per cent. of the patients made their own applications and as it happens the same percentage of those remaining in the Hospital at the end of the year are on voluntary status. In 13 cases it became necessary to place under commitment patients who had been received as voluntary cases; in 11 cases patients signed their own commitment on account of alcoholism or drug addiction; 3 patients were transferred from committed to voluntary status; 7 minors were received on application by their parents.

The number of patients discharged was 242, of whom 91 were men and 151 were women. Of this number 45 were fully recovered, 57 were much improved, and 77 improved. These 179 patients constituted 73 per cent. of the total number discharged. Fifty-six were discharged without improvement. Several of the latter, as well as those transferred to other institutions, had been in the Hospital for a considerable time and in accordance with the policy of the Hospital were removed to make room for new admissions. Some patients were received, examined, and studied for the purpose of advising their relatives in regard to their future care and treatment. Twenty-one were transferred to other institutions. Four women, less than one per cent. of the total number of patients treated, died.

The average period of treatment in the Hospital of those discharged as recovered was 9 months; and of those improved, approximately the same. Ten of the recovered cases had been in the Hospital a year or more; one for more than three years.

Forty-four who had left the Hospital during the year were still carried on visit as the year ended. Most of these patients keep in touch with the physicians by visits to White Plains or to the New York Hospital, and others by correspondence. Sixty-nine former patients called at the New York office 256 times and 117 called at Bloomingdale Hospital 237 times. This service is very valuable to the patients. They are aided in establishing themselves outside the Hospital and are encouraged to seek early advice in the event of any unfavorable symptoms. Such visits consume much time and involve considerable labor by the physicians but the service has been furnished without charge.

The visiting staff examine all patients and the consulting staff are frequently called.

CLINICAL SERVICE

The resident medical staff is so organized as to provide frequent consultation upon the problems of the patient. Each patient admitted to the Hospital is assigned to a physician who assumes the responsibility for complete examination and for treatment. Conferences are held each morning in both the Men's and Women's Departments at which the patients' condition and treatment are discussed by the physicians with the nursing supervisors and the heads of the therapeutic departments. On four mornings each week a general staff conference is held for the consideration of diagnosis and treatment. Patients and their case histories are presented. In this way most of the patients have opportunity to discuss their problems with the whole staff. Furthermore, the physicians are in daily informal consultation with the heads of the departments and the Medical Director. Each patient is thus insured the collective judgment of the staff and the mature professional opinions of physicians with extensive clinical experience.

Monday Evening Meetings were held throughout the year except during July. The program had been arranged at the beginning of the year. Studies of case material, scientific topics in psychiatry and related fields, and reviews of current medical literature are presented and discussed. Such seminars inevitably contribute to the maintenance of high clinical standards.

The year's work included 10 major operations by the surgeons, 14 tonsillectomies, and 20 removals of impacted teeth under general anaesthesia. All members of the visiting and consulting staffs made a total of 1468 calls at the Hospital. One patient visited the private office of a specialist.

Twice during the year psychiatric conferences were held with the physicians of the neighborhood.

The Medical Director, the Clinical Director, and six other members of the medical staff have carried consulting or attending assignments in the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic and the Out-Patient Department of the New York Hospital.

The use of psychoanalysis in the treatment of hospital patients has been further studied this year and certain patients have received the benefit of such treatment.

The Employees' Clinic examine all new personnel and treat those who become sick. Seven hundred and sixty persons visited the Clinic 1705 times.

The Dental Department examined 281 new patients and re-examined 230 others and carried out operations and other dental procedures to the number of 5804. Every patient upon admission has a complete dental examination and later periodic examinations so long as he remains in the Hospital.

The laboratory procedures have been well correlated with clinical work and the Associate Director of Laboratories works one day a week in the New York Hospital. The number of X-ray examinations made was 157 more than in the previous year and the pathological examinations were 12 per cent. more numerous than in 1934.

The foundation of sound and effective treatment is an intelligent and understanding nursing organization. A satisfactory level of proficiency has been maintained throughout the year. Our nurses must constantly interchange observations with the medical staff so that schedules of treatment can be carried out and the personalities and symptoms of patients can be understood, and this has been done.

With the mounting census we have somewhat increased the number of nursing positions. We have also accepted a larger number of affiliate and postgraduate students.

The nursing service gave 5226 prolonged baths and 12,001 therapeutic packs during the year.

Occupational Therapy has received its usual emphasis in our scheme of treatment and there is reason for gratification in its contribution to the welfare and improvement of the condition of our patients. The Hospital is fortunate in having two well planned and equipped buildings in which to carry on this form of treatment. Patients whose condition permits go daily to these buildings for regular periods of activity, and other hours are assigned to classes on the halls for those who are unable to go to the special buildings. The total number of patients treated during the year was 481 of whom 197 were men and 284 women. This number represented 88 per cent. of all the men and 86 per cent. of all the women patients under treatment.

Physical Education has been an active interest in therapy for some years and we are gratified by its success in stimulating the spirit and holding the attention and enthusiasm of our patients. During clement weather the fields and courts, in cold or stormy weather the gymnasias are utilized for the recreation and rehabilitation of the patients. Suitable groups of patients are assembled for many activities and individual attention is liberally provided where indicated.

The total number of patients enrolled in the Departments of Physical Education was 457 of whom 193 were men and 264 were women.

The resources of the departments are made available to the employees of the Hospital and have been used extensively. They are encouraged to become skillful in golf, tennis and other sports in which they can be helpful to the patients.

Massage, hydrotherapy, light therapy, and other forms of physiotherapy have been employed in various measure. In the men's department the nursing service shares with the technicians the effecting of many of these procedures. The total number of treatments given to patients was 45,719.

To the libraries during the year 353 volumes were added, of which 114 were gifts. Thirty-three of these were purchased from the fund given by the late Mr. Walter Jennings. Two hundred and nineteen books were added to the general library, and 92 books and 42 bound volumes of journals were added to the medical library. One hundred and twenty were withdrawn from the general library. Sixty-seven general magazines (53 titles) and 45 medical and other special journals of which four are in foreign languages, were received. The distribution from the general library was 17,974 of which 13,721 were issued to patients, 7012 to the men and 6709 to the women; and 4253 to employees. No figures are kept showing the use of the medical library. All medical journals are bound and made available for reference. The general library now contains 4583 volumes, and the medical library and that of the School of Nursing 5296, making a total of 9879 volumes.

The dietary department has maintained the planning and provision of the regular meals of patients and personnel in very acceptable fashion throughout the year. Many special diets are required for medical reasons, ranging from individual portions to complete meals. These amounted to a daily average of 341 portions for 70 persons, 61 patients and 9 employees. The gradual replacement of old equipment is in progress. This year the rotary oven was dismantled and a new gas stove installed. Project cookery is in progress to improve the recipes in use.

YORK LODGE

York Lodge, a commodious cottage on the shore of Long Island Sound at Mamaroneck, was visited by parties of patients on all pleasant days during the summer except Sundays. Lunch was served on the veranda and the patients had opportunity to go in swimming. There were 49 day parties providing 469 outings for 138 patients. The patients enjoyed these outings exceedingly. York Lodge contributes markedly to the pleasure of the patients and is looked upon as one of the treatment resources of the Hospital.

EDUCATIONAL WORK

The educational work carried on at the Hospital again merits some comment. This very important part of our work is directed toward the training of physicians, nurses, occupational therapists, physical education aides, dietitians, and housekeepers. Two instructors are employed in the Nursing Department solely for teaching; otherwise all the educational work is carried on by the physicians and directors of departments and their assistants, in connection with their regular duties in the treatment of patients and the administration of the Hospital. It is believed that this very considerable employment of time and study is well justified as a contribution to the better understanding and application of psychiatric practice. In addition, we have found that such review of our procedures results in the maintenance and betterment of our own standards.

In accordance with the standards of the American Medical Association the Hospital offers to physicians who meet the special requirements of the Hospital, appointments of from two to five years for graduate education in psychiatry. This year it has been arranged to appoint to the medical staff a graduate student in psychiatry of the University of Pennsylvania. At the Vanderbilt Clinic and at Cornell Medical College our resident physicians have opportunity for study in related branches of medicine. Six members of the medical staff give a half day each week to the Out-Patient Department of the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic of the New York Hospital. Four physicians are instructors in psychiatry at the Cornell Medical College. The Medical Director was Professor of Clinical Psychiatry at Cornell Medical College and Consultant in Psychiatry to the New York Hospital. The Clinical Director is Instructor in Clinical Psychiatry and Attending Psychiatrist to the New York Hospital.

The staff conferences in which cases are presented, and the Evening Conferences for discussion of scientific subjects, and the conferences held with the visiting and consulting staff are of high educational value to the physicians. An excellent medical library is replenished with new books and files of important periodicals. A special library is maintained for the nursing staff. Periodicals and books are provided for other departments.

The School of Nursing is registered by the Regents of the University of the State of New York. All graduates are eligible for the qualification of Registered Nurse granted by the Regents. One hundred and twenty-seven students received instruction this year of whom 41 were undergraduates, 63 affiliates, and 23 postgraduates.

Eight members of the graduate nursing staff have taken extensive courses in the theory and practice of nursing and allied subjects at Columbia University and other educational institutions. One was awarded the Floyd-Jones Scholarship in Nursing Education. It is noteworthy that the number of well trained psychiatric nurses in the community appears to be inadequate. Even through the depression every male graduate of the School has been employed.

In the Department of Dietetics six student dietitians were given instruction, both theoretical in the diet laboratory and practical in the special diet kitchen. The Departments of Occupational Therapy also gave instruction to 90 nurses who were in training in the Hospital. Instruction in the employment of physical exercises, games and sports and social entertainments in the treatment of the sick was given to 80 student nurses. The librarian gave five lectures to 77 nurses in the School of Nursing on the selection of books and the value of literature in the treatment of psychiatric disorders.

Two students received the certificate of the course in Hospital House-keeping.

IMPROVEMENTS IN PLANT AND EQUIPMENT

Improvements include water softening equipment installed at a cost of $8,000; the complete refurnishing of Hall Six East for patients at a cost of $3,000; a new elevator in the Women's Department costing $6,000.

Much extra painting has been done. Safety type hinges were put on the doors in the disturbed halls for men and for women. Eight driven wells were added to the water supply. Fifteen hundred feet of new cement walk were laid. Dexter Cottage was renovated; a reception room in the Administration Building was refurnished.

NEEDS

Generous friends have in the past provided liberally for the needs of the Hospital. New needs arise and the changing demands of a progressive age call for new equipment and new activities. A varied list is herewith submitted.

(1) It has been the tradition of the Hospital for more than a century of its existence that no person, otherwise suitable, be refused admission because of temporary lack of funds, if accommodations are available. Hence endowments should be provided, the income of which could be appropriated to the support of worthy patients whose friends are unable to reimburse the Hospital in whole or in part for their treatment. At present the John C. Green Memorial Fund is the only source, outside of current earnings, from which such aid can be extended.

(2) The educational work of the Hospital requires special support. Significant research has been carried on in this Hospital and other important projects can be undertaken when support is forthcoming.

(3) The Occupational Therapy building for men, once considered more than adequate in size, has been outgrown and should be enlarged.

(4) The men's division is without suitable hydrotherapeutic equipment. The location of the women's hydrotherapy is not convenient for the use of the men patients and only a limited number can go to it. Funds are needed to provide adequate space and apparatus for the best type of treatment.

(5) Extensive renewals occasioned by depreciation are needed in the near future. There should be a considerable replacement of laundry equipment. The kitchen should have several units of new equipment. The pond needs to be cleaned out and deepened.

(6) The general library, while beautiful in appointments, is inadequate in space. It should be possible without disturbance of its usual functions to have book review groups and other literary interests carried on there in a social atmosphere. Funds are needed to relocate the library. There should also be a stable fund from which purchases can be made.

(7) Renovation, rewiring and refurnishing the halls should be resumed and continued until all have had suitable attention.

(8) Small admission halls very amply equipped to assure rest, quiet, isolation, and other elements of emergency treatment should be provided for both men and women.

(9) The medical library is in need of replacements and renewals. A fund established by a former member of the Board is now almost exhausted. Further funds are desired for this important purpose. The system of cataloguing is no longer adequate to the size and importance of this library; a small fund is needed to provide recataloguing.

(10) Another residence unit for women nurses is needed. At present a group of these nurses is quartered in a hall that formerly housed an important group of men patients. Others have been placed in certain cottages that will again be occupied by patients as the Hospital census rises. All such space should be released at the earliest possible moment.

(11) The housing of our male nurses is unsatisfactory and with an increasing census it is probable that quarters will again be inadequate. A house should be provided for these men, who are the backbone of the nursing service for our men patients.

(12) Accommodations for disturbed patients are no longer adequate to the needs of the Hospital and the demands of the community. Some remodelling of the present quarters should be undertaken and a new building for disturbed women should be added.

(13) Funds are needed for relocating the golf course on the west side of the property and expanding it to eighteen holes. When in use by any considerable number of patients it is now too crowded.

(14) There is need of a cottage for the study and treatment of unstable and problem children. The occasional patient of this type that we receive is out of place among adults. This Hospital could make a large contribution to the understanding and treatment of such children.

FINANCIAL

In several directions less money was spent than in the previous year. Nevertheless our total expenditure was higher than anticipated owing to the striking increase in the cost of supplies, especially meats, and we close the year with a deficit. The total expenditure for the year was $678,504.47. This includes the maintenance and operation of the properties at White Plains and Orienta Point, ordinary repairs and renewals, insurance except against fire, supplies, nursing and other study and treatment services, the educational work engaged in, salaries and wages, and all other running expenses. Capital charges and the cost of extraordinary renewals and improvements for which no provision was made in the budget and for which special appropriations were received, are not included.

Stringent economies with which your Board is familiar enabled us in spite of the unfavorable commodity prices to come nearer to our income than we could in 1934. The items in which smaller sums were expended were salaries. In only one department was there salary increase and this was due to extra work upon the grounds. All other increases were for things purchased and every department showed the effect of this situation.

Of the 552 cases treated during the year 234 were wholly or partially supported by the Society. The number treated without charge was 16, and 218 paid rates that were below the average cost. The expense borne by the Society in the treatment of these cases amounted to $151,893.52 which was the equivalent of 55 free beds or 20,075 free days throughout the year. The number of days' board and treatment was 87,790.

The income of the John C. Green Memorial Fund amounting to $7,892.37 was, in accordance with the terms of the Memorial, applied to the support of seven women patients.

GENERAL

Mr. Barbey presented a new planimeter for use in the laboratory.

Through the courtesy of Mrs. Barklie Henry a radio has been installed in a disturbed hall for women.

Many friends and relatives of patients have signified their appreciation of the service rendered to patients in whom they were interested by giving generously to the Nurses' Entertainment Fund.

It is a pleasure again to express appreciation of the cooperation of the administrative, clinical, and laboratory staffs of the New York Hospital in dealing with various problems, and the skillful and kindly attention received by patients and employees who have been transferred to the New York Hospital for examination and treatment.

Many friends of the Hospital have in various ways shown their interest in its activities and ideals. Thanks are due to Dr. H. Claude Hardy, Superintendent of Schools of the City of White Plains, who has been our adviser on the educational problems of some younger patients.

The Medical Society of the County of Westchester met at the Hospital in January, February, and November. Dr. Raynor was a member of the Board of Censors.

The Westchester Hospital Association held a luncheon meeting at this Hospital in November and was addressed by Dr. Hamilton.

A very popular work of fiction published in the summer dealt with the experiences of a former patient while under treatment in this Hospital.

The Dutch Elm Disease, the Asiatic beetle and other parasites have required the continuance of work that at first was considered only temporary, and extra help has been required for it.

Since 1819 religious services have been conducted on Sunday afternoons. The Reverend Reginald Mallett, Rector of Grace Church, White Plains, has conducted these during the year. They have been increasingly appreciated and attendance is larger. The Reverend Father Patrick Mackin and his assistant, the Reverend Father John Reagan, of the Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady of Sorrows, have been most faithful in attending to the religious comfort of the Catholic patients.

Recreation in moderate measure is a need of our patients as well as of other persons. The moving picture is the type of entertainment that can be attended by the largest number of patients; it is not to all the most acceptable or helpful. Music, the universal emotional solvent, is presented in several ways. Concerts are given by able artists. During Lent our organist gave three recitals assisted in each instance by a singer. Under the direction of Willem van de Wall, Mus. D., we are attempting to organize musical activities to an extent. Dances are very much enjoyed and have been carried on in a very satisfactory style. A few exhibition games are played in the gymnasium and on the courts before interested audiences. Salmagundi parties, card parties and miscellaneous entertainments are occasionally held.

Visitors to patients during the year numbered 15,145, an increase of 8 per cent over 1934.

Dr. Lewis D. Stevenson and Dr. Harold G. Wolff were appointed Consultants in Neurology, and Dr. Granville F. Knight was appointed an Assistant Otolaryngologist.

Dr. Edwin J. Doty resigned on July 31st to pursue further studies at the University of Michigan.

Dr. A. Louise Brush resigned on December 21st to accept a position at the Neurological Institute in New York City.

Dr. Morton L. Wadsworth was appointed an Assistant Resident Physician July 22nd.

Dr. Donald M. Hamilton was appointed an Assistant Resident Physician on August 1st.

Dr. B. K. Keller was appointed an Assistant Resident Physician on October 1st.

Dr. Phillip J. Moorad spent a period of study at the Hospital from January to April.

Dr. D. Austin Sniffen received at commencement the Meritorious Service Award of the New York University Alumni. He has been initiated as a Fellow of the American College of Dentists. He is now President-Elect of the New York State Dental Society.

Dr. Mortimer W. Raynor, Medical Director, died on October 5th.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Dr. Raynor's appreciation of the loyalty and efficiency of physicians, nurses, special aides, executives, and employees of the Hospital was often voiced. That their efforts have not flagged since his leadership ended tells volumes for their devotion to the interests and standards of the Hospital.

A large measure of thanks is due and is offered herewith to the General Psychiatric Director, Dr. William L. Russell, for his support and sound advice at many junctures.

The Hospital lost a strong and understanding friend on August 17th in the death of Wilson M. Powell, Esq., President of the Board of Governors. During his many years as Counsel to the Society he familiarized himself with the activities and needs of this Hospital, and while Vice-President and President of the Board he supported strongly every plan for forwarding its work. His studied prediction of still greater usefulness for the Hospital will not be forgotten.

Mr. Howard Townsend, a governor since 1899, formerly President of the Board, and a most faithful and interested member of the Bloomington Committee, passed away on April 24th. His service to this Hospital is gratefully remembered.

Dr. George Hughes Kirby, Consultant in Psychiatry to Bloomington Hospital, died on August 11th. Dr. Kirby was one of the leading psychiatrists of the country and his keen clinical judgment was of great value to our patients.

This year is the one hundred and forty-third of uninterrupted treatment of mental disorders by the New York Hospital, and the one hundred and fifteenth in which this work has been carried on in the Bloomington Hospital. We have now entered on a period of expanding service to the public. Without the unselfish labors of the Bloomington Committee this Hospital could not maintain its present character as a minister of comfort and health. I voice the thanks of the Hospital organization to them and to your Board, who have guided and supported this beneficent work.

Respectfully submitted,

SAMUEL W. HAMILTON,
Assistant Medical Director.

BLOOMINGDALE HOSPITAL, WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.

CONVALESCENT HOSPITAL FOR CHILDREN,
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

To the Board of Governors:

GENTLEMEN:—The twenty-eighth annual report of The Convalescent Hospital for Children is herewith respectfully submitted:

During the past year efforts have been concentrated in raising standards and increasing the values of this service both to the New York Hospital Pediatric Division and to the individual child. At the hospital Miss Murray, (our admitting nurse), has endeavored to improve the technique of admitting and follow-up work. Thanks to the interest and cooperation of Dr. Samuel Levine and members of his staff definite progress has been made in this direction, resulting in better care and better continuity of all cases both during stay here and on discharge.

While our primary duty concerns the physical well being of the children entrusted to our care we are anxious to minister to their social and spiritual needs as well. Though a certain amount of hospital regime is necessary all unessential institutional practices are avoided and everything possible is done to create and maintain a homelike atmosphere. In February we were most fortunate in obtaining the services of a registered nurse who is also a graduate in physical education and occupational therapy and experienced in grade school music. With qualifications so ideally suited to our work, Miss Jordan has markedly improved our recreation and teaching program, thus adding greatly to our treatment of each child as a whole.

The New York Hospital Dental Department generously operated a weekly clinic for our children from May 1933 through June 1935. In July 1935 through the suggestion of Dr. Gable of the New York Hospital Dental Department and the interest and courtesy of Dr. McCall, Director of the Murry and Leonie Guggenheim Dental Clinic the splendid facilities of that organization were opened to New York Hospital patients. Guggenheim Clinic renders the most skillful and thorough free dental care available for children in New York City and we trust this affiliation will prove of increasing benefit not only to those children fortunate enough to be registered there but to both the Guggenheim Foundation and the New York Hospital through collaborated research.

Since March we have cooperated with Dr. Vernon Lippard and Dr. William Schmidt, (of the New York Hospital Children's Clinic Staff), in a research study which it is hoped will aid in the knowledge and treatment of asthma and eczema cases.

At a daily patient per capita cost of a little under two dollars, 626 children were cared for by this institution in 1935. While it is not possible to measure the actual returns on money expended for this type of service, I am sure that all those familiar with the need for and intangible but important results of well organized convalescent and preventive care will agree that the cost is very small in relation to value given and represents a sound and far reaching public welfare investment.

The greatest drawback to this service is the weekly risk of importing contagion and the resulting paralysis of our whole program when cases do develop. The majority of admissions do not come directly from hospitals, where they have safely passed the normal incubation period for most childhood diseases, but (through clinics) from crowded home and school contacts where communicable infections are constantly breeding.

Under these conditions the incidence of contagion in our wards rests almost solely on chance. Though there is no known means of completely eliminating communicable disease outbreaks in institutions for children the occurrence can be reduced to negligible proportions by the maintenance of proper segregating facilities for admissions. A cottage equipped and staffed to serve this purpose is urgently needed and until such facilities are provided this service can not function to a maximum and uninterrupted efficiency.

Through your usual provision for them and the very generous contributions of Mrs. Clarence Hay and Mrs. Michael Gavin of the New York Hospital Social Service Committee, the White Plains Chamber of Commerce and other Westchester County friends, our children were given such a gay and happy week of Christmas celebration as will live in their memories for many, many years to come.

Donations of any kind including toys, books, and clothing are always more than welcome and sincerely appreciated and I wish to thank again those friends who have so thoughtfully contributed to our children's joy and welfare in the past year.

To the general and laboratory staffs of Bloomingdale Hospital and New York Hospital we are deeply indebted for their willing and invaluable assistance in coping with our problems and maintaining our standards.

I also wish to express our gratitude for the unfailing guidance and support of Dr. Edward Marsh, White Plains Health Officer, during the trying times of contagious disease outbreaks.

To Your Honorable Board and the Bloomingdale Committee, I tender my sincere appreciation for your helpful advice and generous support.

Respectfully submitted,

MARIE L. TROUP, R.N.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE SCHOOL OF NURSING AND DIRECTOR OF THE NURSING SERVICE

To the Board of Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital.

GENTLEMEN: I herewith submit the fifty-eighth annual report of the School of Nursing and Nursing Service.

SCHOOL OF NURSING

Consistent with the general policies laid down the curriculum of the School of Nursing has been carried out as published in our annual bulletin. The longer clinical practise in the first year has yielded considerably better results in the adjustment of students to their second year program. As we feel students should manifest in their practise greater interest in and knowledge of the mental attitudes of those physically ill, it was hoped that a unit of study with the convalescent psychiatric patient might be helpful and was included in the first year program. However this was not practicable and has not been done.

Graduation for thirty students who completed the course of study was held May 22, 1935. Of this group twenty had the entire course as reorganized in 1932; eight were transferred from St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing. It is particularly interesting to note that the interests of these young graduates are distributed in all branches of nursing service: medical, surgical, pediatric, obstetric, psychiatric in patient care as well as out patient service, private duty and public health nursing. We believe these various preferences of service indicate conclusively the need of all branches of clinical nursing in the basic course so that graduates may have wider choice in the selection of their work. We have been glad to welcome twelve of these graduates in our various nursing services. Six of these graduates married directly after graduation, five of whom are continuing in their professional work.

The admissions committee of the school has given careful thought and consideration to the physical, mental and personal suitability of applicants to the school. Thirty-six students matriculated and were admitted September twenty-eighth. Of these eleven had graduated from college, seventeen had some college study and eight had only high school preparation. We feel the need of broader publicity of the school's work in order to have a larger number of applicants and matriculants. Closer relationship with Cornell University would undoubtedly interest more mature students with advanced preparation especially in light of the present trends in nursing education throughout the country.

The affiliations have been carried on with seven schools as contracted. An affiliation for pediatrics was arranged with the New Rochelle Hospital

School of Nursing January 3, 1935. The one for obstetrics with Lenox Hill Hospital School of Nursing was discontinued April 30, 1935 as that hospital opened an obstetrical unit in which their students can receive this study. During the year one hundred and five students affiliated with us for medical, surgical, obstetrical and pediatric nursing. Special arrangements were made to admit a senior student from the University of Minnesota School of Nursing to pursue two months study in general out patient nursing and four months psychiatric nursing.

Satisfaction seems evident in the results of the graduate courses we offer. One hundred and forty-three students from one hundred and three schools have matriculated, registering as follows: sixty in general surgical nursing, sixty-one in general obstetrical nursing, one in advanced obstetrical nursing, eight in psychiatric nursing, twelve in operating room technique and management, one in pediatric nursing. We have been able to place a number of these nurses in our own services after their study as well as recommend many elsewhere. Special requests have been received for those who have had our courses in operating room technique and management and in obstetrical nursing.

Requests for observation of our activities, methods of teaching and study have been quite numerous. Special programs have been developed for each individual who may specify her particular interest. During the year twenty-one nurses were with us for varying periods of time representing eight different countries. Upon special request of the Panamanian Government two graduates of San Tomas Hospital, Panama, are having three months' nursing experience each in the medical, surgical, pediatric and obstetrical services.

Groups of students from Teachers College and several nursing schools have come for special conferences on our organization, administration and methods of study and teaching.

Under the auspices of the N. O. P. H. N. and Maternity Centre Association an institute on Maternal and Infant Care was held in our school with the cooperation of our clinical staff. Two hundred sixty-two nurses from twenty-six states and Canada registered. Reverberations of their satisfaction of this course are continuing to reach us.

We are fortunate in securing from the Rockefeller Foundation six fellowships for study in public health nursing at Henry Street Visiting Nurse Service and East Harlem Nursing and Health Service for the following members of our faculty: Miss Marjorie Treiber, Supervisor of Nursing, Woman's Clinic; Miss Irene Curley, nurse in charge of Skin Clinic; Miss Martha Johnson, nurse in charge of the Pediatric Clinic; Miss Evelyn Liddle, nurse in charge of the Gynecologic Clinic; Miss Thirza Hills, Supervisor of Surgical Nursing, and Miss Mildred Stone, Head Nurse of Children's Medical Pavilion. Two supervisors of Henry Street and two of East Harlem Nursing and Health Service have been with us for study of various clinical nursing specialties. These reciprocal opportunities have resulted in better understanding of services rendered in the hospital and public health agencies besides broadening the interests and background of the individuals privileged by these fellowships.

During the year twenty-one New York Hospital students, five affiliating students and six graduate students withdrew from the school. Four of the affiliating students left on account of illness and will return to complete their application.

A staff education program has been maintained throughout the year. Special courses for assistant head nurses, head nurses and supervisors have been offered in the field of pavilion management and teaching as well as the usual conferences held in all departments regarding the better management and conduct of the service. A complete revision of our nursing procedure book has been attempted. Manuals of study have been revised or prepared in the various departments.

NURSING SERVICE

To give a consistently high quality of nursing care to our patients has been our aim as always. However this has been greatly jeopardized by the exceedingly high turnover of general staff nurses during the year. Greater vigilance and more supervision have necessarily been required although it has been evident that nurses have made real effort to orient themselves promptly to our very complex and active service. The relatively few resignations of the senior staff has done much to overcome the obvious difficulties arising and deficiencies resulting in a service with high turnover. The appointment of assistant head nurses on our large pavilions has helped considerably in promoting a more reliable service. A greater burden in staff education has been borne by our executive staff in order that our patients' welfare be safeguarded, procedures carried out satisfactorily and administration policies observed.

As of December thirty-first the total full time graduate staff participating in administration and teaching was one hundred and one; in bedside nursing care and technical services two hundred and seventy-two. Resignations during the year included twenty-two or 21% in the former group, two hundred and sixty-eight or 92% in the latter group. Need for financial increase was cited as the major cause of resignation; satisfaction with working conditions except for participation in night duty and terms of appointment is usually indicated. We believe this condition presents a particularly serious handicap in the promotion of our service and would naturally reflect the confidence placed in our work. Every effort should be made to overcome this unprecedented situation.

STUDENT AND STAFF HEALTH

Due to serious health conditions found among young women of our staff age group, careful physical examination with chest X-ray and annual check up is now advocated and carried out. Our student health index has increased due undoubtedly to more careful selection of students and greater elimination of health risks as well as cooperation in carrying out health measures. The affiliating students show somewhat contrasting figures. In 1935 there were the following percentages of illness time to days of nursing: graduate nurses 1.1%, New York Hospital students 1.8%, affiliating students 3.5%.

Four thousand and twenty-eight (4,028) visits and follow up examinations were made at our health offices and one thousand one hundred and twenty-four (1,124) clinic visits were scheduled. Mantoux tests have been given all students and carefully followed up; Schick and Dick tests and immunizations as indicated have been given. There are recorded two thousand four hundred and sixty-seven (2,467) days of illness, two thousand and ninety-one (2,091) of infirmary care with six hundred and ninety-eight (698) admissions; three hundred and seventy-six days of hospital care with sixty-seven admissions of which forty-four were operative cases.

Our alumnae have enjoyed as always the expert clinical services given them through the generosity of our hospital and clinicians. Thirty admissions with three hundred and fifty-seven days of hospitalization and twelve operations are recorded.

For staff, students and alumnae we wish to express our gratitude to Dr. Holt, our staff physician, and the many clinicians who have given their services so generously and untiringly for our excellent care.

With deep regret and sorrow we record the deaths of the following alumnae:

Miss Ella F. Woods.....	class of 1885

Miss Josephine E. Tucker.....	" " 1892

Miss Helen Mewhort.....	" " 1898
Mrs. George A. Holbrook (nee Mary Rankin).....	" " 1901

In closing this report of our participation in the services of the Hospital we wish to express our appreciation of the confidence placed in us by the governors, administrative officers and clinicians whose loyalty and cooperation have given us support in our work.

Respectfully submitted,

ANNA D. WOLF,

Director, School of Nursing and Director, Nursing Service.

To the President and Governors of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN:—I submit to you the twenty-third Annual Report of the work done by the Social Service Committee and Sub-Committees during the past year.

1935 has been a busy year for the Social Service Committee and the Social Service Workers. Due to increasing numbers of inquiries from Emergency Relief Bureaus, concerning patients, as well as from Community Agencies, much work has been added to our Department and to that of the Out-Patients' Department.

Our figures show an increase of fifty per cent on reports to Agencies over the preceding year; approximately 10,000 services were rendered, over and above those shown in the statistical report. A large part of these services consisted of advice and instructions to patients in order to help them carry out the doctors' plans.

23,000 interviews were given in the Social Service offices, in the clinics and pavilions during the year. This is a conservative figure as doubtless a number of interviews were not recorded.

Our Social Service Committee has continued to help the patients attending the District Tuberculosis Clinic with milk—supplying an average of twelve families daily. Clothing has also been provided. Our contact with the district patients is through the Public Health Department of the Hospital.

The patients not residing in our district—but who attend the T. B. Clinic, constitute one of our problems. The Public Health Department cannot take them and we are not equipped to render that Service unless we add another worker to our Staff.

We are indebted to the directors of the Havens Relief Fund—who have again sent us a generous donation.

We are also indebted to Mrs. Payne Whitney for the continued service of her car for one-half day a week during the entire year.

We have been obliged to give Emergency food orders to a number of families not yet taken over for permanent relief—by specific organizations.

We have also provided funds to the Psychiatric Social Service Department—to enable them to send problem boys to special camps.

During the year, 43 medical students and 182 student nurses have received instruction in our Social Service Department. The workers have continued to give social service information to students regarding their case studies, and informal conferences have been attended with this end in view. Student and other groups have been addressed by our Director.

Three meetings have been held for the combined staffs of the Social Service. At the last one they were addressed informally by Mr. Augustine J. Smith and Mr. Murray Sargent. In December our Director asked the Chief of the Pediatric Clinic to meet in the Patients' Library with some of the Pediatricians, Charge Nurses, and the Social Service Workers of the Pediatric Division. All of these gatherings were well attended and proved worthwhile.

We have had six resignations from our Committee during the year, and fourteen new members have been added, including Dr. Evelyn Holt who was elected an Honorary Member.

SUMMER WORK

57 of the 280 boys and girls sent away this summer went to special camps. Some of these were boys too old for our Cottages, some had cardiac condition, and some had mental handicaps requiring special supervision. The means with which to do this and to provide them with necessary outfits and clothing were given by members of our Committee.

GIFT SHOP

Under the Chairmanship of Mrs. Dineen—with Miss Scott as Treasurer, and Mrs. Behn, the Gift Shop has been most successful; not only has it filled a need where the Hospital Staff and patients were concerned—but the Social Service has also benefitted by a substantial contribution. It is interesting to record the number of people who patronized the Shop in one day; 764 cash customers, 92 charge customers, and 117 telephone orders.

VOLUNTEER COMMITTEE

Miss Celia Robinson, Chairman, Miss Ruth Peck, Vice-Chairman. There has been a steady increase in the number of volunteer workers and the total of hours given—also in the variety of jobs and the general efficiency of the service rendered to the Hospital. Through the three spring months 12,753 hours were given, equalling 22 Full Time workers.

The peak number of active volunteers was 95—the lowest 35—but during the latter period the number of hours given was but slightly reduced—owing to a larger service from fewer individuals.

LIBRARY COMMITTEE

Mrs. Walter Jennings, Chairman, Miss Frances Reilly, Vice-Chairman. 11,111 books were given out, an increase of 1,183 over last year. Fewer books were lost, due to an improved system, and to the intelligent care of the volunteers. 1,368 books were donated.

VISITING AND INFORMATION COMMITTEE

Mrs. Scoville Treadwell, Chairman, has visited the following: Mills Hotel No. 2, Welfare Department of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, Sea View Hospital, Staten Island, and Hartford House, New York City. The information given by Mrs. Treadwell has been most valuable to our Department.

CLOTHING AND SUPPLY COMMITTEE

Mrs. C. Morton Whitman, Chairman, Mrs. Charles E. Farr, Treasurer, have given most valuable help. It has been necessary to provide a greater amount of clothing than heretofore—476 families having received garments as well as shoes and underwear. The Needlework Guild of America donated 100 new articles to our Department, and the Junior Emergency Relief Society supplied us with layettes and girls' kits. The Clothing Center of the Junior League also gave us 71 articles during the year. Miss Bowdoin's gifts of knitted sweaters, stockings, socks and scarfs have been of the greatest value.

CHILDREN'S COMMITTEE

Mrs. Nathaniel Hill, Chairman, has taken a great deal of interest in the children belonging to the Pavilion, Toyery, and Cardiac Clinics. She has visited these Departments and has kept them supplied with reading material, games and clothing.

WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE

Mrs. William Goadby Loew, Chairman. Owing to the United Hospital Campaign, no entertainment was given this year. Mrs. Loew served as a member of the Steering Committee for the Campaign.

MILK FUND

Mrs. Payne Whitney gave her annual fair this summer. Part of the proceeds were allotted to the Milk Fund—which has enabled 240 children to receive milk daily. The total number of quarts given during the year was 46,209.

CONVALESCENT HOSPITAL FOR CHILDREN COMMITTEE

Mrs. Clarence Hay, Chairman, reported that 626 children were cared for at the Convalescent Hospital at a daily cost of $2 per day. Under Miss Troup's efficient superintendence, this service has been of great value to us and to the Hospital.

In closing, I would like to express my personal appreciation to our Staff—to our Volunteers and to the Social Service Committee.

To the Governors—our thanks for their continued support and cooperation.

Respectfully submitted,

ELSIE C. WOODWARD,
Chairman.
